WARDS PLANS $4,000,000 CORTE MADERA STORE

Montgomery-Ward, in a bid to catch up with the Sears chain, will build a $4 million store at Corte Madera Shopping Center by next February.

This was disclosed today with the filing of a lease of 5,000 square feet of land just west of the J. C. Penney store at the Corte Madera Shopping Center.

Walter Shorenstein of Milton-Meyer Co. of San Francisco, real estate brokers for the shopping center, negotiated the lease between Montgomery-Ward and Frank Rusalem of Madera Gardens Development Co., owners of the shopping center.

Shorenstein said the new Montgomery-Ward store will be the largest department store in Marin County, the first Montgomery-Ward shopping center of that scale built on land west of Denver.

The two story building will be fully air conditioned.

Bondsman Faces Jail Bribe Charge

Officers' Reports Lead To Accusation

JAMES J. SHELLEY
Bribery tries alleged

Marin County bail bondsman James J. Shelley of San Anselmo faces possible loss of his license under a complaint issued today by the state insurance commissioner, accusing Shelley of trying to bribe jailers and sheriff's deputies.

Shelley, brother of San Francisco Congressman John Shelley, has 15 days in which to reply to the charges. A hearing will then be called by the insurance commissioner in San Francisco to determine whether Shelley loses his bondsman's license.

Shelley, a former San Francisco police office, has been in the bail bond business in Marin for about a year and a half.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos announced he has received reports from six of his men, who allege that Shelley tried to give money and tokens of appreciation during the past eight months to get preference in bail bond referrals.

Today's complaint brings to a head long-simmering rumors and complaints that favoritism was being practiced in jail so that some bail bondsmen were getting more business than others.

When Sheriff Mountanos took office in January, he attempted to straighten out the matter by posting the names of the four bail bondsmen inside the jail to be called on a rotation basis.

Mountanos stressed that his men refused the bribes in each instance and cooperated with the state Insurance Commission investigator, Kenneth Foley, in compiling the evidence.

The six deputies who cooperated with the state were Chief Jailer Frank Christ, Deputies William McKillop, Fred Hooper, John Gallagher and Ernest Nielsen, and Sgt. V. Gibbs.

Investigator Foley served the complaints this morning on Shelley, who operates his bail bond business out of his home at 26 Oak Knoll avenue, San Anselmo. Shelley could

105 Taxpayers Meet As D.A.'s Aide Listens

The Marin County Taxpayers Assn. held another of its semi-monthly mass meetings last night in San Rafael, but this time the audience included a court reporter and a special investigator for the district attorney's office.

As before, association president P. J. Rowland blasted as illegal and discriminatory a 1955 order by the state Board of Equalization raising Marin County's real property assessment 26 per cent.

AUDIENCE OF 105

To an audience he estimated at 105 persons, Rowland said Marin taxpayers are entitled to refunds of $50 per $1,000 assessed valuation on taxes paid in 1955-56-57.

Association membership was swelled by another 50 members at last night's meeting, Rowland claimed today. He said the organization will file suit for recovery of the allegedly illegal taxes after it has gained 5,000 members.

Observing the proceedings with more than passing interest last night was Donald E. Midyett, chief criminal investigator on the staff of Dist. Atty. W. O. Weissich.

COURT REPORTER

Seated beside Midyett was Edna Oliver, a Marin court reporter, who made a stenographic record of all that was said.

Weissich announced last week he was investigating the tax suit appeal currently being circulated by the taxpayers association. He said the organization's activities may constitute "an old offense known as common barratry, which means stirring up litigation." This Rowland hotly denied.

Nationwide Test For Hub Chief Urged

A nationwide call for applicants for San Anselmo police chief is proposed in a memorandum distributed to city council members by City Manager Arthur W. Brewer, it was learned today.

Mayor Arthur W. Smith said he received the memorandum yesterday. He said it will be taken up at the council's April 14 meeting.

Qualifications proposed by Brewer in the memorandum would bar Sam N. Serio, present assistant chief and senior member of the San Anselmo force under Chief Donald T. Wood, from taking the examination because of age. Age limits of 35 to 50 are suggested. Serio has passed his 50th birthday.

Chief Wood is to retire next Aug. 1. He will be the first San Anselmo city employee to retire under the pension system set up by vote of the people last November.

25 In A Booth— And Phone Rings

HATFIELD, England (UPI) — Hatfield Technical College students went on a diet today to try to regain their world telephone box squash record from South Africa.

Students in California and Canada meanwhile entered the competition to see how many of them could squeeze into a telephone booth.

Also in training was a group from the London School of Economics and Cambridge University.

It was a Cambridge team which set claim two weeks ago to a world squash record of 15 men to a regulation British Post Office telephone box.

A few days later, Hatfield weighed in with a claim that 19 Technical College students there had wedged themselves into the 50 cubic feet of space.

Last night brought news of the South African claim — 25 six-footer students into a regulation South African telephone kiosk. But this record was questioned today — British squash experts said the South African boxes are slightly higher than the British.

They claimed also that nobody in the box was able to answer the phone when the bell rang.

This the South Africans conceded—and are now in the process of measuring the cubic capacity of their boxes.

A report from Moraga, Calif., said 22 students of St. Mary's College had packed into a telephone box there yesterday.

"We have received news of these achievements," a Hatfield spokesman said, "but we intend to set a new mark soon which will be hard to beat. We may even ask for the rules to be altered so that somebody must be able to answer the phone if it rings."

Riviera Marin Golf Course Work To Start

The long-awaited 130-acre golf course at Riviera Marin on McNear's ranch will be started immediately and should be completed by the end of this year, the developers announced today.

Edwin Lee, general manager of Latipac, Inc., disclosed that the first Riviera Marin development project will be the $300,000 golf course in the first valley beyond Glenwood subdivision "to dress up the area." This will be followed by a pilot project of homes around the golf course as the forerunners of 1,130 houses.

The golf course construction is being timed so that seeding will take place around September, the most appropriate time for the grass to grow. Provision is being made to

Hub City Urged To Buy Dairy For Recreation Center Use

The City of San Anselmo should immediately buy the 20-acre Spagnoli Dairy property at the end of San Francisco boulevard for development as a recreation center, in the opinion of a mayor-appointed community center study committee.

The committee wound up more than a year and a half of study with a report urging the purchase, delivered this week to City Manager Arthur W. Brewer and made public today.

The report notes that the dairy property is for sale for about $57,000. It suggests the barn could be converted into an auditorium suitable for a community recreation center. Total necessary outlay would be about $100,000, the committee estimated.

The committee, chairmanned by Dr. John H. Manwaring, noted that, suitable property for a recreation center "is all but unavailable," the dairy property being the only parcel on the market which it felt would be suitable.

"The committee feels that the City of San Anselmo should appropriate funds to assure that property will be available, and to obtain a competent survey by a trained man. The city should call upon the service organizations represented in this committee for assistance in carrying through the project."

The dairy property is just outside the city limits. The

Marin School Children Await Easter Recess

Marin school children and college students, public and parochial, will leave their books behind them for a week-long Easter vacation, beginning on different days next week and the week after next.

Marin County public schools will be on vacation from Monday through Friday, with the exception of the Union and Burdell School Districts.

Union pupils will recess from March 30 through April 3. Burdell's dozen pupils, who have been attending school in a classroom of the Our Lady of Loretto Catholic School in Novato since the old Burdell School burned down last Nov. 23, will hold their vacation to coincide with that of the Catholic pupils—March 26 through April 3.

St. Raphael's Parochial School will recess next Thursday through April 1; Dominican Convent, next Wednesday through April 2 (with resident pupils returning April 1); Dominican College, next Wednesday through April 6, and Marin Catholic High School, next Friday through April 2.

The Easter recess will mark close of the winter quarter at College of Marin. Spring quarter will start March 30.

'Lost Gospel' Researcher To Talk Here

Dr. Oscar Cullman, who this week reported discovery of the "Gospel of Thomas" containing 114 new sayings of Jesus, will give two lectures in San Anselmo next week.

Dr. Cullman will address student assemblies at San Francisco Theological Seminary at 10 a.m. Wednesday and 10:25 a.m. Thursday. His subjects will be "The Unknown Sayings of Jesus" on Wednesday and "A New Approach to Understanding the Fourth Gospel" on Thursday.

Both hour-long lectures will be open to the public.

Dr. Cullman is professor of early Christianity at the Sorbonne in Paris. He is in the United States as a visiting professor at Union Theological Seminary in New York. His lectures in San Anselmo will be the only ones he delivers outside of New York during his stay in this country.

San Rafael Cross To Glow Tonight

The cross atop San Rafael Hill will be lighted tonight, heralding Marin's observance of Christianity's celebration of the Resurrection a week from Sunday.

The San Rafael Street Department was to install the lights today, according to the city manager's office. The cross will be lighted each night through Easter.

State Backs Sausalito In Drive On Houseboats

The State of California's Regional Water Pollution Control Board yesterday threw its weight behind the City of Sausalito's crackdown on houseboats, arks and barges which lack sewer connections.

The state board, meeting in Oakland, asked Sausalito, the Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District and the Marin County Health Department to take action to stop discharge of raw sewage into the bay from the water-borne dwellings.

The board cited existing laws and regulations forbidding the condition and asked the three bodies to enforce the laws.

Sausalito, through city atty. John Ehlen, has already filed a number of legal actions seeking to stop the practice.

Ehlen was not present at yesterday's meeting but the city was represented by City Manager Donald A. Duerr. County Sanitarian William Des-mond represented Marin County.

David Lee, 24-yaer-old sculptor who lives aboard a houseboat and is spokeman for the recently formed Waterfront Protective Assn., argued that much of the waterfront pullution stemmed from the discharge of a sewer at the foot of Coloma street. He said it was discriminatory to ask houseboats to cease and desist while the sewer continued.

Yesterday's meeting also tackled sewage problems in the Belvedere-Tiburon area.

The City of Belvedere had requested relief from the board's insistence on "monitoring" of the city's sewer outlet to determine the concentration of material being released into the bay at Belvedere Point.

The board, however, directed its executive officer, John B. Harrison, to notify Belvedere that the board's order will stand.

Ike's Budget Runs Into More Bumps

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower was experiencing a series of budgetary ups and downs on Capitol Hill today, with more bumps in the immediate offing.

In separate actions, the Senate and the House yesterday further upset the President's program for a balanced budget for the fiscal year starting next July 1.

The House, by roll-call vote of 262-134, passed a 297-million-dollar four-year airport aid program which exceeded the President's recommendations by 97 millions.

Concurrently, the Senate voted to charge against the new budget $1,375,000,000 of new U.S. subscriptions to the International Monetary Fund. The President had counted on charging this item against this year's budget, already heavily unbalanced, instead of against the 1960 ledger.

INCOME TAX FACTS

Retirement Income Subject To Credit

INCOME TAX FAX Mar 20
By PETER J. WIKEL, CPA

If you are 65 years of age or over, or if you are under 65 years of age but retired under a public retirement system, such as firemen, policemen, teachers, federal employees, etc., then your retirement income is subject to a tax credit which can be as much as $240 ($480 on a joint return).

Peter J. Wikel

A public retirement system is a pension, annuity, retirement or similar fund or system established by the United States, a state, a territory, a possession of the United States, any political subdivision of any of the foregoing or the District of Columbia. It also includes a system established by the United States for members of the armed forces.

In order to qualify for the credit, you or your deceased spouse must have earned an income, not counting pensions or annuities, of at least $600 in any 10 previous years.

The credit is applicable only to the first $1,200 of retirement income included in gross income. Tax exempt income is not included in gross income, so you would not figure on social security receipts, tax-free interest or dividends, workmen's compensation or other tax free income. Your retirement income would be interest, gross rents, taxable dividends and taxable pensions and annuities. If you are under 65 years old, any income from personal services in excess of $900 or if you are between 65 and 72 years old any income from personal service in excess of $1,200 would reduce your retirement income for the purpose of computing the credit.

The credit cannot be for more than the total tax due and so result in a refund claim.

If you are over 65 years old, then you are also entitled to the extra personal exemption for over 65. In the case of a married couple both over 65 years of age, this could result in personal exemptions of $2,400 and retirement income credits of $480 covering $2,400 in retirement income, so the couple could have tax free income of $4,800.

Building Activity Here Continues To Gain

Construction activity in Marin continued its advance by running up a total of $3,645,206 in building permits last month, compared with $2,054,008 in February a year ago, according to the Marin Development Foundation.

The increase amounts to 77.5 per cent, comparing the single months. Added to January's exceptionally high total, the first two months of 1959 show an improvement of 85.3 per cent over the same period in 1958.

San Rafael resumed its frequent lead in building activity over all county areas by chalking up a total of $707,796. The amount swelled by a permit of $225,000 for a bowling alley in east San Rafael. The Novato area was a close second with $671,235 in permits composed almost entirely of single family residences—45 of them.

Other larger single contracts last month included $333,067 for the Larkspur School addition, $236,000 for the Gallinas School, a 28-unit apartment in Sausalito for $182,000, and a 32-unit apartment project in Fairfax valued at $153,000.

Included in February residential building total of 197 units were five duplexes and seven apartment projects aggregating 98 dwelling units, according to the foundation's tabulation.

Novatan Wins Speech Contest

Floyd Brown, a member of the Novato Toastmasters Club, struck gold this week with a speech entitled "Gold Fever," scoring higher than three other competing speakers in a Toastmasters Club contest, making him eligible to represent Marin Toastmasters in a semi-final contest in Berkeley next Tuesday.

Brown outscored Don Patterson of the Tamalpais Toastmasters, William Malet of the Defenders of Hamilton Field and Norman Livermore of Toastmasters 890. The contest was held at Woodlands restaurant in Kentfield.

Larkspur Chamber To Hear Talk On Downtown Project

A speaker, as yet unidentified, will appear before the Larkspur Chamber of Commerce Monday at 8 p.m. in the city hall to talk on the proposed redevelopment of the Larkspur downtown district.

Oakley Dexter, chamber president, today announced the speaker but said he did not wish to name him.

The proposal advanced by the Clarewood Co. of Berkeley, developers, was to construct a market for Lucky Stores, Inc., along Rice lane behind stores on the east side of Magnolia avenue between Ward and Cane streets. The proposal included extensive provision for offstreet parking and remodeling of the backs of the Magnolia avenue business houses.

Dexter's statement came amid reports the redevelopment may take place on another site.

Among the other possible sites mentioned at a Feb. 9 meeting of the chamber was the Hil Probert property at Magnolia and Madrone avenues and 48,000 square feet of land on the west side of Magnolia in the downtown district.

Dexter said the chamber members on Monday are expected to appoint members of a committee to sit in on hearings of the Larkspur Planning Commission for the proposed new zoning ordinance.

Realty Board Again Offers Scholarship

The second annual Archie Culpepper Award, a $500 cash scholarship, offered by the Marin County Real Estate Board, will be given to some Marin County High School senior in May, it was announced today by Edward P. Morphy, realty board president.

The scholarship is not restricted to potential business management students, Morphy said. The winner will be judged on scholarship, integrity, character, ability and financial need, plus the student's record of extracurricular activities.

Any senior student in Marin County is eligible to apply for the scholarship, he said, "regardless of race, creed or color."

The applicant must have been a resident of Marin County for two years and must have the grades and other general qualifications making him eligible for college entrance.

"The applicant must be a well-rounded student, with the ability to get along with his fellowman," said Morphy. "He, or she, must be socially adjusted and must show some qualifications of leadership."

The money will be paid in a lump sum to the winner once he is accepted by the college of his choice, either inside or outside of California.

Last year's scholarship was awarded to John H. Arndt, San Rafael High School graduate now attending the California Institute of Technology.

Drunk Driver Fined, Jailed For 2nd Offense

John A. Blossom, 50, of 765 Las Colindas road, Terra Linda, was sentenced in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to five days in the county jail and payment of a $250 fine for drunken driving with a prior conviction on a similar charge.

Blossom was arrested by the California Highway Patrol Wednesday on Manuel T. Freitas parkway in Terra Linda. He was previously convicted of drunken driving on March 17, 1958. Sentence was passed yesterday by Judge A. F. Scheidecker of Petaluma.

American Trust Setting Up New Credit System

A revolving credit plan that sets up a line of credit for an individual and allows him to hold it as a "rainy day fund" or to use it where, when and how he pleases was announced by Harris C. Kirk, president of American Trust Co., at a press conference yesterday in San Francisco.

American Trust is the first major bank to announce this type of service in Northern California. Originated in 1955 by the First National Bank of Boston, the service has been accepted favorably by the public there and in other cities where it has been offered, Kirk said.

MANY ADVANTAGES

Kirk declared: "After careful study of various developments in the field of consumer credit, we are convinced that the revolving credit plan serves the interests and needs of a segment of the public and has many advantages in its favor.

The American Trust credit account, Kirk said, involves no merchant signup and permits the individual to do business with whom he pleases.

American Trust's version of the service will be available to the public not later than May 4, with applications accepted before that date.

He indicates the amount he is willing and able to pay each month. This amount multipled by 24 determines his maximum line of credit, except that the minimum will be $300 and the maximum $3,000.

USE AS NEEDED

He can pay off the amount he has drawn either in a lump sum or in monthly installments.

The charge to the customer will be 1¼ per cent on the balance due each month, plus 25 cents for each check written against the account. There is no charge if the customer simply holds his line of credit in reserve.

A key feature of the automatic credit account is that monthly payments made by the customer automatically restore the amount of credit available to him.

Try To Make Access Session Secret Fails

A state Department of Public Works attorney demanded a closed session in the Marin County Courthouse this morning to discuss the Auburn street railroad crossing just south of San Rafael.

But T. Fred Bagshaw, assistant director of the state Public Works Department, and two Marin County supervisors pointed out that meetings in the Marin courthouse are open to the public.

Harte.

"Every meeting here is public," said Supervisor Chairman Walter R. Castro. Supervisor William D. Fusselman of San Anselmo likewise pointed out that meetings should be open.

Maoyr John F. McInnis suggested the meeting could be considered closed on grounds it was a private discussion between attorney and client—between the Public Works legal adviser and the city and county and property owners in Bret in Bret Harte.

George Moe, legal adviser in the Public Works Department, insisted that everything he said should be confidential because today's was a "strategy meeting" to get a crossing on Auburn street in the face of opposition from the Northwestern Pacific Railroad. Moe even suggested adjourning to a private office to carry on the discussion.

However, the meeting proceeded with an Independent-Journal reporter present. No other spectators sought admittance.

Mayor McInnis, who has been fighting for the Auburn street crossing to get an access to Highway 101 for the Bret Harte area, attacked the state again this morning.

"We were promised a grade crossing by the state," McInnis declared. "But they knew at the time that NWP would oppose, and they could not get the crossing. I believe that was complete bad faith on their part."

Castro also recalled that the crossing was promised and that the state said there would be no trouble in getting it.

NWP wants either an overpass or underpass so that trains would not be disrupted.

Art Nayler, representating the state Division of Highways district office in San Francisco, declared a grade separation (overpass or underpass) is feasible, but "it is just a matter of money." He estimated that an overpass would cost $500,000 to $750,000.

Attorney Moe said the question would come up "very soon" before the Public Utilities Commission, but no definite date has been set as yet.

LINK WITH WRIGHT BROTHERS — Robert G. Fowler of San Jose, who learned to fly under tutelage of Wilbur and Orville Wright, inventors of the airplane, tried the pilot's seat in a supersonic F104A Starfighter during yesterday's Hamilton Air Force Base open house. Fowler recalled it took him 45 days, in a series of short hops, to fly across the United States in a Wright-built plane in 1911. In 1912, he flew across the Isthmus of Panama in a two-place biplane he built himself. (Air Force photo)

False Meal, Overtime Claims Bared

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A wave of false overtime and meal claims, which resulted in payment for hundreds of hours of overtime which never were worked, has been turned up in an investigation of the state Division of Highways.

E. R. Higgins, comptroller of the Department of Public Works, said the investigation will turn next to the Division of Architecture, where a number of the employees work overtime.

In the meantime, signing-in and signing-out procedures have been tightened to prevent any more occurrences.

Higgins said the investigation, which began in January, revealed that quite a number of workers signed in for overtime work and promptly went home, or at least went home early. Their names were signed by fellow employees or signed on the sheets ahead of time.

Higgins estimated the overpayments for improper overtime claims would amount to $2,000 or $3,000 in the Division of Highways alone. He said none of the individual amounts was large but all will be collected from the employees, probably through deductions in future checks.

Tied in with the false overtime claims, Higgins said, were a number of technically improper claims for dinner. The state Board of Control has a rule which permits claim for a dinner ($2.50) whenever two or more hours of overtime are worked.

However, he said, the meal must be eaten before the work is done.

"As it was, some of them worked two or three hours and then went out to eat, or went home," Higgins said. "This made them technically ineligible for the meal claim."

Civil War Vet Buried

SLANT, Va. (AP) — A bugler blew taps. Tears flowed freely. The casket of John Salling was lowered slowly into the ground.

Thus did the 112-year-old Civil War veteran reach his final resting place yesterday on a windswept hillside of southwest Virginia. A second funeral service — the first was held earlier at the Gate City Armory —ended the rites for "General John," next-to-the-last survivor of the Civil War.

A crowd estimated at about 15,000 visited Hamilton Air Force Base yesterday as the base held open house for the public.

Among the visitors were Boy Scout troops from Bay Area points as far away as Menlo Park.

TIGHT FORMATION

The Thunderbirds, flying F100 Super Sabre fighters, made repeated passes over the base, many at very low level, with four planes locked in a tight diamond formation, wing tips no more than five feet apart.

They rattled windows as they kicked in their afterburners directly in front of the crowd of spectators. The afterburners, which add a burst of speed and power to the aircraft, delivered a cannon-shot explosive noise as the Sabres swept past.

OTHER DEMONSTRATION

The 27-minute Thunderbird display was preceded by a demonstration of Hamilton's own F104 Starfighters and of F102 Delta Dagger supersonic fighters from the 82nd Fighter Interceptor Squadron at Travis Air Force Base.

Four F104s from Hamilton's 83rd FIS led the way, as the two groups of fighters sped past the spectators in low-level passes at the field. The group was led by Lt. Col. John W. Bennett, commander of the 83rd.

The Air Force Academy's class of 1962, which arrived at Hamilton Wednesday night on the annual tour of air bases taken by first-year academy classes, staged a full-dress retreat parade, with Col. G. F. Ceuleers, Hamilton base commander, reviewing.

The cadets are being given training flights in supersonic fighters during their stay at Hamilton. They will be honored at a dance tonight at the Officers Club, and will leave the Marin base Sunday.

Other features of yesterday's show were a band concert by Hamilton's 573rd Air Force Band and displays of aircraft and missiles of types now used by the Air Force.

Open for public inspection were F100, F101, F102 and F104 fighters, twin-jets, T33 jet trainers, C45, C47 and C123 cargo planes, SA16B and SH19B (helicopter) rescue craft, and Cessna U3A and I29 aircraft.

Also on display were models of the Sidewinder and Falcon missiles.

Honored at the affair were approximately 140 retired Air Force generals and colonels, all living within 50 miles of Hamilton, and invited to attend the show and participate in briefing sessions designed to bring them up to date on Air Force activities.

McCarthy Plans Revises In Bay Authority Bill

State Sen. John F. McCarthy of San Rafael told the Independent-Journal today that he will propose five major amendments to his Golden Gate Authority bill, to be reviewed Tuesday by his interim committee.

The amendments, he said, would provide that:

1. Negotiation between the authority and the San Francisco Port Authority would be permissive rather than mandatory.

2. An authority commissioner could be removed for cause by the agency that appointed him (no provision had been made in the original bill for removal).

3. No commissioner could hold any other public office or maintain any fulltime private employment.

4. Any county reaching an official U.S. census population of 400,000, which did not originally have one full vote, would be entitled to one.

5. Bids would be required on all construction or purchase of materials exceeding $5,000.

McCarthy said the amendments were developed during several weeks of public hearings by local jurisdictions in the Bay Area.

He said he also is in agreement with nine of 10 amendments proposed by Sen. J. Eugene McAteer of San Francisco, a co-author of the bill. Those include the following:

1. Two members of the authority's commission appointed by the governor would be one each from San Francisco and Alameda Counties. "That is only fair," said McCarthy, "since the major interest lies in those counties, so far as population and bonding capacity is concerned.

2. Public hearings would be mandatory prior to important policy decisions.

3. Any new bay crossing would need approval by counties and cities in which it would be located.

4. Neither the San Francisco nor Oakland seaport could become part of the authority without the other, and no other port could be acquired without them.

5. A similar provision would apply to the San Francisco and Oakland airports.

6. The authority would negotiate for the San Jose Airport.

7. The authority would be required to announce its intentions regarding the status of employees of a facility before completion of negotiations for its acquisition.

8. Provision for financing a rapid transit tube from bridge tolls would be made if the voters of the area approve establishment of a rapid transit system.

McCarthy termed "unnecessary" an amendment proposed by McAteer that assurance be given that 50 million dollars in bonds voted by the state last year for the state-owned Port of San Francisco be used exclusively for improvement of that port.

4 Boys Admit Dozen Home Break-Ins Here

Four boys, aged 15 and 16, have admitted breaking into a dozen homes during the past two months in various parts of the county from San Anselmo to Muir Beach, Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos disclosed today.

The boys, held at Marin Juvenile Hall, include two from Fairfax and one each from Sausalio and Marin City.

Since their arrest in Berkeley last month, they have been confessing a series of breakins, mostly for money. Thus far, they have admitted burglaries at the following locations:

At 485 and 340 Scenic drive, Fairfax; 128 Butterfield road in Sleepy Hollow; home of C. O. Ammonette Jr. on Shady lane, Ross; 136 Southwood in San Anselmo, 310 Evergreen drive, Kent Woodlands; 105 Laurel Grove avenue, Kentfield; 5050 Paradise drive outside Corte Madera; 70 Bay Vista drive, Alto; three homes in Muir Beach and one in Tamalpais Valley.

One of the youths told investigators he has an uncontrollable urge to enter houses.

A starter building will be built on a knoll in the center of the valley. Lee said the golf course will probably be a "semi-private deal," open to use by the public at large.

Although no physical work has been done on the vast 2,200-acre Riviera Marin, Lee pointed out that the preliminary engineering work and sewer and drainage plans have been completed. Latipac had to wait for the city's general plan to be accepted before putting in money on detailed engineering, Lee said.

Yesterday Lee and the engineer for Latipac, Daniel P. Coleman of San Francisco, appeared before the San Rafael Sanitation Commission and asked for sewer connections for 1,130 homes.

Lee said his company is willing to pay for the necessary revamping of the existing Glenwood sewer line, which he estimated would cost $90,000.

ducted an examination to set up an eligibility list for San Anselmo police chief last fall. The call specified California residence, but it was found one of the applicants certified as passing and eligible was from Ohio and the residence status of another was questioned. The city council thereupon threw out the examination results.

City Manager Brewer, in his memorandum, proposes that "a qualified personnel agency" be hired to give the new examination, and that it be open nationwide but the agency be told "not to recruit widely outside of California."

The specifications would call for a minimum of six years of police experience.

Brewer's memorandum says the city council has two alternatives: Appoint from within the ranks of the police force or hold an open examination.

The possibility of an examination restricted to residents of San Anselmo or Marin County is not mentioned.

"It will be interesting to see," he commented drily.

Marin City Slaying Wasn't Manslaughter, Weissich Says

The Christmas Eve slaying of Viola Baker in a Marin City apartment was described by Dist. Atty. W. O. Weissich today as murder in either the first or second degree, but not manslaughter.

In his closing arguments at the trial of Miss Baker's accused slayer, Prince Sam Davis, 34, Weissich told a Marin Superior Court jury the defendant "by his own testimony, was not acting under any heat of passion" when he shot his common-law wife.

Davis claims he acted in self defense when he fired three shots at Viola, 32, in the kitchen of their apartment. He said she had advanced on him with a butcher knife.

Summing up the defense case, Public Defender Leonard A. Thomas asked the jury of 10 women and two men "who of us could say it wasn't practically at the moment the knife was being plunged at him" when Davis fired?

Recalling the couple's stormy life together and the conditions under which they lived, Thomas said it was perhaps "a question of time as to which one of them would get shot first."

Weissich, who said the law did not give Davis "the right to set himself up as Viola's executioner," was expected to complete his final arguments at about 1 p.m.

Judge Jordan L. Martinelli said he would recess the trial until Monday at 10 a.m. after the district attorney had finished. The judge will give his instructions to the jurors Monday, then hand the case to them for deliberation.

TAXPAYERS

land said today: "They're welcome to come, all of them. I'm just sorry Weissich wasn't there himself."

But Rowland wanted to know who was paying for Miss Oliver's overtime work—Weissich himself or the taxpayers of Marin County?

County Auditor Leon A. de Lisle told the Independent-Journal he would have "no hesitancy" to approve a warrant for payment of Miss Oliver's services at the association meeting.

He said the district attorney, if he wished, could pay the court reporter out of his "secret fund," appropriated by the board of supervisors.

"With that fund," said de Lisle, "the district attorney can make any expenditures at his discretion—hire people, pay for reports, transportation and so forth in the investigation of anything he feels should be investigated. It cannot be questioned at the time the expenditure is made. The district attorney files an annual report, which becomes public when filed, but he makes no report on any investigation while it is current."

The taxpayers association met last night in the San Rafael High School cafeteria. Rowland said the next mass meeting will be held March 31, probably in the high school auditorium. He said two such meetings will be held every month until June 30.

committee proposes it be promptly purchased and annexed, "even if a community center is deemed unnecessary or unfeasible at this moment."

Only alternative to acquiring the dairy property mentioned in the committee report was purchase of the American Legion Log Cabin and development of the seven acres surrounding it, which include the present city park. "However," said the report, "the usable land is such that it would put limits on future growth because of the hillside, the drainage canal passing through it, and the proximity to the Isabel Cook School. Furthermore, the building is small for dances and for theatricals, and does not lend itself to use of lights and decorations."

The committee reported it found the prime need is for family recreational facilities.

"The bulk of facilities in adjacent areas are athletic," it noted. Only real need in that line, it found, is for a swimming pool. It suggested a pool be part of eventual development of the community center.

The committee was appointed in July, 1957, by Mayor Arthur W. Smith. Members signing the report, besides chairman Manwaring, were Laura Zavosky, a student representing Sir Francis Drake High School; Jane Corbett, a student representing Marin Catholic High School; Roger Bury, a teen-ager representing XYZ League; Leo Busolo of the San Anselmo Lions Club; Dr. Hay C. Stovall of the American Legion; Marvin Christensen of the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce, and a volunteer member the committee acquired during its study, Mrs. J. H. Stewart. A member appointed to represent the 20-30 Club was unable to attend committee meetings and did not participate in the findings.

Edgar Hodges Dies At 68

Edgar G. Hodges, who has been connected with the Boy Scout movement in Marin County for 25 years, died at his Corte Madera home last evening at the age of 68. He had been in failing health, but his last illness was short.

He was a member of the Marin Boy Scout Council's executive board for eight years (1941-49). His council activities included work as advancement chairman and on the training committee.

He was instrumental in construction of Marin Sierra Camp, which is close to Emigrant Gap in Placer County, and also helped with Camp Tamarancho above Fairfax.

He was concerned with Scouting, too, as a parent. His son, Donald, became an Eagle Scout.

Hodges was a veteran of World War I, having served in the Army Air Service at Kelly Field, Tex.

Survivors are his wife, Helen of Corte Madera; his son, Donald G. Hodges of Fairfax, and two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 10:45 a.m. at Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo. Burial will be in Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno.

Mrs. Duncan Says She Hears 'Voices'

VENTURA (UPI) — Elizabeth Duncan said that she has heard voices telling her what to do, a defense psychiatrist testified today.

Dr. Brunon Bielinski of Los Angeles told the jury charged with deciding whether the 54-year-old defendant should get life imprisonment or death for the slaying of her pregnant daughter-in-law, he examined her and found her "unstable, immature and impulsive."

He said she told him she had heard voices on at least two occasions telling her things like "you should go to town today."

Bielinski said he found that Mrs. Duncan had been subjected in the late 1940s to the troubles of menopause, emotional shock over the death of a daughter, a possible stroke with resulting brain damage, and possible cerebral concussion.

The psychiatrist was the fourth and final witness for the defense at the penalty hearing before the same jury which convicted Mrs. Duncan of first degree murder.

The defendant's son, Frank, whose wife, Olga, was Mrs. Duncan's victim, testified yesterday and said "If I had a choice . . . I would choose the same mother."

Reed Schools Not Ideal, But Good, Parents Feel

Reed Schools have the "qualified approval" of the community, parents were told last night at a meeting in the Reed School Auditorium. "The qualification is that the schools are still short of ideal."

Members of the Reed Parent-Teacher Club heard this summation from Charles Bigelow of Little Reed Heights, reporting on a questionnaire sent to all district households seeking community opinion about Reed schools. Bigelow said his findings were based on 561 replies —31 per cent of the community.

The replies indicated "a young stable community of higher than normal educational achievement," Bigelow said.

These residents have high hopes for their children: 95 per cent definitely want their children to go to college and 67 per cent favor teaching as a profession for them.

Forty-four per cent were sure they had an exceptional child; only 2 per cent considered one of their children below average intellectually.

Thirty per cent thought the Reed district teachers better than California teachers generally and 43 per cent believe California teachers superior to those in the rest of the nation.

But despite this approval, 91 per cent felt there could be improvement, 81 per cent felt the children were not working to capacity and 66 per cent considered discipline lax.

"These (and other) findings," Bigelow said, show that the school system has the qualified approval of the community. "But (they give) the school system a green light to raise academic standards and the level of intellectual discipline even at the expense of imposing a greater burden on Reed children and their parents."

The questionnaire was part of a three-phase evaluation program undertaken in the Reed district. The first was a statement of school district objectives, drawn up by a team of Reed district laymen and educators.

The third phase is yet to come. This will be in the form of a critical analysis of the district's achievements by a team from San Francisco State College, headed by Dr. Aubrey Haan.

Dist. Supt. Paul Stouffer gave his endorsement to the evaluation study, saying its influence had been felt already in many ways: Parent-teacher conferences, adoption of a good salary schedule, continued improvement of facilities, etc.

"Its influence will be felt," he continued, "in such problems as report cards, length of the school year, foreign language program, remedial and enrichment classes."

Last night's discussion, in which school board Chairman Erwin Farley also took part, was moderated by Trustee Ahleen Tresnon, chairman of the steering committee which launched the evaluation study.

During a business session, the club adopted revised by-laws covering book purchases for school libraries. Mrs. Frederic Parke, club president, announced the club this year is donating $1,850 to libraries.

Judge Refuses To Dismiss Hopps Case

Attorneys for Stewart B. Hopps of Belvedere failed yesterday to win dismissal of a $2,459,701 suit brought against the international financier in U.S. Circuit Court, San Francisco.

Federal Judge Louis E. Goodman cited the complex nature of the case and said he did not feel qualified at this time to rule on the dismissal motion. He merely "reserved ruling" until the defense has completed its presentation.

The suit was filed by Continental Bank and Trust Co. of Utah, receiver for the now defunct Inland Empire Insurance Co. of Salt Lake City. Continental charged Hopps systematically drained the assets of Inland and defrauded the firm's stockholders, policy holders and creditors. Hopps denies he had any connection with Inland.

Dismayed by the evidence Continental's attorneys have presented, Judge Goodman declared yesterday he has "never in my life seen a case in which human ingenuity extended to such lengths. I have never seen such evidence of the maneuverings of corporations."

The judge said he is still "not confident that I have a sufficient comprehension of all the facts in the case."

But he promised to "follow this case no matter how long it takes me" and told Hopps' attorneys the defense should proceed.

HAMILTON VISITORS

Cadets Give Advice To AF Aspirants

By BETSY M. WOODMAN

A deep interest in aviation and desire to be a pilot are common motivations among young men applying for entrance to the Air Force Academy, according to academy cadets in the class of 1962 visiting Hamilton Air Force Base as part of a 14-day field training trip.

The cadets arrived yesterday and will remain until Sunday.

Interviews with four of the young men, three Californians and one from Michigan (included originally because someone didn't realize there was another Berkeley) bore this out. The "outsider" is James J. Young Jr. and his inclusion provides the opportunity to point him out as cadet chairman for tonight's big dance at the Hamilton Officers Club.

HIS ADVICE

Young's interest in an Air Force career was stimulated by his participation in Air Force ROTC in a Michigan college where he was on a drill team. Since entering the academy he has found that the humanities and social sciences have more meaning to him. His advice to academy aspirants is to "start sooner" so that good study habits will be well established by entrance time—when they are indeed needed.

Henry L. Hudson of San Francisco has been fascinated by aircraft all his life. Chemistry and math are his important subjects. He found weather at the Colorado Springs location of the academy took some getting used to, for a Californian, as did the rigorous training, mental and physical, which becomes the cadet's way of life. Hudson advises would-be cadets to start wanting the career early, and to be determined to stay with the whole exacting program.

Vernon F. Kenley is from Walnut Creek. His early college interest in chemistry has widened at the academy to include law and English, but both are secondary to his desire to be a pilot. He became attracted to the academy program while he was an enlisted man in the Air Force. Kenley is a squadron commander during this phase of training. Selection by his classmates is made on basis of military bearing and scholarship.

Roger S. Rhoades' high school principal in Clear Lake Highlands encouraged him to apply for a military academy career. Rhoades followed the advice but only to a point. The principal was an Annapolis man, and Rhoades' main interest is flying. He gives emphatic backing to the other cadets' recommendations that buckling down in high schoo and getting a firm determination to follow through the academy career, no matter how tough the going, are important parts of preparation for appointment.

This class began its studies last June and has had no summer or Christmas leave.

The cadets' training schedule is packed with flying, briefing and inspection visits. They marched, white-gloved, in a formal retreat parade and review for the retired Air Force officers who were guests at yesterday's open house at Hamilton.

Objectives of their visit include becoming familiar with the mission, organization, personnel, equipment and operational concept of the Air Defense Command, of which Hamilton is a part. The cadets also will be given an appreciation of the duties, abilities, responsibilities and professional knowledge of combat crews.

Stanford Hospital Won't Move Yet

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Stanford Hospital will continue to operate in San Francisco for one more year, Stanford University trustees decided last night.

All medical school facilities will be consolidated on Stanford's Palo Alto campus next summer. The future of Stanford Hospital here has been uncertain since the medical school move was voted in 1953.

Stanford president Wallace Sterling said doctors on the hospital staff have offered financial pledges so the hospital will not have a deficit this year.

Man Can Lay Atom Traps Around Earth

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Atomic weaponeers have demonstrated the possibility of laying artificial radiation traps for anyone who might dare to venture unshielded into nearby space.

Nature itself has created two zones of radiation—the first starting about 400 miles up—which reach peaks of deadly intensity at 2,000 and 10,000 miles.

SPACE BLASTS

This was revealed by yesterday's disclosure that the military, in Project Argus, secretly exploded three small atomic bombs—each equal to about 1,000 tons of TNT—more than 300 miles above the South Atlantic last August and September.

Another revelation was that man can now mess up his electro-magnetic environment to the point where radio communications and radar warning systems may be blacked out or impaired. Such disruptions normally are caused only by discharges of charged particles from the sun.

A third disclosure was that unless someone is looking for them, high altitude atomic tests apparently can be staged without detection.

RUSS DIDN'T KNOW

The Russians did not tumble to the Argus tests. There was no radioactive fallout, because of the extreme altitude.

The Argus tests provided much information about the military effect of nuclear explosions above the atmosphere. The information is secret. It is known, however, that the lethal range of bomb radiations at high altitudes is far greater than on the surface—on the order of hundreds of miles for H-bombs. Some scientists fear such explosions might upset delicate balances among forces affecting life on earth.

Deputy Defense Secretary Donald A. Quarles told reporters that the Argus explosions "advanced the basis of knowledge" needed to develop defense against long-range enemy missiles.

Kidnaped Mom Helps Police Nab Abductor

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A plucky mother told last night how she helped in the capture of an ex-convict who had kidnaped and held her hostage and her three children to barter them for the life of a prison enemy.

Mrs. Elma Baldwin attacked her kidnaper, Richard A. Payne, with a hammer during the nearly 24 hours he kept her in his car but failed to subdue him. She finally grabbed the wheel as Payne turned to fire at pursuing police, swinging the car off the road where her captor surrendered meekly.

NOT HARMED

Neither Mrs. Baldwin nor her three children was harmed.

As the police surrounded the stalled car, Payne threw down his pistol and gave himself up. He said he didn't want to hurt the children.

Mrs. Baldwin and her children, Danny, 7; Kenneth, 10, and Susan, 5, returned to their home. The nightmarish incident apparently cost the four little more than lost sleep.

TIRED, HUNGRY

"The children were tired and hungry. So was the the mother, but they were all okay," said State Police Cpl. M. S. Hofstetter, who helped run down Payne as he passed the Logan, W. Va. barracks.

The capture came at 5:15 p.m. yesterday, when the ex-convict's stolen auto passed within 100 yards of the station. Hofstetter and two fellow officers gave chase.

Payne invaded the Baldwin home in South Charleston Wednesday night on the pretext of making a phone call. He tied up John Baldwin, 30, and fled in the family car with Mrs. Baldwin and the children as hostages.

LEAVES NOTE

He left behind a note addressed to Gov. Cecil H. Underwood demanding the "head of my worst enemy" in return for release of the Baldwins. The enemy was identified as his former cellmate at Moundsville, W. Va. penitentiary, Burton Post.

When police finally ran him down, Payne fired two shots through a rear window, smashing the police cruiser's windshield without injuring the officers.

The north wing of the U. S. Capitol in 1800 was occupied by the Senate, the House of Representatives, the Supreme Court and the Library of Congress. The north wing was the only part of the building then completed.

270 Convicts Give Blood

Two hundred seventy pints of blood were collected inside San Quentin Prison's walls yesterday by Irwin Memorial Blood Bank, Associate Warden W. D. Achuff announced today. Of these, 231 pints were earmarked for Kent Kincaid, 23-year-old senior at San Francisco State College.

The young man, who suffers from a congenital bleeding disorder similar to hemophilia, requires an average of one transfusion a week. Eight years ago the inmates heard of his case and vowed he could count on blood from them as long as he needed it.

The remaining 39 pints will go to the prison's reserve blood supply. The mobile unit was at the prison from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m.

Bill For CHP Radar Introduced In Assembly

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—An administration bill to allow highway patrolmen to use radar speed detection devices was introduced in the Assembly today.

The bill, backed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown, was authored by Assemblyman William Biddick (D-Stockton).

Under terms of the measure, evidence on the speed of vehicles obtained with radar equipment would be made admissible in court. The bill also would provide for signs to tell motorists that radar was in use.

DRUG EXPERIMENTS

Recording Believed Key To Youth's Poison Death

REDLANDS (UPI)—A tape recording describing drug-induced "dreams in color" appeared to hold the key today to the poison death of a brilliant 18-year-old University of Redlands student who was conducting experiments on his own about drugs used in ancient Mexican religious rites.

Michael Hawks died of a poison Tuesday night but investigators said a detailed analysis of the poison was needed before it could be identified.

It was uncertain whether Hawks deliberately killed himself or was an accidental victim of his exotic experiments.

Police Chief Stanley R. Bowen said enough drugs were found in young Hawks' room cluttered with beakers, test tubes and other laboratory paraphernalia to "put the entire city of Redlands under sedation."

Hawks gave some of the lethal drugs to five of his fellow students, who then reported their reactions.

A tape recording on which it was believed Hawks, a chemistry student, and other students used to transcribe their hallucinations in color caused by drugs and mushrooms (believed used in rituals by tribal witch doctors) was in the hands of Coroner Edward Doyle.

"He sat up in his bunk as if he were intoxicated, then collapsed in a convulsion," said his roommate, Richard Lanham, 18, of Alhambra.

Airman Uses Air Chamber To Kill Self

WASHINGTON (AP)—An airman used a high-altitude test chamber as a suicide weapon, the Air Force said today.

A Pentagon spokesman said it has been established that Airman Walter Moore of Anniston, Ala., killed himself by that method at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base, Ariz., March 8.

The spokesman said Moore boosted himself to the equivalent of 70,000 feet altitude where there is virtually no air. Life can be sustained at such height only by providing oxygen.

The Air Force said Moore started the pumps on the chamber after all other workers had left about 6 p.m., then entered the chamber. His body was found the next morning. The indicated altitude registered the maximum of 70,000 feet of which the chamber was capable.

His assignment included work in and around the chamber, the Air Force said, adding that he was considered a model airman.

After 3 Years, Slayer Escapes Gas Chamber

SAN BERNARDINO (AP)—A carnival roustabout who has been sitting in San Quentin Prison's Death Row for three years suddenly has a new lease on life.

As the result of a complicated series of legal moves, William Gerald Moore, 37, was brought back to superior court here and Wednesday heard his penalty for murder reduced from death to life imprisonment.

Originally the state Supreme Court affirmed his 1956 jury conviction of murdering Hilda Hoag, 62. She was beaten to death on the grounds of the National Orange Show in San Bernardino.

After further appeals, the high court ordered superior court to again hear and determine a motion for a new trial or to reduce the degree of the offense.

Superior Court Judge Carl B. Hilliard said this command by the state Supreme Court was "unprecedented and to my knowledge without authority" but he bowed to the order and reduced Moore's penalty to life imprisonment.

Moore's attorney, John C. McCarthy of Pomona, said there were complicated legal questions involved. He said the degree of murder depended on whether the woman was slain during an attempted rape. He said a doubt existed on this point and this led to a reduction of the penalty.

Drunken Driver Jail Bill Passes

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Legislation to make sure repeat drunken drivers go to jail was approved yesterday by the Senate Judiciary Committee and sent to the floor of the upper house.

Two bills by Sen. Donald L. Grunksy (R-Watsonville) would require a minimum of five days in jail for repeaters in cases not involving injury and 15 days for those in which someone is hurt.

For first offenders one bill would remove a minimum jail sentence, leaving the term to the judge's discretion. Proponents of the bill testified that under current law, judges faced with imposing a 90-day sentence often grant probation.

The term "fawn" is used to describe the young of rabbits, caribou, mule deer, white-tailed deer, red deer and antelope.

Second Span To Hayward Approved

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A bridge parallel to the San Mateo-Hayward span was approved yesterday by the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

It approved a bill by Assemblyman Louis Francis (R-San Mateo) which would authorize the 25-million-dollar project.

Bus Hits Car, 4 Die

MOULTRIE, Ga. (AP) — Nearly 40 children escaped with minor injuries when a trailer truck smacked into the rear of a school bus yesterday and cascaded its load of cast iron pipe into the rear of the homeward bound bus.

The bus was carrying 75 youngsters.

Thirty-seven of them were treated for injuries.

All four were taken into custody later after a search of pupils at the school and released to custody of their parents.

Judge Jails 2 Youths For Tire Thefts

Two of four Marin youths arrested in January for stealing tires and other auto accessories were handed county jail terms yesterday by Judge A. F. Scheidecker of Petaluma in Marin Municipal Court.

Ronald James Ray, 20, of 16 Skyline avenue, San Anselmo, was given a 10-day sentence. Frank C. Nunn, 19, of 1504½ Lincoln avenue, San Rafael, was granted two years probation, but ordered to spend the first 30 days of it in jail.

Both won dismissal of felony charges of conspiracy to commit theft. They had pleaded guilty to the lesser charge of petty theft.

The cases of their co-defendants, Robert Vernon Treacy, 20, of 2450 Fifth avenue, San Rafael, and Gary Edward Mellon, 21, of 31 Hillview avenue, San Rafael, were continued to next Thursday and April 2, respectively.

Victims of the thefts were Mrs. Laura Metz of 8 Ivy lane, San Anselmo, and Paul N. Gardner Motors, 1612 Fourth street, San Rafael.

U.S. Radar Contact With Venus Bared

WESTFORD, Mass. (AP) — An 84-foot dish antenna here has beamed a radar signal 28 million miles to the planet Venus and caught its echo five minutes later.

The 56-million-mile round trip transmission, in February, 1958, consumed 10 cents worth of electricity for a 300-kilowatt signal but analyzing the data that came back today nearly half a billion calculations on an electronic brain at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. It cost thousands of dollars and months of time.

Scientists at the Lincoln Laboratory project operated by MIT for the Air Force called the feat a notable step in space exploration. They said it permitted the first measurement with great accuracy of interplanetary distances—an essential navigation in space.

The signal-bouncing off Venus, man's nearest neighbor beyond the moon—was disclosed last night with a telegram from President Eisenhower offering congratulations upon "a notable achievement in our peaceful ventures into outer space."

Radar signals were bounced off the moon 13 years ago. The moon is less than a quarter million miles from the earth.

The Lincoln Laboratory radar on Millstone Hill went into operation in October, 1957. The big antenna tracked the first Sputnik and numerous satellites since.

The first radar contact with Venus was made Feb. 10, 1958, and another two days later.

27 Kinds Of Pancackes At Eugene's; S.F. Pair May Take Over Vidak's

You could take Eugene Lackenbach and put him in a swank dinner house and I'd guess that he'd do a top job of top cuisine at top prices. And if he changed his name to Jean I'd guess, too, that a lot of people would make over him and before you knew it he'd be a chef celebre, and with his knowledge of food he could write a book about it and maybe retire on his royalties.

But Gene wouldn't get half as much fun out of this as he does fiddling around with his restaurant called Eugene's on Lincoln avenue where he can turn out 27 varieties of pancakes, and New York steaks at $1.95 for people who don't want to pay twice as much.

As a whole, Marin County isn't exactly pancake conscious and some folks here don't know the difference between a flannel cake and a crepe suzette or the species in between, although I must say the opportunities to learn are about as fine at Eugene's as anywhere on the coast. And the place does have a good following.

Gene's latest creations are low calory and high protein varieties for those who are diet conscious.

While you're there, take a look at his daily dinner specials which have nothing to do with the flapjack family—very reasonably priced. Nice spot to take the youngsters, too.

THE VACANT, staring windows of Vidak's in Greenbrae may show lights and activity within another month or so—everything depends on how soon a certain liquor license can be transferred over to Jim Meehan and Fred Minetti, two San Francisco boys with lots of enthusiasm and some well laid plans for reopening.

Jim and Fred operate the Sport Club, a small restaurant and bar on upper Market street in the city. The same name will be carried over here—they'll probably call it the Sport Club of Greenbrae.

Intentions are to conduct a family style eatery and cocktail lounge. Meals are to be in the medium price range. This may be the key to their success. Tony Vidak, though an excellent chef and host and liked by everyone who knew him, ran his menu above a popularly priced right hand column and thus found it difficult to maintain a steady everyday trade.

CALL IT curiosity—I just had to stop by Zack's in Sausalito and find out if any of the goings-on spelled f-o-o-d. This place has reminded me of the old Winchester house in San Jose which for many years was built, modeled, rebuilt and remodeled to keep away the spooks. Mrs. Winchester had an idea that as long as construction was in progress she wouldn't be bothered by departed spirits.

Sam Zakessian isn't as bad as that, but ever since he started working on it almost a year ago he's been adding to, subtracting from, and dividing the premises, but at the same time multiplying his customers. Sam never did have an official opening. One day he opened the beer taps and people walked in, which they've been doing in large numbers ever since, including Danny Kaye.

Along the way he has installed one of the prettiest stainless steel open kitchens you ever saw, and last Sunday he initiated it with broiled hamburgers. Except for a fling at a St. Patrick's Day dinner of corned bee and cabbage, hamburgers are still the only menu attraction, and that on Friday and Saturday eves and Sunday afternoons. But he's got himself a chef, one Larry Ernest, a top man graduated from the hotel and culinary arts course at San Francisco State, among the finest in the country. Larry was formerly with The Embers at Waikiki.

So there's still hope—some day maybe you can look for a real dinery here. Other planned attractions—a full cocktail bar by May 1, and 300 feet of docking facilities by June.

EVER NOTICE the live Rainbow Arowana from the Amazon River on display in Sabella's cocktail lounge?

It's 17 inches long and larger than the specimen in the Steinhardt Aquarium in San Francisco—feeds on other fish under two inches and raw meat. The value of this interesting little cannibal is around $100.

Edible? I wouldn't know. At the going rates it's too expensive to find out. I'd settle for the stuffed turbot if I were you.

IN 'CONNECTICUT YANKEE' roles Sally Mullen (left) as Elaine, Nolan Curran as Sir Sagramor and Mary Bloom as Morgan Le Fay appear in one of two casts which Marin Catholic High School's senior class will present in "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court" tomorrow and Saturday nights.

Catholic High Drama Has Two Casts

Marin Catholic High School's senior class will use two casts of players in presenting "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court" tomorrow and Saturday nights.

The play is scheduled to open at 8:30 o'clock both nights in the high school auditorium. One cast will be seen Friday night, and the other, Saturday night.

Sandra Fraize and Deanna Denman will play the role of domineering Queen Guinevere. Good-natured and somewhat discouraged King Arthur will be portrayed by George Silvestri and Richard Del Tredici. Scheming Queen Morgan Le Fay will be played by Corinne Geranoni and Mary Bloom. Sharing the role of her villainous partner, the magician Merlin, will be Yom Christian and David M. Wilson.

Sandy and Elaine, two charming young ladies of the court, are played by Melinda Krause and Joyce Leonardi and by Carol Ruggieo and Sally Mullen. Bill Ferlette and Tim Fitzharris appear as Hank Bennett, the Connecticut Yankee who introduces 20th Century tricks to the medieval court of King Arthur. Marion, his sister, is played by Suzanne Guehring and Collette De Voy, and Mrs. Bennett, his harassed mother, is handled by Gay Leonardi and Leni Mullane.

Terri Onorato and Winston Searles play Clarence, the mischievous page boy. Sir Sagramor is played by David Creighton and Nolan Curran, and Sir Launcelot by Frank Healy and John Boccabella.

Deanna Denman, Marin Catholic High School senior, has won the Zone 1 Lions Clubs' student speakers contest.

San Anselmo Man Sues For Fees As Labor Negotiator

Raymond C. Stanton, San Anselmo plumbing estimator, filed suit in Marin Municipal Court on Wednesday for $1,670 which he says is owed to him for services as a labor negotiator at Hamie's Chuck Wagon in San Rafael and Burge's Drive-In at Ignacio following the 1957 Marin restaurant strike.

Stanton's attorney, Peter Allen Smith of San Rafael, named restaurant owners Hamilton Holman and Edward Burge as the two who hired Stanton orally from Novmber, 1957, to May, 1958, to keep pickets away from their restaurants.

Smith said the two restaurateurs told Stanton his bill for $1,679 would be turned over to the Marin Restaurant and Tavern Owners Assn. but the bill was never paid.

Underwater Breathholding Champ Tells About Painful Experience

When doc sawbones tells us to "take a deep breath and hold it" we usually turn blue by the time his stethescope reaches our sunken chest.

That is why we continue to be amazed by this underwater breathholding business practiced by the Marin Skin Divers Club.

In case you missed it, a Mr. Robert Foster of the Marin club stayed under water last Sunday for 13 minutes, 42½ seconds without the benefit of a breathing device! If you don't think this is fantastic just try to hold your breath for one minute.

Foster, a resident of Richmond and an electronics specialist at the Standard Oil Co. refinery, performed the stunt at Bermuda Palms pool in San Rafael as a feature of the annual Marin Rod and Gun Club Sports and Boat Show. He thus claimed a world record, having beaten the 13 minutes, 35 seconds performance last summer by Dr. Robert Keast of San Rafael. Dr. Keast has retired as an underwater breathholder.

So has Mr. Foster. It's just too rough a business.

Why, then, did Foster try for the record?

"Well," the 6-foot-1, 165-pounder started off, "I just did it to prove a point. Some of my friends didn't think I could do it and I wanted to show them that it could be done. Besides that, everyone likes to break another man's record on something he's interested in. Frankly, I kind of doubted that I could actually hold my breath anywhere near Dr. Keast's record. I figured I could do 11 or 12 minutes, but not over 13."

"The Bermuda Palms water was a cool 50 degrees and at first it felt as though somebody was jumping on me with hobnail boots," Foster explained. "It was extremely painful for the first three minutes. My whole body felt cramped, as if I were tied up in a million little knots.

"Then the pain gradually left my fingers and hands and arms and I began to relax."

Dr. Keast and Al Giddings Jr., another former record holder, kept a close watch on Foster, who was held under by a 75-pound weight.

The new record-holder continues: "I was relaxed until I passed the nine-minute mark. Then came more punishment. My diaphragm and chest began convulsing. I thought my lungs would collapse. The last few minutes were agonizing. Yet I knew I wasn't in any real danger. Dr. Keast watched my eyes and checked my pulse. If anything was wrong I'd have been dragged out pronto.

"Giddings bent over me and signaled I had passed 13 minutes. I thought that was it. I just couldn't take any more. But somehow I did take more—42 seconds more and that's all I wanted."

For his performance Foster wore a skin-diver's suit and a face mask. Pure oxygen was pumped into his lungs for a period prior to the dive, but once under water he had no source of breathing.

The 32-year-old Richmonder said he practiced holding his breath every chance he got, at home or work or on club outings. Having been past the refinery, we understand why he practiced at work. Every time he'd try he'd break five minutes—just sitting there holding his breath.

And, no—Foster does not smoke. And he's through trying for records. Having proved his point, he said, "It's not worth it."

COLLEGE OF MARIN'S baseball team, unbeaten in Golden Valley Conference standings, suffered a jolt this week when it was learned star pitcher Ken Soldavini will undergo surgery tomorrow to have a bone chip removed from his knee. The big, strong righthander will be out of action for about a month.

SAN RAFAEL High School didn't win a game in the Tournament of Champions basketball classic last week in Berkeley, but the school did win one honor of which it is justly proud. The tournament committee voted San Rafael's rooting section as one of the best and gave the school a beautiful trophy for the honor.

Last Thursday school officials estimated more than 1,000 students attended the game and about 900 on Friday. Good sportsmanship is even more important than athletic victories and San Rafael is still a champ in that department.

Incidentally, the San Rafael basketball squad voted scrappy little play-maker John Blomquist as its season captain and most valuable player. Yet, Blomquist was not even mentioned on the All-North Bay League squad announced yesterday. "How ridiculous!" stormed Coach Bob Lincoln. "How could they not even mention the most valuable player on our championship team?"

A good question, indeed.

MEMO TO Terry Brennan: A friend of ours tells us the Notre Dame Alumni Assn. has given Pope John just one year to make good.

49ER CAGERS PLAY IN MARIN TONIGHT

Marin County sports fans who've never had a close look at some of the stars of the San Francisco 49ers football team will have an opportunity to do so tonight when the 49ers' cracker-jack basketball team moves into San Rafael for a one-night stand.

Featuring such grid heroes as Y. A. Tittle, Hugh McElhenny, R. C. Owens and others, the 49er cagers will do battle with the champion Dugout Dandies of San Rafael.

Tip-off for the game at San Rafael High School's gymnasum is set for 8 o'clock. A preliminary game will feature the speedy San Francisco Chinese All-Stars against the Independents of San Rafael, a local league team.

According to the San Rafael 20-30 Club, sponsors of tonight's show, the 49er squad also includes Clyde Conner, Ed Henke, Gordy Soltau, Bob St. Clair, John Thomas and Billy Wilson. It was not known, however, if all those players will appear.

EX-COLLEGE STARS

Soltau, Wilson, Thomas, Conner and Owens boast impressive collegiate basketball backgrounds. The 49ers have barnstormed through northern California all winter, playing outstanding all-star teams, including the Harlem Globetrotters. the San Rafael Men's League

The Dugout also boasts a top-notch quintet that has won the San Rafael Men's League for the fourth straight year and the Santa Rosa Invitational Tournament.

TITLE FIGHT DATE STILL UP IN AIR

LAS VEGAS, Nev., (UPI)—Date for the Floyd Patterson-Brian London heavyweight title bout here remained up in the air today with the cancellation of a planned meeting for today between hotel owner Beldon Kattleman and Cus D'Amato.

Kattleman, charged with making the arrangements locally for the bout, revealed last night that D'Amato, manager for world champion Patterson, would not come here until more details could be worked out.

He said a proposed date of April 21 for the fight, touted as a "warmup" bout for Patterson's contracted title contest with Sweden's Ingemar Johansson, was too close to the date set for the Tournament of Champions golf meet starting April 23.

Rodgers On Rampage; Wants That S.S. Job

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—Andre Rodgers, the ex-cricket player from the Bahamas, obviously wants that San Francisco Giant shortstop job.

The proof: Two home runs and two singles for a perfect day at the plate yesterday as the Giants whipped the Cleveland Indians 9-6.

Rodgers, batting champ of the Pacific Coast League last season, is getting his big chance at shortstop while Daryl Spencer moves to second.

Spencer, however, took a rest against the Indians. Eddie Bressoud filled in and got one of the five Giant homers. Orlando Cepeda and pinch-hitter Bill White got the others. The Giants collected 13 hits, the Indians 12.

Cepeda's blast, a 420-footer, was the longest blow in an Arizona exhibition game this spring.

The Giants play the Chicago Cubs today.

Both of Rodgers' home runs came off Herb Score. He gave up seven runs in four innings and took his second beating from the San Franciscans. Al Cicotte finished up for Joe Gordon's troops.

Jack Sanford hurled two-hit scoreless ball for four innings, but the Indians got to him in the fifth for three runs. Minnie Minoso's two-run shot over the wall was the big blow.

Cleveland picked up two more off Paul Giel in the sixth and another in the seventh on Woody Held's homer.

Rodgers in all drove in four runs, scored three and performed flawlessly on defense. Over the last two games he has six consecutive safe hits.

'Boating Safety' At Rod-Gun Meet

Malcolm Douglas of the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary will present an illustrated talk on "Boating Safety" tonight at the Marin Rod and Gun Club's monthly meeting.

To start at 8 o'clock, the meeting will be held at the club building at Pt. San Quentin.

Louisville Choice Over W. Virginia In Opener

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The home court advantage is expected to do more for Louisville than Oscar Robertson for Cincinnati, Jerry West for West Virginia, or a bear-hug defense for California in the NCAA basketball showdown opening at massive Freedom Hall tonight.

Louisville (19-10) meets West Virginia (28-4) in the semifinal opener at 5:30 p.m. (PST) followed by Cincinnati (25-3) vs. California (23-4) at 7:30.

The winners play for college basketball's tastiest plumb Saturday at 7 p.m. (PST), following a consolation game between tonight's losers. Capacity crowds of about 18,500 will attend each session.

Despite the general feeling among the coaching fraternity that the home court assist will be minimized by tournament pressure, the odds-makers have made the homestanding Cardinals the favorite.

This although Louisville has the poorest record of the semifinalists, has no one to match All-America's Robertson and West, and has a defense that's hit-and-miss compared to California's "make-'em-work-for-everything" style.

AT-LARGE ENTRY

The Cardinals also are the only at-large entry lined up against three solid conference champions in a tournament regularly dominated by league teams. No at-large entry has won since CCNY in 1950.

On a point basis, Louisville is quoted at 5½ over West Virginia and Cincinnati 5 over California.

All four teams were in top shape after final workouts with only Cincinnati due to play short-handed. Mike Mendenhall, regular backcourt man, is ineligible for the NCAA competition as a four-year player.

This didn't stop George Smith's Bearcats frfom spilling top-ranked Kansas State 85-75 in the Midwest regional final at Lawrence, Kan., last weekend. Cincinnati, champion of the Missouri Valley Conference, scored its other Lawrence victory over TCU 77-73.

Louisville, which lost seven of its first 12 games, created the biggest stir when, after bouncing Eastern Kentucky in the first round, it blasted defending champion Kentucky 76-61 and powerful Michigan State 88-81 to win the Mideast regional.

West Virginia, winless in four previous NCAA tournaments, also has won three straight—from Dartmouth 82-68, St. Joseph's (Pa.) 95-92, and Boston U. 86-82. The latter win nailed the Eastern regional title for the Southern Conference perennials coached by Freddie Schaus.

California, riding a 14-game winning streak, bagged its third straight Pacific Coast Conference title before whipping Utah 71-53 and St. Mary's 66-46 in the Far West regional at San Francisco.

Of the four, only California has advanced as far as the semifinals in previous NCAA play. The Bears finished fourth in 1946.

Cal Coach Pete Newell, however, coached San Francisco to the National Invitational Tournament championship in 1949, and Peck Hickman of Louisville won the NIT in 1956.

CAL GAME ON TV

Tonight's California-Cincinnati game will be televised to the San Francisco Bay Area by Oakland Station KTVU, Channel 2, commencing at 7:30 o'clock.

Skin Divers' Meeting

The Marin Skin Divers Club will hold its Sunday dive in the Fort Ross area, club spokesman Ray Pierce announced today. Members will leave Fourth and E streets, San Rafael, at 8 a.m.

Cal Frosh Defeat Prep Swimmers In Meet At Tam

Anthony 11-5 Choice Over Sonny Ray On TV Tonight

Anthony, the No. 1 man is an 11-5 favorite to make it two straight over the fifth-ranking challenger, in the television (NBC) 10-rounder.

In their first meeting Nov. 14, the 6-1 Anthony swept the last three rounds to grab a unanimous decision. Tony was a 4-1 favorite that night in scoring his seventh consecutive triumph and ending Ray's victory streak at nine.

Anthony's win streak was broken along with his heavyweight hopes in his next outing. Reuben Vargas, a rough, tough, 189-pound California heavyweight, clawed out a decision over the 177-pounder at the Garden, Jan. 30.

It proved that Anthony can't give away too much weight to an opponent who will come after him. Tony looked woeful whenever he was pressed strongly — and that was for most of the fight.

Anthony's record now is 37-6-1 including 28 knockouts.

Ray, 23, muscular, and 5-11, is one of the most improved battlers in the cruiser-weight division. After his loss to Anthony, he reacted well and easily defeated Roque Maravilla in Chicago Jan. 14.

Sonny's record is 18-6-5, including seven kayos.

Scoring will be by rounds. A supplementary point system also will be used to help break draws. The winner of each round gets from 1 to 4 points, the loser none.

S.R. Cage League Awards Tonight

The annual presentation of awards for the winners of the San Rafael Recreation and Parks Department Basketball Leagues will take place tonight at San Rafael High School gym.

The awards will be made prior to the start of the exhibition game between the San Francisco 49er basketball team and the Dugout Dandies.

Tanfo Strike Ends, Fans Eat, Drink Again

SAN BRUNO (UPI)—Racing fans at Tanforan were assured of food and drink today after settlement of an 11-day strike by track bar and restaurant workers.

Track General Manager Fred H. Ryan announced yesterday that the dispute had been settled at a meeting between the unions and concessionaires who sell food and drink at Tanforan.

He said no details of the agreement were given him.

It was good news for the race goers, who have had to bring their own or go without during the first 11 days of the 55-day spring meeting at Tanforan. The striking workers did not picket the track.

In racing highlights yesterday, Jet Journey overpowered his opposition in the stretch to score a two-length win in the feature race.

Moslem Prince was second and Berto Barbone finished third in the six-furlong sprint. The winner was clocked in 1:12-2/5 and paid $4.70.

Apprentice Jockey Pete Glenn drew a 10-day suspension and Bud Zollinger and Frank Costa were docked five days each for careless riding.

SAFE BOATING

By HARRY HEIFETZ, Commander
U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, Flotilla 14

COOKING FUELS

Among these, we can rightly say that electricity is the safest. Unfortunately, however, very few boats have the capacity (and very few people the money) necessary to make an efficient electrical cooking installation.

Most of us must content ourselves with other fuels for either one or the other or both reasons above mentioned.

The Coast Guard Auxiliary will approve proper installations of nearly all fuels excepting one. That one is gasoline, which is too dangerous a fuel for cooking. No boat carrying a gasoline galley installation will be given a Coast Guard Auxiliary decal.

Among the common types of fuel in use, the most popular are alcohol and butane. Alcohol has an advantage in that an alcohol blaze can be put out with water whereas most other commonly used fuels require fire extinguisher use.

In all types of installations, it is essential that the stove be securely anchored so that it cannot shift about.

All lines from fuel tanks to stoves should be tight and checked periodically to avoid leakage.

Galleys should be properly ventilated, particularly when in operation. The stove area itself should be secured against fire by having stainless steel or other suitable protection of the woodwork around and over the stove.

Installations using separate gravity flow tanks should have shut-off valves at tank as well as on stove.

Best installations are vented outboard. This is particularly essential in butane installations. Butane fumes are heavy and spill over and down just like water. Butane fumes are highly volatile and it is therefore most important that such installations provide adequate ventilation. The fuel tank itself should preferably be secured outboard.

If your boat is of fairly recent vintage, and of a more or less standard make, the chances are good that your galley installation if made by the builder is safe. But if your boat is old or you are planning a new installation, it will pay you to consult with your boatshop or yard. They have, or should have knowledge of Coast Guard approved methods and will aid you in your plans.

Mays Pressed His Luck And Law Of Averages Finally Caught Him

CONNOLLY

If anybody had told me a few weeks ago that the law of averages would catch up with Willie Mays and that he would get injured before the season began I'd have had to tell the guy he was a bit tetched.

My first impulse would have been to drag out the record book and explain that since 1950, when Willie first became a Giant farm boy at Trenton, he had never so much as had a scratch or even a strawberry, as the boys call it when a base slider burns himself.

The smart guys tell you never to press your luck, but things had been breaking so nicely for Willie he couldn't bear to sit back and let things happen naturally. He had to be ripping and tearing, sliding and stealing bases, throwing from the deep outfield to home plate and taking a toe-hold at the bat against pitchers too wild to know where they might throw the next pitch.

So less than a month of training and we find Willie nursing a nasty wound on his leg.

ANY FELLOW who hangs around sports long enough will preach there is no more important factor in the sporting racket than that good old law which says things are bound to even up.

All of which brings us up to the case of whether Ted Williams is or is not justified in stalling, as he does, in getting into the Boston Red Sox spring lineup.

They've roasted the Splendid Splinter no end in Arizona. He's lazy, they say, a prima donna, and what have you because he didn't hop into the lineup and start swinging and doing his stuff right from the start.

I'll say this for Ted Williams. He certainly does his best by himself while in training. No urging, pressure or criticism alters his course. And he has taken some pretty hard knocks on account of it.

I'VE REACHED a conclusion that I wished I had reached 20 years ago. Let professionals alone in training. The so-called abuses guys like Ted Williams are supposed to cause in the training camps is more than offset by their earnest work when under pay.

If Willie Mays wasn't the type he is, he'd be rounding into shape, slowly but surely like Big Ted, instead of nursing a bum shin bone.

Yes, I am aware that the "gate" is more and more vital to owners in order to maintain a training camp, but I'd rather see a shrinking gate in spring training and have a full complement of players during the regular season.

Mays was knocked down by a wild throw in the Cleveland game and for a few fleeting moments it was thought he had been struck on the temple. But fortunately the ball hit the bat and Willie, a bit frightened, got up and responded with a single through the pitcher's box.

THAT CLOSE call should have been a warning to fleet footed Willie, but he heeded no such signs.

So what, one asks, should be done about spring training?

I, for one would cut short the length of training, the number of players in camp, and particularly stress the necessity of players not exposing themselves to injury.

I do not mean to say that revenues from the exhibition games should be curtailed, but I believe the up-and-coming rookies, and not the known products such as Willie Mays, should be given the stage to fight for dear old Rutgers, as they say.

Baseball makes a kid out of Willie Mays and has kept Ted Williams young. Both are dead on the level in their own spring conduct, but I honestly think Ted is right and Willie wrong as to the technique used.

Yankees May Deal Lumpe To Senators

MIAMI (AP)—It could be that Jerry Lumpe will wind up in Washington in that big deal between the Yanks and Senators everyone in the South is talking about.

Manager Casey Stengel is not too worried about losing an infielder and he doesn't think his world champion New York club would be materially weakened if one of them went to Washington, provided, of course, pitcher Chuck Stobbs winds up in the Yankee Stadium.

"I can afford to carry one less infielder," shrugged Stengel today, "because both my catchers, Elston Howard and Yogi Berra, can play the infield."

PASCUAL MENTIONED

Marin Catholic Downs Drake On Goldman 2-Hitter

Righthander Craig Goldman pitched a two-hitter and his mates erupted for five runs in the third inning as Marin Catholic High School went on to down the Drake Pirates, 6-1 yesterday in a practice baseball game at Drake's diamond.

Marin got eight hits, including two singles each by Gary Bartolotti, Jerry DeRosa and Doug Wilson, a double by John Boccabella and a single by Goldman.

It was Marin's second win against one loss.

The drag races, new to northern California are sponsored by the V-Drive Boat and Ski Racing Assn.

Weekend Drag Races For Boats

Success of the first boat drag race to be held in northern California last December has encouraged the V-Drive Boat and Ski Racing Assn. to schedule a second two-day series tomorrow and Sunday at Searsville Lake, five miles west of Redwood City at Woodside.

Roy C. Sayles of San Rafael, enthusiastic president of the young association, looks for an even larger crowd than the 3,000 persons who viewed the earlier contests, when Carl McGinn of Glendale clocked 98.03 m.p.h. over the quarter-mile Searsville course to set a world championship mark.

Tomorrow will be devoted to outboard time trials, starting at 30 m.p.h. Outboard competition is welcomed, with many trophies offered in this category. At noon trial runs of the top inboard speed boats in California will be held. Sunday will be devoted entirely to inboard races. Races start at 9 a.m. both days, with registration set for 7 to 9 a.m.

TROPHIES GALORE

Carl Dethlefsen of Greenbrae will be competing with 17-foot Belmont V drive inboard runabout, driven by a Cadillac engine with G.M.C. super-charger, developing 550 h.p. and attaining speeds of 80 m.p.h. and over.

Bradley, St. John's In NIT Playoff Tomorrow

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bradley and St. John's, a couple of old hands at winning tourneys, are all set for a showndown rematch in the final round of the National Invitation Basketball Tournament now that the "Cinderella teams" have been sent packing.

The title in Saturday's nationally-televised (NBC, 1 p.m. PST) battle hinges on one question—can Bradley repeat its 71-66 regular season win over the New York Redmen?

Top-seeded Bradley, anxious for its second NIT crown in three years, reached the finals as expected with a 59-57 thriller over New York U. last night on Mike Owens' late layup basket.

St. John's, seeking to become the first team to win the NIT three times, advanced with a 76-55 romp over a Providence College team that had become the "upset darlings" of the tourney by first-round and quarter-final upsets.

Coaches Chuck Orsborn of Bradley and Joe Lapchick of St. John's made it clear at once that they both were mighty worried men.

"I thought N.Y.U. was the best team in the tourney—until I saw St. John's beat St. Bonaventure in the quarter-finals," said Orsborn.

"The Braves look like giants to me," said Lapchick, whose Redmen were unseeded but game time favorites in each round so far. "Bradley is a great team and very properly seeded No. 1 in this tournament."

AAU CAGE TOURNEY

S.F. Olympic Club Shocks Denver '5'

DENVER (AP) — Peoria's defending champions and title-favored Denver, jolted by upsets last night, peer from the sidelines tonight while four lesser-rated teams scrap in the semi-finals of the 52nd national AAU Basketball Tournament.

Wichita's veterans leaped into the favorite's role with a record-breaking 120-82 victory over Baton Rouge, La. after San Francisco chilled Denver 91-80 and the Army All-Stars shocked Peoria 81-75.

Bartlesville, Okla., 10-time champion of this week-long tourney, glided past the Marine All-Stars 86-80 in the other quarter-final game last night.

The Olympic Club from San Francisco shocked the 7,500 fans by sidelining the Denver Truckers. Denver had lost only once in 20 appearances on the home floor this season.

Ron Tomsic, 5-10 ex-Stanford star, and his band of Bay Area collegians defensed the Truckers perfectly. The Californians played a deliberate offense and refused to wilt in the early stages although lagging as much as seven points.

Tomsic, top scorer with 29, Phil Vukicevich and Paul Neumann came through with decisive points that pushed San Francisco into an 83-75 lead with three minutes left.

Rawls Lead Tourney

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP)—Betsy Rawls shot a two-under-par 72 yesterday for a three-stroke first round lead in the Columbus Open Tournament.

Mrs. Apostoli's 78 Wins Top Honors At Meadow Club

Mrs. Fred Apostoli, wife of the former world middleweight champion, carded a 78 to win low gross honors in the Meadow Club women's guest day medal handicap golf tournament yesterday. Mrs. Apostoli, a resident of Fairfax, represented the Marin Golf Club.

Net score leaders:

Class A — Mrs. John Cann, 79-7—72; Mrs. A. B. Babson, 84-9—75; Mrs. Harry Hensler, 84-9—75; Mrs. C. W. Morrill, 91-16—75.

Class B—Miss Marcia Lee, 87-18—69; Mrs. John Weitzel, 91-18—73; Mrs. H. A. Rose, 93-18—75.

Class C—Mrs. C. D. Arnold, 95-21—74; Mrs. John Woodson, 96-22—74; Mrs. Hugh Smith, 96-21—75; Mrs. N. L. Ackley, 98-22—76.

Casey To Defend Title Tomorrow In Richmond Bout

The San Francisco 160-pounder lost his first bout in 24 last Jan. 20 when Al "Tiger" Williams of Los Angeles took his measure in a 10-rounder here. It was, however, an over-the-weight affair so Casey didn't lose his title.

Things will be different this time as the two go at it over a 12-round route in a title contest.

Mechanic Is Killed

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Winter prepared for its exit today and its parting salute was a mixture of snow, gusty winds and cold from the Rockies into northern Midwest areas.

But, with spring due officially at 12:55 a.m. PST tomorrow, the weather was in seasonal form in most areas in the eastern half of the country—fairly mild temperatures and showers in some sections. It was a little cool in the far Northwest and warm in the far Southwest.

More rains kept the sun under cover in much of Florida, the so-called "sunshine state." It was the sixth straight day of wet weather in many areas. Forecasters didn't see much hope of dry weather before tomorrow.

The rains have disrupted major league baseball exhibition games and other sports events. Floods have forced several families from homes in low lying areas.

Priest To Mediate Newspaper Strike

SAN JOSE (UPI)—A meeting is scheduled Monday in the 35-day-old strike of the San Jose Mercury and News.

Representatives of the striking pressmen and Stereotypers Unions and the newspaper will meet with Rev. Walter Schmidt, S. J., who has agreed to help mediate the dispute.

Father Schmidt, director of the Santa Clara Youth Council here, met informally with both parties last wee½ but reported no progress.

The two unions went on strike Feb. 14 in support of wage demands. The newspapers suspended publication, declaring that other union employees refused to cross the picket lines. The non-striking unions claimed they were locked out.

Tam P-TA Hears 3 Candidates

School politics came to the fore Tuesday evening at Tamalpais High School when three of four candidates for district trustee spoke before the Tamalpais High School Parent-Teachers Assn.

Harry Leff Jr. of Corte Madera stressed the financial aspects of high school district operation, urging that bond issues should be avoided if at all possible.

Joseph C. Marshall of Belvedere, indicated that he was running for the office because of his feeling of obligation to community service. "This is the age of automation," said Marshall. Present schools are good but need improvement, he declared.

Incumbent Trustee Howard I. McGill was not present.

Tom McDougall of Homestead Valley, running for the sixth time, repeated his assertion that he was "battling the machine," charging "we have a political machine training our children to think one way, teaching them things that is not true."

NEWS VIEWS

By LEON C. SMITH

We guess most women at some time or other would like to own a mink coat . . . even in the tropics! But it seems that a mink coat can bring trouble to the owner as well as to all the pretty little animals who donated their skins just to make a person happy. We read about a woman who had one and was about as happy as a short-armed trombone player. In fact, she thought of it as a mink elephant. It seems she and her husband had just put all their savings into a new home, and they were very low on cash. She entered a contest . . . and wound up with an Autumn Haze mink coat valued at $10,000. Only they couldn't afford to support a mink. They had to borrow money to pay their income tax on the free prize . . . and then they tried to sell it! Even cutting the price in half didn't turn the trick. Additional money went for advertising and insurance on the girls' next best friend. So before you pine for mink . . . think.

There are a lot of ways to get into trouble in this world. Maybe it's like Mark Hellinger once said, "The trouble with trouble is that it often starts out like fun." And the trouble with buying a used car 100% on the basis of price is that it often causes later unnecessary trouble. You can avoid that by placing more importance on mechanical condition of the car and reputation of the dealer. Our skilled mechanics thoroughly inspect and recondition all used cars we offer for sale. Each is guaranteed and its low price will surprise you. J. E. FRENCH CO., 1542 Fourth St., San Rafael. REPUBLICAN WOMEN'S MEET

Strength On All Fronts Urged By Senator Dilworth In Talk

State Senator Nelson S. Dilworth of Pasadena, who addressed the California Federation of Republican Women, Northern Division, at the quarterly board meeting answered his own question—"Can America keep the peace?" That was the title of his address at Wednesday's luncheon at Rickey's Rancho Rafael. Pointing out that the American Constitution is the "greatest peace document ever produced by man," and that it is unique because it makes the government a servant of the people, the legislator said the United States "should have a truthful national policy" and should return to the "service of God." He continued: "We must be strong, religiously, economically, and in military power and in science; and patriotism has to be taught and has to be lived by both teacher and pupil."

Senator Dilworth, explaining that "competition is another word for freedom," said that competition is the medium by which the will of the people is determined. He declared that vigilance must be exercised at all times to protect the nation against the encroachment of socialism. He began his talk by sketching what had happened in Russia, Germany and Italy when the control of the government had been taken from the control of the people, because they had refused to accept their responsibility as citizens, and allowed "compulsory socialism known as Communism" power, with terrorism, torture and murder the result.

Of the local scene, Senator Dilworth said it is encouraging that there has been "a gathering together of Republicans" and he spoke particularly of the strong Republican vote in the State Legislature against the repeal of the loyalty oath.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Merritt Hosmer of San Carlos, president of Northern Division.

Preceding the luncheon, a film made in Washington, D.C., especially for Wednesday's meeting was shown with four Republican Congressman giving their views on national affairs. J. Arthur Younger was moderator. Other speakers were John Baldwin, Charles Teague and Charles Gubser. The consensus was they would "hold the line on the budget" and support the President's foreign policy.

Two resolutions introduced by Mrs. Sylvester McAtee of Sausalito, the division's resolutions chairman, and president of Marin Unit of Pro America, were passed. One urged the state Legislature to repeal the Short-Doyle Act as "unnecessary, costly and un-Amercian" and support Senator Dilworth's Bill No. 46, "Bill of rights for mental freedom." The other resolution urged the Legislature to give "careful consideration and exercise the greatest care" before adopting minimum wage scales "which would disturb the balance of the state's economy and fair employer-employee relations."

Two new American citizens, Mrs. Ronald Martin of San Anselmo, a native of Canada, and German-born Mrs. Otto Quast of Ross, were introduced and welcomed by Mrs. Raymonde Theill of San Anselmo and San Francisco, the division's sergeant-at-arms and new citizens chairman.

HONORED

Among those seated at Mrs. Hosmer's table were Mrs. Cecil Kenyon of San Marino, state president; Marjorie Benedict of Berkeley, Republican National committeewoman; Mrs. Gladys Penland of Berkeley, past president of the Northern Division and past state president, who is now second national vice president; Miss Jane Zimmerman, the state federation's campaign chairman; Mrs. Ruth Watson, member of the Northern Section of the Republican State Central Committee; Mrs. McAtee; Sidney Howard, president of the Young Republicans of Marin; Mrs. J. Lee Chaille, women's vice chairman of the Republican Central Committee of Marin County;

Mrs. Berla Krotz, first vice president of the Northern Division; Mrs. Mary Jasper, past president of the state federation; Mrs. Henriette Steinegger, woman's vice chairman of the California Republican State Central Committee, who led the salute to the flag; Mrs. Jewell Griffith, Mrs. O. F. Gaines, Mrs. Virginia Rowe, regional vice presidents of the Northern Division; the Rev. Paul Peterson, pastor of the First Congregational Church in San Rafael, and his wife, Senator and Mrs. Dilworth, also Mrs. Margie Ann Ewen, president of the Marin Republican Women's Council Federated and Mrs. Dorothy Nielsen, president of the Republican Women's Club of Marin.

Those two organizations were hostesses to the meeting. Also at the head table was Mrs. Lee Sherry, first vice president of the Republican Women's Club. On the committee were Barbara Hennessey of Fairfax, registration; Mrs. Matt Graham and Greta Samet of San Anselmo, reservations; Mrs. A. A. Laurence, transportation; Mrs. Sherry, San Anselmo, hospitality; Mrs. Rose Baker, publicity, and Mrs. Theill.

Providing entertainment was a hat auction. Auctioned were the "crazy hats" members wore to the meeting. Two of these, one featuring a pink elephant and the other a bejeweled white elephant, were auctioned for $15 each.

Pi Beta Phis 'Summer Sojourns' To Be April 14, 15

Pi Beta Phis, mothers, alumnae and actives are departing from the usual to stage a two-day spectacular fashion show and luncheon, "Summer Sojourns," April 14 and 15, when the actives model high styles at the Chapter house on the California campus. First showing is for the Mothers' Club and friends; second for alumnae and their guests.

Sequences of "Summer Sojourns" fashions will suit the plans of young and older generations for the summer months. Leading with "You're off to Tahoe," then, "You who are going to Europe" plus the intermission, a skit, "You who are on the Campus," followed by "You who are visiting your aunt," will give opportunity to show all types of clothes suitable.

This will be the largest Pi Phi party of the year. Mothers and alumnae have been mapping plans for this gala event for weeks assisted by Pi Phi Mrs. Harold A. Ellis Jr., fashion co-ordinator. Mrs. Rutledge Sheets is general chairman of the fashion show for the Mothers' Club and Mrs. Kirby P. West Jr. for the Berkeley Alumnae Club.

Mrs. John Churchill Entertains At Buffet

Mrs. John Churchill was hostess at a recent buffet luncheon in her newly-remodeled home in Sausalito to a group of garden enthusiasts who had earlier attended the garden section meeting at the Sausalito Woman's Club.

Her honor guest was Mrs. Albert Kosh who was the guest speaker at the section meeting. A "rock hound" and a member of the Marin Mineral Society, her topic at the meeting was "Landscaping with Rocks" and she displayed samples of rocks in her collection, illustrating how to use them in the garden as well as in home decoration.

Besides Mrs. Kosh, seen among the guests were Mrs. Merrell Sisson who is chairman of the garden section; Mrs. Douglas Kerr chatting with Mrs. Frank Rossman; Mrs. Emmet Rixford looking like spring in a flowered print; Mrs. Clayton Mote, Mrs. Robert Crowell and Mrs. Edwin Long taking advantage of the weather and eating out on the porch; incidently, Mrs. Long, by popular demand is going to repeat her very interesting talk on "Pebble Pickings" at the April meeting of the Garden section; and Mrs. Edward Ravizza.

Gives Flavor

Give flavor to a spring salad by tossing it lightly with instant minced onion and a little crushed oregano. Add sliced radishes, luscious cubes of Calavo avocado, and toss gently with oil and tarragon wine vinegar. Garnish with hard-cooked egg slices, if desired.

Fathers Are Feted At Rainbow Meet

Tamalpais Assembly No. 191, Order of the Rainbow for girls entertained at Fathers' night. The girls put on skits and following the entertainment, refreshments were served. The tables were decorated with a St. Patrick's Day motif. Centering the tables were potatoes with Irish flags sitting on paper shamrocks. Each guest had a nutcup fashioned like a green stovepipe hat.

At the meeting preceding the festivities five Grand Cross of Colors were awarded. Those who received them were Mary Ann Hanley, Carolann Motta, Bonnie Hoag, Mrs. Edd Moss and Wesley Smith.

Both the Novato Assembly and San Rafael Assembly were constituted by officers from Tamalpais Assembly. They were Sandra Frier, worthy adviser, constituting chaplain; Mary Ann Hanley, marshal; Shireen O' Brien, recorder, and Bonnie Hoag, musician.

Recently the girls went on a bike ride in Golden Gate Park and had tea at the tea garden.

On Sunday, Sandy Frier, Mary Ann Hanley, Andrea Fish, Bonnie Hoag, Shireen O'Brien, Merilee Leftwich, Linda Murray and Shirley Griffith will leave for the Grand Assembly which will be held in Fresno for five days.

AT ALTA MIRA

100 Demo Women Attend Luncheon

The Democratic Women of Marin had a preview of spring styles at a luncheon Wednesday at the Alta Mira Hotel. About 100 women enjoyed the fashion parade.

Special guests were Mrs. Jane Morrison, Democratic State Central Committee women's vice chairman for Northern California, and Mrs. Frances Shaskan, women's activities chairman for Northern California. Both reside in San Francisco.

Mrs. Morrison extended her good wishes to the Democratic women. Mrs. Shaskan urged them to take an active part in politics. "Continue Democratic leadership in partisan offices and place Democrats in key non-partisan positions," she said. "It is imperative that women know what is going on nationally and internationally."

Mistress of ceremonies was Mrs. Samuel Swadesh of Mill Valley, executive director of the Marin Democratic party. Style show commentator was Mrs. Stanley A. Beck of Terra Linda.

Costumes and accessories furnished by Modern Eve Shop of San Rafael were modeled by Democratic women. Large bags and matching shoes were from Netboy Shoe Salon.

Looking ahead to warm summer days, Mrs. Lawrence Sainte Maria of San Francisco modeled a paisley print blouse of Mafreeka fabric imported from England. Her walking shorts and lining of her wrap-around skirt matched.

Also perfect for summer was a two piece outfit worn by Mrs. Guy Hamelin of San Francisco. Her print Capri pants and matching jacket were fashioned of sacking material, so popular in sportswear this season.

The classic shirtmaker dress is popular again, as shown by Mrs. M. J. Mackby of Kentfield and Mrs. Sainte Maria. Mrs. Mackby's imported silk dress had spring blossoms on a white background. Mrs. Sainte Maria's was in rich green and blue shade, topped by a fur stole.

Mrs. Joseph Guthrie of Ross wore a distinctive two-toned suit in beige silk and cotton. A chocolate blouse was worn beneath her jacket, which had a wide bertha collar. Her beige hat was of imported straw.

Mrs. Leigh Athearn of Mill Valley was chic in a silk skirt and semi-fitted jacket in blue. The scoop neckline was bordered with a new wide collar and a modified peplum was in back. Her turban like hat was tall and white.

Two stunning outfits were shown by Mrs. Dean Billigmeir of Terra Linda. A black linen sheath was worn beneath a white basketweave cotton coat. Both were trimmed with black fringe. For another evening she selected a tunic print with brilliant colors ranging from pink to purple. The tunic with bateau neckline and small cummerbund was worn over a slim matching skirt.

For a very special party or formal reception Mrs. Leland Wiese's evening gown of beige tones and white would be ideal. Highlighted by a lace panel with sequin contrast, her costume was accompanied by a net stole.

Thirty-five garments were shown. Coordinators for the fashion show were Mrs. Maurice Campbell of Modern Eve and Mrs. F. F. Weiss of San Rafael.

IN SAUSALITO

A Version Of Old Testament Given At High-Jinks By Club

A new version of the Old Testament, told in song and verse and executed in dance was the novel entertainment of the annual High-Jinks celebrating Founders' Day at the Sausalito Woman's Club yesterday.

"And It Came To Pass" written and directed by Mrs. Fred Tetzlaff and based strickly on the Bible with no diversion from the facts, is a farce on scenes taken from the Old Testament.

Told they were in "for a treat", the audience responded with much enthusiasm to this very different type of entertainment proving that the realization was every bit of the anticipation.

Each scene, prologued by the Preacher (Mrs. Leonard Wood) who set the pace for the farcical element, was fast moving. The costumes, made by Mrs. Miriam Brecka and designed for this production by Mrs. Alexander Imlay, with the minimum amount of suggestion, transformed each member of the cast into lions in Daniel's Den or devils in Satan's Hell.

Mrs. Imlay also designed and constructed the set for the "in the round" production.

Mrs. Fredrik S. Waiss proved once again the expert choreographer she is as the dance director.

ROLL OF DRUMS

The roll of drums by tympanist Mrs. Harold Rosenblum whose husband, Dr. Rosenblum, was music director, heralded the opening scenes of the angels in heaven and the devils in the fire and brimstone of hell as was "in the beginning."

A lonesome Adam (Mrs. Robert LaFontaine) was soon lured by an enticing Eve, played by Mrs. Jerome Adam, and Cain (Mrs. Delman Smith) and Abel (Mrs. Robert Walt) the quarreling brothers, carried the tale along leading to the destruction of man.

Then the floods came, and the animals who, two by two, filled Noah's Ark, performed intricate dance steps while being led by a white unicorn (Mrs. John Ward) without a mate.

As Moses walked through the sea to the promised land, "so, too, can you" sang and danced his followers, Mrs. Mervyn Cowen, Mrs. Gleason Gifford and Mrs. Jerome Adams.

Delilah (Mrs. Richard Cruikshank), having enticed Samson with a kiss, discovered the secret of his strength and "tonight, when he's asleep, I'm cutting off his hair."

The hounds of Hell, in song and dance, bade Suzanna in heaven "not to cry" as they were keeping the Elders on an eternal march for wrongly accusing her, and Daniel (Mrs. Jacques Neuville) who couldn't "stand cats", was thrown to the lions (Mrs. Mervyn Cowen and Mrs. Robert Walt).

Gabriel (Mrs. Ronald Mackenzie) sounded his trumpet for the day of reckoning and reminded the audience that Judgement Day is coming and rich or poor all will have to go "when they sound your name."

IS HONORED

Mrs. Tetzlaff was congratulated and presented with a large bouquet of spring flowers on behalf of the members of the Woman's Club for her clever idea and its execution.

Others who took part in the performance or helped with the production were Mesdames L. S. Balliet, H. C. Mcean, Harold Griffeath, Raymond Gergus, Ernest Bowman, Wint F. Saint and Richard Grambow.

Mrs. Henry Smart was coordinator; Mrs. John Brebner, Mrs. Robert Watson and Mrs. Charles Ray were the make-up artists; Mrs. Brebner also handled the lighting effects with the help of Mrs. Max Pollack; advisor was Mrs. Douglas Kerr and printing of the scripts was the work of Mrs. Carl Spring.

The program will be repeated tomorrow night under the name of the Low-Jinks for members of the club and their husbands or escorts. The Low Jinks is under the chairmanship of Mrs. William Erskine assisted by Mrs. Ernest King, Mrs. George Eichmeyer, Mrs. Vera Harlan and Mrs. Conrad Kett. The performance will start at 8:30 o'clock and will be followed by dancing and refreshments.

Eight year old Charles Quinn, son of Mrs. Ella Quinn of Mill Valley, will host a group including Sheila Peterson, Julie Cook, Susan Davis, Laura Martin, John Leonard and Steven Vail.

Another theater party will honor the 10th birthday of Imogen Billings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Billings of Corte Madera. Joining Imogen will be her brother Jack, and Mary Elliott, Paula Anderson and Cindy Clark. Rounding out the party will be the young honoree's Bluebird group.

The "Singing Bluebirds" from the third grade at Kentfield School will include Linda Ashoff, Brian Carson, Beatrice Mullen, Kathy Wamsley, Kimmy Cooper, Janet Stock, Clair Stock, Cindy Lucas, Georgia Cameron and Susan DeRosa. Mrs. Paul Ashoff of Lucas Valley will escort her group.

Camp Fire girls from Larkspur-Corte Madera will serve as ticket takers and ushers at both performances. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Couple Trade Vows In Montgomery Hall

The Rev. Robert Clapham officiated.

Given in marriage by William Ellert of San Francisco, the bride wore a chartreuse ballerina length dress with small hat of beige petals and beige accessories. She had an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Donald Farling of Fairfax was matron of honor for her sister. She wore a cocoa dress with Italian straw hat and beige accessories. She had an orchid corsage. Best man was Fritz Wasser of San Francisco, Mrs. Cody's son by a previous marriage.

A buffet dinner followed the ceremony at the Farling home in Fairfax for 23 guests.

The newlyweds will leave this week by auto for Naples where they will make their home.

Pediatrics Ward Is Remembered At Marin General

Pediatrics continues to be remembered by friends of Marin General Hospital with wonderful scrapbooks. Valentine favors and clever balloon faces made by the "Sugar and Spice" Blue Birds of San Anselmo, under the direction of Mrs. Hartley Slater.

Among the appreciated donors are the "Teen-Ettes," a Camp Fire group under the direction of Mrs. Donald Logan who made six scrapbooks for Pediatrics. Members contributing were Donna Storrs, Donna Logan, Diane Dienstein, Mary Feerick, Claudina Hill, Carol Ann Reynolds, Toni Banducci and Sue Lenci. Other donations included scrapbooks from the "Accent Florists" and books from Dr. Ralph Jacobs of San Rafael.

Mrs. Frank Dettner's Cheskencay Camp Fire Girls made clever Valentine tray favors. The girls who worked on this were Alexis Arnold, Marilyn Burns, Chris Dettner, Nan Breidenstein, Carol Hinkley, Ann Nicholson, Judy Rude, Kathleen Ninnis, Meredith Pike, and Martha Wertheimer.

Clever balloon faces, by Mrs. Slater's San Anselmo Sugar and Spice group of third graders were greatly enjoyed. The girls working on these were Beverly Sisler, Arleen Johnson, Kathly Swagerty, Jacqueline Green, Peggy Slater, Ann Hiaring, Patty Strauss, and Jacqueline Colton.

Adults at Marin General have not been overlooked either. Books for the bookcart have been received from Mrs. Sheridan Rowe of Ross and recent issues of Life, Time, and Harper's magazines from Michael Harris of Sausalito.

Poppy Club Has Luncheon Meeting

Mrs. Watler Thomson was hostess for the Sausalito Poppy Club, recently at her Sausalito home, with Mrs. Henry Bigall of San Francisco assisting as co-hostess.

Those enjoying the luncheon were Mesdames Percy Yeend, Robert Ross, John Thomson, Leo Beers, Ida Martin, Eugene Poole, Martha Donnelly, George Williams, John Terris, Nell Boyd, and B. F. Muse. Guest for the day was Mrs. Anna Lutjens of San Francisco. The St Patrick's Day theme was carried out in the decorations.

Mrs. John Thomson gave the Memorial for Mrs. Isabel Mercer who recently passed away. Mrs. Mercer was a member of long standing in the club and a memorial donation in her name was given to the Red Cross.

The club also voted their yearly donation to the Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc.

Mrs. Nell Boyd, in charge of sewing, passed out the layette material to be completed by the members. Two layettes are given yearly to some needy family in Marin county.

The Poppy Club will hold its April 8 meeting at the home of Mrs. Ida Martin, Sausalito, with Mrs. Edward MacIvers as co-hostess.

Credit Women Are Dinner Hostesses

The Credit Women's Breakfast Club recently held its annual Boss' Night at the Alta Mira in Sausalito when 28 members attended with their "bosses." The speaker was Stan Herrick, a certified Dale Carnegie instructor, who told how to create good public relations and overcome antagonism.

Mitzie Brown, president, conducted the meeting and Fern Wearill introduced the speaker. Ellen Martinelli was in charge of the program and Rachael Gorb decorated the tables. Reservations were taken by Anne Daniele and Billie Arrington.

SECOND YEAR ENDS

Marin YWCA Notes Progress As Membership Drive Starts

March 23 is the opening date of the membership drive for the YWCA of Marin County. This was announced today by Mrs. Kenneth W. Verling, chairman of the board of directors of the Marin YWCA.

"In just two years the YWCA has grown in Marin County to a membership of 800," said Mrs. Verling. "Our program started in March 1957 with nine classes offered and 104 people enrolled. With the beginning of our new term this spring we have 29 classes and interest groups."

YWCA program was started in Marin County after the San Francisco YWCA received requests from Marin residents for activities in their area. The decentralized program, under the direction of Miss Kaye Hunt, was explored thoroughly before an office was acquired at 1010 B street, in San Rafael.

Spurred on by a committee of community-minded women who met often and long to iron out the "growing pains" of this new venture, the program now is firmly established in Marin County.

Recently the committee became a board of directors. Those serving on the board, in addition to Mrs. Verling, are Mrs. Wallace Hall of Belvedere and Sacramento, Mrs. W. A. Hillhouse and Mrs. Frank Ric of Sausalito, Dorothy Brown Mrs. Roy Michael, and Mrs Robert Pederson of San Rafael Mrs. Dan Dougherty, and Mrs. Samuel Archibald of Ross. Mrs. Peter Salvaressa of San Anselmo, Mrs. Richard Newman and Mrs. Archer B. Forsyth of Mill Valley and Mrs. Robert Agnew of Novato.

Just why the YWCA has met with success is evidenced by the comments of those taking part in the program. A young wife, Mrs. Elmer Langguth of San Rafael notes, "The YWCA has been my answer to changing a dull routine of daily living to an interesting one.

"Looking forward to the pleasure of spending a few hours each week learning to do new things and meeting new people has given me the needed incentive to plan my time more effectively, creating a better organized home life which has proven, in my case anyway, to be a happier one," she continues.

The YWCA program appeals to young adults through classes such as golf, bowling, bridge, mosaics, painting, or even trimastics. Some programs are designed for families and men become a part of YWCA activities.

Teen-age girls also find the YWCA is a good organization to join. Kim West, a member of the Y-teens at Redwood High School in Larkspur, puts it this way, "The YWCA is a wonderful thing to belong to. All the activities you get into help you to become a better person. Our opinions really count, you're a real person in this group, and adults give us the courtesy of listening to us."

YWCA program in Marin County is financed by contributions from members and interested persons.

Volunteers are helpful in stretching the program budget, by giving their services for office hours and various jobs. During the past year approximately 100 women gave 1587 hours of volunteer time to the YWCA.

"In Marin County we are hoping to increase our program this year still further," commented Mrs. Verling. "People interested in helping the YWCA to grow are urged to join the YWCA this month by calling the YWCA office, or by filling out one of the membership applications." A membership application is published on this page.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Have We Forsaken Great Ideals Of Our Forefathers?

How far has our nation strayed from the paths charted by our forefathers in the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the U.S., including the preamble and the Bill of Rights, and the idealism embodied in Lincoln's Gettysburg address?

Most of us were first exposed to these and other similar great American documents in grammar school. We came to love and respect our country as the world's strongpost of freedom and individual liberty and justice. We came to know our country as a melting pot that welcomed and freed the oppressed and downtrodden of the world.

How far we have strayed from all these ideals can be measured in part by what happened one recent day in San Rafael.

The mother of an Independent-Journal reporter was refused the privilege of renting an apartment because she was "oriental."

Let us get acquainted with this lady. She was an immigrant to California from her native land nearly 40 years ago, coming as the bride of another, earlier immigrant who had been sufficiently successful after arriving to send for his future wife. (Doesn't that sound familiar? It happened in the family history of many fine people we know and they are appropriately proud of it.)

In her younger days, this lady was a working farm wife, helping her husband in the fields. Se became the mother of three daughters and a son, whom she reared and encouraged to obtain education which she herself was largely denied. (Doesn't that sound familiar, too?)

One daughter became the wife of a dentist; another became the wife of a university professor; the third became the wife of an Air Force soldier and she is a part-time school teacher.

The son is a veteran of honorable service in World War II. He received a master's degree from Stanford University.

Grandchildren? She has them. They will be valuable citizens in times to come. One was a science fair winner in Marin County last year.

Now this lady is a widow. She has come to Marin to retire from the arduous labor that has been her lot in life. She wants to live out her years close to her son and his family.

A suitable apartment was found for her in San Rafael. She was found to be a desirable potential tenant—except for one thing. "We don't rent to orientals."

When the pioneer-type mother of an American war veteran, mother-in-law of an Air Force soldier, mother-in-law of a dentist, mother-in-law of a university professor and grandmother of a Marin science fair winner is denied a place to live because of race, creed or color, we have indeed strayed a long way from the path charted by our forefathers.

Let us hope that we will in the days ahead regain the path described by our American ideals.

Marin's Fragrant Bay Tree

Riddle: What is the connection between the California laurel tree used in landscaping, the bay leaves used in cooking and myrtlewood used in woodworking? Answer: Whether we call it California laurel, Oregon myrtle or just plain bay tree, they are one and the same.

The bay trees have been blooming for several weeks now in Marin. The clusters of tiny cream colored blossoms are unspectacular, but attractive nonetheless. Crush one of the dark green, leathery leaves and note its spicy fragrance. These are the bay leaves used by expert cooks to season veal and beef.

Botanists know this tree by its scientific name, Umbellularia californica, and they tell us it is one of the world's great trees. It is a native tree and an evergreen.

Useful in the yard, in the kitchen and in the workshop, the bay tree is also one of our great natural beauties.

Darryl Zanuck's Boy Follows Without Fear In Dad's Footsteps

His dad, Darryl F. Zanuck, has supervised more than 1,000 films, three times won the Irving Thalberg award. Young Zanuck, vice president of his father's independent company, has just finished producing his first picture.

Dick, a short athletic man whose neat mustache makes him look younger than his years, is aware of both the perils and privileges of his name.

"I realize the chances of my doing what I'm doing now would be a lot smaller if I weren't the son of Darryl Zanuck," he said.

"But I haven't experienced any resentment on the part of others. There would be if I abused the opportunities, or if I didn't do a good job."

Dick is reasonably sure he did do a good job in his initial venture as a producer. He brought the picture in at $1,250,000 — some $100,000 under budget — and shot it in 27 days, five under schedule.

"It was an enthusiastic group, down to the last man," he said.

Dick has worked in every branch of the movie industry.

"I can't remember ever wanting to be in any other field," he said.

"I WAS RAISED around the studio and started selling newspapers there when I was 8. I also worked on the labor gang, in the story department, and in the advertising department."

Dick expects to stick to the producer's role, and has no present desire to direct.

Young Zanuck is strongly optimistic of filmdom's future, feels certain the advent of pay television will boom it tremendously.

"THERE IS A LOT of gloom in the industry," he said. "It is sad to see, but I don't know what it is all about. There is too much fear.

"Pictures today — the big pictures — are turning in the biggest grosses in history. The biggest need of the industry is to make more pictures for the present audience — which is the younger generation.

"Seventy-five per cent of movie fans are under 21. A lot of people lose sight of that."

THE CYNIC'S CORNER By Interlandi

Samuel W. Gardiner, retiring chairman of the Marin County Tuberculosis Assn., turned the gavel over to George Scott of Mill Valley. Others elected to office were Mrs. Roger Kent, vice president; Mrs. Nelli Blade, secretary, and William P. Murray, treasurer.

Six-foot waves lashed over Sausalito's main street in Marin's stormiest night of the year, filling pavement between gutters with six inches of rain and sea water. Hardest hit area was between the Little Art Gallery Antique Shop and Bill Winterburn's Boat and Tackle Shop.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

County Should Acquire Net Depot

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Considerable interest has recently developed in a piece of Paradise Cove property commonly referred to as the Naval Net Depot Annex which area is not contiguous with the Naval Net Depot proper and should not be confused with it. This property is now excess to the Navy and may become available to Marin County.

Different county groups have expressed their intention of trying to acquire this valuable property for various uses such as a school, a park, a boat harbor, etc. In short, the immediate assumption is that this area should be developed for the public welfare. I wish to point out several factors for consideration.

This property is one of unusual beauty and potential and is situated between residences on acre sites. The fact that this property could be a valuable addition to the tax roles, if developed in harmony with the surrounding residences, should not be overlooked. However, since the disposer of this property, The Government Service Administration, is in a very inequitable manner not even considering the owners of the property when it was condemned the probability of desirable residential development seems remote. Without such residential development it is felt that the chance to preserve the natural beauty and charm which originally persuaded adjacent landowners to purchase their property will be lost.

One must remember that Paradise Drive is a narrow, winding road and is a dangerous one to travel at any but a well controlled speed. This road when it was continuous (and it soon will be again) was a nightmare of congestion on weekends, undoubtedly the creation of a public facility at the Annex will compound this traffic problem. Certainly the traffic remedy usually planned by the thoughtless 'road straighteners' would be disastrous to a now beautiful drive. This area during most of the year is designated as a critical fire hazzard and the fire protection for it is nil. The increase in fire hazzard that would be created by some thing like a park is obvious and catastrophies of complete destruction such as the Gustafson fire recently on Paradise Drive are bound to occur.

Before the county commits itself to the purchase of the Annex I think that careful consideration should be given to the possibility of acquiring the Naval Net Depot proper. This will soon be surplus. It has many buildings of the former Net school and these would be practical for public school use. It has functioning fire protection facilities. It is a large green belt area ideally suitable as a park particularly since the county recently acquired acreage above it for that very purpose. It has established dock and harbor facilities, perfect for a small boat harbor. This property, far more ideally than the Annex, fills the bill for the various developments the county has in mind.

Sport Show Edition Was Educational

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

The I-J is to be commended for its entertaining and educational presentation of Marin county sports in the March 12 edition. However, in the light of current thinking (and local investigations of housing discrimination), I would like to comment on the ideals of the Marin Rod and Gun Club . . . Gordon Dixon's article said the organization started with a . . . membership of 35 men who had true fish and game ethics . . . and planned to work together for the betterment of every sportsman. (sic) His article concludes with, "Marin is fortunate to have a wide-awake and progressive sportsmen's club that is a credit to the community."

How then do they explain Article IX of the MRGC Constitution: (1) MEMBERSHIP: Any citizen of the United States of America, and of the Caucasian Race . . . shall be eligible for membership in this club.

Is this true to good sportsmanship and fair play?

Milk Price Fixing Backfires; To Cost Housewives $10 Million

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Once again, the illogical concept that price fixing by the state of California benefits consumers has back-fired to the extent of a nearly $10,000,000 annual touch on the pocketbooks of housewives.

This stems from an announcement of one of the state's bureaucracies, the Bureau of Milk Control, that seasonal reductions in the price of milk will be only a half a cent a quart instead of the anticipated cent a quart the bureau planned when it announced the seasonal cut program some months ago.

UNDER THE bureau's theory, milk is more plentiful in the spring when the cows come fresh, and therefore, the public is entitled to some reduction in price in view of the added supply. It anticipated a cent reduction.

But following a series of "public" hearings, which are attended for the most part by representatives of the dairy interests, the bureau came to the conclusion that instead of dropping the price a cent a quart, it would permit a decrease of only a half a cent.

Individually and per quart, this appears to be a small amount. Collectively and on total gallonage, it will amount to approximately $800,000 per month, or $9,600,000 annually.

THE LEGISLATURE sanctions and condones price-fixing by the state in this one industry. While other states of the union, notably Oregon and Florida, are getting away from price-fixing, California continues with but little protest on the part of the public, or anyone else. The dairy interests like the present situation, as profits are guaranteed. Competition in fluid milk is a thing of the past, and the industry, instead of being able to work on the basis of free enterprise, has become the abject creature of the state.

In Oregon, the voters threw out price fixing at the polls. In Florida, the Milk Commission noted the price-fixing, and the under-the-table rebates which went along with it, cost the consumers from seven to ten million dollars annually. An editorial in a Florida paper noted that with elimination of price control, the house-wife is now getting the kick-back which formerly went to the super-markets.

THE OFFENSE in California is that the state is able to fix the price and eliminate a competitive situation which could in the long-run, bring millions of dollars in savings to the California house-wife.

Certainly the dairyman is entitled to a fair profit, as are the members of the milk trust which includes the distributors. This is not a voluntary trust, but a monopoly inevitable because of the state's laws. Perhaps the subject should be one for investigation by Governor Edmund G. Brown's proposed new Consumer counsel, who would look after the interests of the people.

Hallinan Studies Photography To Prepare For Trip To Russia

As one might expect of an institution of higher learning, the comments and rejoinders that pass through the air at meetings of the College of Marin board of trustees are often on a more subtle plane than other boards.

Mrs. Ada M. Fusselman, board chairman, wielded the keen edge of humor at the last meeting when she commented on the resignation of board member William A. Hamilton in reference to the (at least) annual skirmishes over faculty salaries.

Mrs. Fusselman said she was sorry "Bill won't be on hand for the spring maneuvers."

We noticed the impulse to smile over the apt description was universal.

WELL-KNOWN Ross attorney Vincent J. Hallinan also delivered a short statement at the meeting. Hallinan in a letter said he wanted to thank the board and night photography instructor Ken Molino for the "gratifying success" of his six months study of photography.

Hallinan, known for his support of left wing causes, said he was going to have to leave the class; apparently for his forthcoming trip to Russia.

The plaudit for Molino's teaching is not the first we've heard, but one of the more unusual. Ken of course is also chief photographer for the Independent-Journal and one of the sparkplugs for use of newspaper color.

JACK BENZ, Kentfield postmaster, passes on a note received recently from an Illinois man asking why the office couldn't deliver a letter marked to a "Miss Shirley Moose, Kentfield."

The man said he recalled Miss Moose lived on a street with other such "animal" names. Sure enough, Jack says they delivered it soon after. The Moose home on Hill drive is surrounded by such others on Poplar drive as the Wolfs Scales, Seaman and Oyster families, while the Waste and Noyes families reside nearby on Hill drive. The Lyons are not far.

Jack said the only reason the letter probably wasn't delivered at first was because it happened to come to a new man at the office.

ONE OF OUR sharp young heads in Corte Madera incidentally has come up with a possible merger election slogan: "Merge or Submerge!"

ARE YOU A victim of habitual swervitus? Most residents in the lower Ross Valley seem to be, judging from the good response the little white dots on College avenue are getting.

The dots outline a planned left turn lane into Kent Woodlands for northbound traffic. In that the little white dots are beginning to fade we checked with Larkspur City Manager Ronald E. Piper as to see what comes next.

Perhaps persons who believe motorists are out only to speed might take note of the voluntary response to the little white dots. It seems almost a rule that sensible traffic regulation begets little trouble from motorists.

Public Has Huge Stake In Labor Negotiations Of Months Ahead

WASHINGTON—It is more than ever evident that when labor and management sit down to the bargaining table, the public has a tremendous stake in the outcome.

During the next nine months the stake will be unusually great because the bargaining table will be unusually busy.

The reason is that during this period 154 wage contracts and the wage clauses of sixty-two other labor-management contracts covering 4,174,000 workers come up for re-negotiation. At the same time deferred pay raises or automatic cost-of-living adjustments fall due for 1,444,000 other workers.

1959 will thus see mounting pressure for wage increases, mounting pressure for price increases, and the prospect of a further rise in the cost of living.

I am not suggesting that wage increases are undesirable either from the standpoint of management or the public. I am not suggesting that wage increases automatically have to bring price increases. I am suggesting that the public has a valid and pocket-book interest in checking the wage-price spiral and in bringing inflationary pressures under control.

THIS IS why most economists agree that it is in the national interest to see that new wage increases are kept within the bounds of the increases in productivity in each industry.

This is why President Eisenhower and Secretary of Labor Mitchell and Secretary of the Treasury Anderson and others have been counseling labor and management to use enough self-discipline to halt voluntarily wage - increase price-increase inflation so as not to bring on a cure worse than the disease — namely, government controls of both wages and prices.

The major 1959 test of whether wage increases are going to plough through the ceiling of increased productivity will be in the steel industry whose three-year contract with the 1,104,000 workers of the United Steelworkers Union expires on June 30.

At the moment the ex parte spokesmen of both sides are forecasting the worst — massive union demands and massive management resistance with the possibility of a prolonged strike.

It is, however, the judgement of some very informed people who are close to the situation, that a prolonged strike is not probable, that the industry's pre-strike inventory will be too great to make a strike inviting to the union and that it is possible the wage increases can be kept to a level which will not require price increases.

My information is that the most responsible leaders of the industry want to do everything possible to assimilate any new wage increases without a price rise and would be prepared to take a strike to avoid a price rise.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

Mark Twain once was allowed to buy stock in a publishing house, and boasted to a friend, "This will net me a fortune. They've let me in on the ground floor."

Ten months later the publishing house went bankrupt, and the friend taunted, "I thought you said they let you in on the ground floor?" "So they did," maintained Twain, "but there was a son of a gun in the basement!"

Mark Twain explained another time that all true humorists find themselves in the same position: "We have to make people, who would otherwise hang us, believe that we are joking."

A tourist wandered into a flea circus and watched spellbound while the head flea did his tricks. "Did you educate that flea yourself?" he asked the owner of the show.

"I did," was the proud reply. "I raised it from a pup."

DeMILLE EPIC AT NOVATO

Here's part of a cast of thousands in a dramatic scene from the Cecil B. DeMille epic, "The Ten Commandments," which opens a five-day run tonight at the Novato Theater. Charlton Heston plays the role of Moses. Other stars in the huge cast are Debra Paget, John Derek, Anne Baxter, Yul Brynner, Edward G. Robinson and Yvonne De Carlo.

Sophia Loren Plays Widow Racketeer In 'Black Orchid'

By LESLIE DARD

TAMALPAIS THEATER

Hollywood has chosen to turn Sophia Loren into a serious actress rather than a flaunter of lurid charms and continues the process in "The Black Orchid," a new film starting Sunday in San Anselmo.

In this VistaVision movie, she portrays the widow of a racketeer who must face up to a whole new set of problems brought on by her ruthless, ambitious past desire for wealth: her son (Jimmy Baird) shows too many signs of wanting to follow in his father's footsteps, and a zealous suitor (Anthony Quinn) is held back by a daughter (Ina Balin) horrified that her father may embrace the taint of a gangster's widow.

Scripter Joseph Stefano writes with a relish for the Italian - American characters and with an understanding of the volcanic nature of the slum setting. The affectionate, discerning dialogue is the strength of the film.

The conflict of the aging lovers is the main theme, but Miss Balin manages to steal scene after scene from the stars with her vivid performance, thereby adding another dimension to the story.

Estimate: Plenty of sentiment in this one.

Through tomorrow night, you can see a romantic ranch adventure titled "The Sad Horse" (color, CinemaScope). It stars young David Ladd, Chill Wills and Pat Wymore, and is geared for "family" viewing. The co-feature is "The Little Savage," a mixture of "Treasure Island" and "Blackbeard the Pirate." Pedro Armendariz and Christine Martel star.

RAFAEL THEATER

Come Sunday, the Rafael's holiday week feature will be "The Shaggy Dog," a fantasy-comedy out of Walt Disney's Buena Vista Studios.

It's about a teen-aged boy (Tommy Kirk) who changes himself into a sheep dog every now and then, causing much confusion in his family, among the police, and in the neighboring household (which contains a nest of nasty spies anyway).

Fred MacMurray portrays Tommys dog-hating father (he's a mailman, thus constantly subject to hounding by hounds). Kevin Corcoran plays Tommy's younger brother, who prefers him when he's in sheep dog form. Alexander Scourby, whom we saw most recently as a Nazi in Danny Kaye's "Me and the Colonel," turns up as an Iron Curtain spy.

Through tomorrow night, the Rafael will be showing Mike Todd's "Around the World in 80 Days," a "must-see" film starring David Niven, Cantinflas (the Mexican comedy star), Shirley MacLaine and a host of famous actors and actresses in cameo roles.

Incidentally, there will be matinees at the Rafael next Monday through Friday because of the school holidays.

MARIN MOTOR MOVIES

Cary plays a widower whose only problem are his three kids, all straight from the pages of Dr. Spock. Sophia is the daughter of a visiting Italian musician who is out to Find a Man. Instead, she finds one of Grant's offspring (all are slightly mad), and winds up as the family maid.

The houseboat of the title comes in after the house in which Grant plans to live is hit by a train! Because of the Washington, D.C., housing shortage, the family moves into the broken down ark on the Potomac.

Harry Guardino as an admirer of Sophia, and Martha Hyer as a girl interest in Cary, round out the cast.

Because of the holidays, the Marin Motor Movies will be open through Sunday night, instead of closing after the Saturday night performance.

FAIRFAX

If you want to see a perfect example of how two performers can turn fluff into a wonderful bit of film fare, we suggest you see "The Reluctant Debutante."

Rex Harrison and Kay Kendall star in this movie about the annual debutante season in London. They play a couple trying to launch their 17-year-old (Sandra Dee) in society. Their tribulations stem from the fact that Miss Kendall wants to match Sandra with a young aristocrat (Peter Meyers), a Palace Guardsman and a bore. Sandra has her sights set on a young drummer (John Saxon), a nobody's who's really a somebody.

When the principals get through with this plot, I think you'll find you've had one of your most entertaining evenings in a long time.

SEQUOIA

Through tomorrow night you can see Spencer Tracy in "The Old Man and the Sea" (color). His performance won him an Oscar nomination as best actor.

On Sunday, the feature will be "Me and the Colonel," starring Danny Kaye. Kaye shows himself to be a first-rate character actor in this warm comedy and, for my money, rated an Oscar nomination (which he didn't get).

Kaye plays a timid but resourceful wandering refugee from Hitler who escapes from Paris just ahead of the Nazi legions. His traveling companion is an incongruous Polish colonel (Curt Jurgens).

Theirs is a mad escape — in a Rolls Kaye has purchased from the Rothschilds' chauffeur, with gas bought from a wrecked cab. And then, to compound their problems, the colonel must head toward the Nazis to get one of his suburban girl friends (Nicole Maury).

Yet they do make it to safety aboard a British sub sent to salvage the colonel — but only because Kaye saves the party more than once. There are numerous comic incidents along the way, and an excellent supporting cast.

LARK

Before opening with "Around the World in 80 Days" on Wednesday (and here indeed is a film worth seeing twice), the Lark is offering a double bill consisting of "His First Affair" and "Kindly Kill Me."

The first-named stars shapely Odile Versois as a married woman who tempts a young student (Alain Quercy) into committing an indiscretion.

GOP Organizes Tax Revolt In Legislature

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Minority Republicans organized a tax revolt in the Legislature today that posed a serious threat to Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown's finance and water programs.

The Republican caucus voted last night to oppose new taxes, contending the two billion dollar budget can be balanced by the use of reserves.

MAJORITY SUPPORT

Sen. John F. McCarthy (R-San Rafael), Senate minority leader who announced the action, said a majority of the 33 Republicans present supported the caucus policy. There were 12 absentees.

Brown, blaming an inherited deficit and rising state costs, has asked for new or increased taxes intended to bring in 202 million dollars in 1959-60 and 256 million the following year.

SAVINGS PLAN

Assemblyman Glenn E. Coolidge (R-Felton) came before the GOP caucus with a plan to save almost 190 million dollars, including diversion of 100 million from the 171-million-dollar investment fund.

Coolidge said he didn't seek caucus approval, but that he would introduce a series of 23 bills to carry out his economies and fund transfers. He expects to propose another five to seven-and-one-half million dollars in savings in 10 days or so.

WOULD LEAVE ENOUGH

The Felton assemblyman, ways and means chairman last year, said the 100-million-dollar diversion would still leave enough in the investment fund for water development. Brown has recommended earmarking the entire fund, out of tideland oil revenues, for his water program.

The Republican caucus did not specify how much of the investment fund it proposed to apply toward budget-balancing. By implication, however, its statement called for draining the state's reserves down to the last cent.

Brown Tax Hike Drive Will Start Next Week

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown and his top leaders in the Legislature will start pushing next week to pass the administration's 256-million-dollar-a-year tax program.

Assemblyman Thomas J. MacBride (D-Sacramento), author of the Brown tax bills, said today they decided to start with measures to levy a tax of three cents a package on cigarettes and increase state income taxes.

MacBride said the two measures would be set for a hearing in his revenue and taxation committee next Thursday.

MacBride said the decision to push the tobacco and income taxes first was made during a round of discussions between Brown's staff and legislative leaders.

He said they were chosen because "these two taxes represent in a small sense a picture of the entire tax program.

"One will increase consumer taxes and effect the low income group and the income tax will affect the higher income group," MacBride said.

Movie To Benefit Foreign Exchange Student Program

The Novato committee of the American Field Service will sponsor a benefit showing of the Danny Kaye movie, "The Court Jester," at the Novato Theater, 7 to 9 p.m. April 1.

Proceeds will be used to finance the group's program, including its foreign exchange student activities. Ticket sales will be handled by a committee headed by Mrs. John Lee.

Five Novato High School juniors are candidates for selection as foreign exchange students this year. They are Norman Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Johnson, 2260 Center road; David Schwindt, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Schwindt, 848 Eucalyptus avenue; Richard Morse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Morse, 1525 Buchanan street; Susan Killen, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Killen, 784 Sutro avenue, and Ted Kruth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Kruth, 760 Tamalpais avenue.

Fencing Classes For Adults In South Marin

Fencing instruction for adults is offered every Saturday morning from 11 o'clock to noon at the Southern Marin Recreation Center, according to Recreation Director Howard Adams.

Both members and non-members may participate in this popular sport, Adams said. Further information may be secured at the Center offices.

Water Line Cost To Be Split 3 Ways

Directors of Marin Municipal Water District have agreed to a three-way split of cost of water lines for fire protection in Las Lomas subdivision No. 3 in Mill Valley.

The developer, George Rohmer, will pay one-third of the cost; the City of Mill Valley will pay one third, and the water district will pay one-third.

The directors, meeting Wednesday, also agreed to lay 1,100 feet of six-inch pipe to serve the district with culinary water.

Contracts were awarded to Mueller Co. of San Francisco for 6,000 copper fittings totaling $9,069, and to Smith-Blair, Inc., of South San Francisco for 925 service clamps totaling $1,879. In each case, the successful bidder was lowest of five.

The water board will meet on Tuesday at 8 p.m. instead of Wednesday next week, announced B. J. Brusatori, secretary.

Marin Girl Wins College Stipend

Susan Rigsbee of 9 Lilac avenue, Kentfield, a student at Dominican College, has been named winner of a fellowship from the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation to provide support during her first year of graduate study in English literature at Radcliffe College, beginning next fall.

The fellowship, backed by the Ford Foundation, makes available a living allowance of $1,500 for each student, plus the full cost of tuition and fees.

The Salvation Army has four million recruits working in its missions throughout the world.

EASTER FLORAL DISPLAY OPENS TOMORROW

Mill Valley's downtown streets will be blooming with some 20,000 flowers tomorrow as the community's Easter flower display gets under way.

"However," warned display chairman Normand Black, "we will have our maximum display only if the participating merchants get their boxes out in front of their places of business tonight or tomorrow morning."

Black said 92 merchants are participating in the program, some with two display boxes, each of which accommodates four flowering plants.

Black, a commercial florist, made the estimate of 20,000 blooms.

Two Marinites Join Fraternity In Colorado

Two Marin high school graduates have become fraternity brothers at the University of Colorado since enrolling there last fall.

They are Robert D. Kemp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Kemp, 57 Hickory road, Fairfax, a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, and Fred G. Athearn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leigh Athearn of 146 Cascade drive, Mill Valley, a graduate of Tamalpais High. Both have been pledged by Delta Upsilon fraternity at the Boulder, Colo., university.

Emerald Bay Road Study To Continue

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Efficiency and safety or natural beauty?

The state Park Commission and the state Highway Commission—principal dissenters in the location of the highway—agreed yesterday to continue feasibility studies before coming to firm conclusions.

The present road is closed much of the year because of bad weather and landslides.

The Division of Highways recommends an all-weather, low-level route along the shore of Lake Tahoe with a bridge across Emerald Bay.

The Division of Beaches and Parks says such a route would destroy the region's natural beauty and recommends another high route, possibly with the use of tunnels.

Both commissions declare they want to retain the scenic beauties, but J. W. Vickrey, assistant state highway engineer, doubts the operational feasibility of another high route.

"All-year operation can be provided along the low-level route with reasonable certainty," Vickrey said, "while such cannot be said for development along the alternate high-level route."

Beards Start Sprouting In North Marin

"How are you fixed for blades?". is a meaningless query in North Marin these days.

Most male residents of the area are mothballing their razors for the duration—of the the beard - growing contest which will wind up in judging of beards June 20 during the three-day Western Weekend celebration in Novato.

Beards will be judged in seven classifications: Full beard and moustache, trimmed; full beard and moustache, length and fullness; "Abe Lincoln"; mutton chops or sideburns; Van Dyke; moustache only and goatee, with or without moustache.

Prizes will be awarded in each class. Paul Scheller of the Jaycees is chairman of the beard contest.

Were Your Parents Sarcastic? Then You Know How It Hurts

Were your parents sometimes sarcastic with you? Remember how it hurts? Their wisecracks were especially bad when your friends were around to hear them. Right? Let's look at our children's reaction to sarcasm today. They're just as sensitive as we were.

I watched a Cub den mother at work. The other boys had made some nice album covers. Her son botched his. "That's my boy," she said sarcastically, "he has no fingers, only thumbs. He's still a baby. I even have to dress him every morning." The boys laughed. Her son tried to smile, but couldn't. There were tears in his eyes. His lips trembled. His mother didn't notice. You've seen mothers like that?

Fathers are guilty more often. Some men can hardly open their mouths around their children without poking fun at them. Cruel fun. I listened to a man at a fathers and sons banquet recently. In 10 minutes he had made nine wisecracks about his teen-age boy. His son was "dumb." He had "two left feet." "As a baby he was beautiful, but look at him now!" It was torture for his boy. He had to sit there and take it.

It's easy to be witty at our children's expense. They're afraid of us. We know they won't talk back. The more insecure we are inside, the more we depend on the satisfactions sarcasm brings.

We can't be perfect. Biting comments will slip out. But at least we can try. We can try to remember how much sarcasm hurts. We can try not to forget that our children thrive on love and support. Not cruelty, with humor.

(Q) "I resent the special classes now being set up for the brighter high school students. Isn't that a form of segregation?" S.I.

(A) Science has taught us that children are different. The brightest kids languish in classes adjusted to average learners. Average youngsters languish when work is adjusted to slow learners. My feeling is that we need the sort of segregation which is based on ability in a school subject. If done properly, all children profit.

Neil Whitman Gets Role Of 'Drunkard'

John Brebner, director of the third annual summer melodrama for the Sausalito Little Theater, today announced the cast for "The Drunkard," scheduled to open May 29.

Neil Whitman has been named to play the part of Edward Middleton, the drunkard. He played comedy parts in the past two summer melodrama productions. The villain, Lawyer Cribbs, will be portrayed (to hisses) by Don Michaelian.

William Dowton (always there in the nick of time) is assigned to Pat Schaeffer. T. D. Casey will be seen in the short but impressive role of Mr. Rencelaw, the wealthy gentleman whose aim in life is to save souls from the brink of destruction.

The heroine—and wife of "The Drunkard"—will be weepingly portrayed by Elaine Mitchell. Her long suffering mother, who dies early in the play, will be done by Dorothy Pilcher. Others in the production include Sally King and Joan Friedrichsen.

"The Drunkard" will run Friday and Saturday nights throughout the summer.

Home Burglarized In Sleepy Hollow

Burglars crept into a Sleepy Hollow home Wednesday afternoon and stole $257 worth of radios, cameras and liquor, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Burch of 977 Butterfield road told Inspector Carl Sears and Deputy George Barnes they were away from home from 1 p.m. to about 4:30 p.m. When they returned, two radios, a shirt, three bottles of liquor, two cameras and a pair of binoculars were missing.

Meeting Postponed

Midget Race Track Seeks New Location

The quarter midget race track behind the King Cotton restaurant area in San Rafael will have to move to new quarters soon, it was disclosed yesterday at the San Rafael Sanitation Commission meeting.

The racing organization wants to lease tidelands alongside Madera boulevard next to the sanitation treatment plant to set up a new race track.

The sanitation commissioners said they would like to help but fear that if they lease district land to one group, a precedent might be set for other groups to make similar requests. Furthermore, the San Rafael pistol range is nearby, and children might wander into the line of fire.

Chairman Walter R. Castro said he is favor of trying to help the midget racers, but not on the sanitation district ground. Castro indicated there should be other open ground in the California Park area.

Commissioner John F. McInnis also expressed reluctance. He said it is all right to let a group use land temporarily, but the tendency is that once entrenched, it becomes difficult to uproot.

Commissioner Fred E. Jensen said he sees no harm in having a race track next to the treatment plant.

Rocket Runs Wild In Test At Plant

A large portion of a solid propellant rocket broke away from its stand during a captive test yesterday at the plant some 20 miles east of here.

No one was hurt.

ACHIEVES HIS GOAL

Palsy Victim Now Little League Star

By LARRY LOVETT

There are lots of enthusiastic boys playing Little League baseball these days and perhaps even more equally enthusiastic parents who follow the games.

But it is doubtful if there is a more interested and enthusiastic Little League family in Marin than the Max Robertsons of Sausalito.

The head of the household is a Sausalito fireman and former semi-pro infielder. But his major assignment is as umpire for Little League, at which he performed faithfully in spite of occasional uncomplimentary remarks from the players last year.

Then there is his better half, who attends all the games. Mrs. Robertson, in addition to being a good rooter, has watched the progress of son, Mike, 8, in the game. Son Jimmie. 5, is pushing as hard as he can to get into Little League play as quickly as possible.

But the star these days is Randy, 9.

At the age of 2, Randy was stricken with cerebral palsy. He was unable to walk.

He watched brother Mike start to play baseball. He watched his dad umpire the games. He wanted to play.

Last year, Randy was selected as theme boy for the Easter Seal campaign of the Marin County Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

He appreciated the honor — but baseball was what he wanted.

The two, Randy learned, are tied together. For advances in treating palsy victims which have been financed by Easter Seals paid off for Randy Robertson.

He underwent two operations last year. After the second, he was able to walk with casts on his legs.

As another baseball season drew near, Randy, after his day as a pupil in Sausalito's Central School, practiced at home —able at last to catch and throw a ball, although his running after it is a slow and cumbrous thing.

One day Max Robertson approached Ralph K. (Swede) Pedersen, director of the Sausalito Little League. He wished, said Robertson, there was some way Randy could play in a Little League game.

"I don't see why not," said Pedersen. "There's nothing in the rule books that says he can't."

That did it.

"He has an oversize first baseman's mitt," Pedersen explains, "so that if he falls, he uses it as a cushion. He moves very well and is deadly when it comes to catching a ball."

Randy is one of the 80 new boys in the Sausalito area who recently signed up to make the 140 Little Leaguers in the group. And it's a pretty safe bet that he's going to offer some hot competition to those who are after first baseman's jobs.

Jet Crash Touches Off Forest Fire

PORTERVILLE (UPI) — Firefighters expected to have a blaze in Sequoia National Forest under control early today after an all-night battle touched off by the crash of an Air Force jet.

The fire started yesterday when a F104 Starfighter, piloted by Capt. John R. Niemela, 30, of Peterborough, N. H., plunged into the forest after Niemela bailed out. The plane had been on a training flight with two other aircraft from George Air Force Base.

Air Force officials said Niemela was picked up by a plane from China Lake after parachuting to safety. Niemela said he was forced to ditch the plane because of a flame out.

The Forest Service said the fire had burned more than 100 acres of heavy brush as of last night.

Seventy-five fire fighters ringed the blaze last night with the help of a helicopter from an Oakland flying service. Most of the fire-fighting units were from the Kern Industrial Farm at Kernville.

Squadron Wins Safety Trophy

The 43rd Communications Squadron at Hamilton Air Force Base this week received the Western Air Defense Force commander's trophy for greatest effectiveness in reducing ground accidents.

The trophy is presented semi-annually.

Maj. C. J. Trick, commander of the winning squadron, received the trophy from Maj. Gen. Hugh A. Parker, WADF commander, for a record of 93 per cent improvement in its accident prevention program during the second half of 1958.

Dance Will Benefit Kids' Baseball

A benefit dance for the Mill Valley children's baseball program will be held April 4 at the Mill Valley Golf Club, starting at 8:30 p.m., chairman Robert E. Nelson of the Mill Valley Citizens Committee for Baseball announced today.

"There are about 550 boys in the 8 to 15 age group in and near Mill Valley who will be playing baseball this season," Nelson said. "Citizens interested in this program for the boys have combined their talents and efforts and have obtained four fields."

He said two Little League fields at Boyle Park, a Pony League field at Edna Maguire School and a full-size field in the Project 17 area of the marshlands will be in use.

These fields lack backstops, Nelson said, and proceeds from the dance will be used to obtain these.

Tickets for the dance may be obtained from any Little Leaguer or Pony Leaguer in the area, Nelson said.

Measure To Make Schools Conform To Zoning Passed

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The Assembly yesterday passed 41-37 a bill to make school districts and other local government agencies meet city and county zoning ordinances.

The measure by Assemblyman William Biddick Jr. (D-Stockton) would counter a 1956 state Supreme Court decision that school districts are not subject to zoning laws.

All other local government agencies except publicly owned utilities would be subject to both building and zoning ordinances. Schools are inspected by the state, so would not be required to meet building ordinances.

Assemblyman Bruce F. Allen (R-Los Gatos), opposing the measure, called it a "vicious bill." "It would give the cities regulation of the schools — something they've never had," Allen said.

Car Club Slates Annual Rally

The Square Wheel Touring Society will hold its third annual "Friendly Rally" Sunday, beginning at noon from the Corte Madera Shopping Center, with competitive classes for novice, senior and expert drivers and navigators.

Engraved plaques will be awarded the first 10 places in the novice class, with a single prize going to the winning cars in each of the two advanced categories.

Navigational problems will range from simple to "well nigh impossible" depending on class, the club announced. Registration will begin at noon, with the first car leaving at 1 p.m.

Fairfax Laborer Held In Shoplift

A 26-year-old Fairfax laborer was jailed Wednesday night on suspicion of shoplifting a dollar's worth of canned goods from the Food Mart in San Rafael.

Maurice Arthur Guy, owner of the market, called police at 4:10 p.m. He said he had caught David E. Pike, who works on the Smith ranch in Fairfax, with two cans of meat under his shirt.

Combinations of numbers and sizes of seed trees as required in this section shall be determined as follows: Each seed tree twenty-four (24) inches or more d.b.h. shall be equivalent to two (2) seed trees which are less than twenty-four (24) inches, but eighteen (18) inches or more d.b.h.

913.2. Duration of Seed Source. Seed trees may be cut or removed, provided cutover lands have a well distributed young growth stand which before and after removal of seed trees meets one or a combination of the following minimum restocking requirements:

(a) Three hundred (300) trees per acre not less than one (1) foot in height and not more than four (4) inches d.b.h.;

(b) One hundred (100) trees per acre over four (4) inches d.b.h. and not more than twelve (12) inches d.b.h.;

913.3. Exceptions. The requirements of these rules as provided in this article shall not prohibit the cutting or removal of trees for the purpose of clearing rights of way, log landings, campsites or firebreaks.

Article 4. Protection of Seed Trees, Young Growth, and Soil.

914. Logging Practices. For the purpose of protecting from damage those seed trees and young growth required to be left standing after logging and fire hazard abatement, as required in these rules, and to maintain the productivity of the forest lands and soils, every timber operator shall exercise due diligence in the management and operation of felling, yarding, and loading of timber or any activity connected therewith, to prevent damage to those seed trees and young growth.

914.1. Cable Yarding. Due diligence shall be exercised in the installing, hanging, and operating of cable lines so that seed trees and young growth shall not be damaged or destroyed by such installation or uses.

914.2. Cable Yarding. Seed trees shall not be used for rub trees, corner blocks, or other cable ties.

914.4 Tractor Yarding. Tractor roads shall be so located and constructed in such a manner that they will not damage or destroy, or contribute to the damaging or destruction of seed trees and due diligence shall be exercised to prevent damage or destruction of young growth.

914.5. Tractor Yarding. Timber operators shall require tractor drivers to use tractor roads only, both for skidding logs to landings and on return trips, and shall exercise due diligence so that seed trees will not be damaged or destroyed while breaking out logs to tractor roads, or while operating tractors on any tractor road.

914.6. Tractor Yarding. Slash and other debris shall not be bunched or bulldozed adjacent to seed trees, during and after construction of logging truck roads, tractor roads, tractor skid trails, landings, and firebreaks.

914.8. Erosion Control. Tractor roads, tractor skid trails, abandoned logging truck roads, and firebreaks shall be so constructed and left after logging that water flow thereon shall not at any time create or contribute to excessive erosion of the soils. To prevent excessive erosion water breaks shall be installed at each natural water course, and at intervals of not more than three hundred (300) feet on all tractor roads, tractor skid trails, abandoned truck roads and firebreaks having a gradient greater than ten (10) percent; such water breaks are to be installed prior to removal of equipment, concurrently with construction of firebreaks, and upon conclusion of use of tractor roads, tractor skid trails, and abandoned logging truck roads for logging.

914.9. Erosion Control. To prevent excessive erosion of the soils, beds of streams or portions of beds of streams which carry running water throughout the year shall not be used as roadways, logging skid trails or log landings. In the conduct of timber operations due diligence shall be exercised in crossing beds of streams so that gouging of the same will be kept to a minimum, and provided further that the frequency of such stream bed crossings shall be kept to a minimum. All temporary stream crossing structures not designed to provide for the maximum flow of the stream shall be removed each year prior to the close of logging operation but in no case later than December 1st of the current year.

MUSIC CRITIC BROADCASTS SILENT SHOW

RIPLEY, Tenn. (AP)—A businessman who doesn't like rock 'n roll music bought 15 minutes of radio time yesterday and devoted almost all of it to silence.

James W. Porter began his quarter-hour on station WTRB by shattering several records and then preposing a "National Can the Racket League." Announced Porter:

"Friends, are you tense, nervous, jittery? Chances are you are overturned. You may have tried other stations without success, but now we offer you an amazing new discovery—instant silence."

Thirteen minutes of silence followed except for two breaks to reassure listeners their radios didn't need repair.

John Stewart, WTRB manager, said telephone callers were 100 per cent against the silence.

The youth, son of Inspector William Bradley of the sheriff's office, is a senior at San Rafael High School. He is a member of Explorer Post 39, sponsored by the Gallinas Valley Lions Club.

He entered scouting as a Cub Scout in 1951 at the age of 9. He became a Boy Scout in Troop 39 in 1953, and an Explorer in 1957. He has earned 25 merit badges.

He will be graduated from high school in June and hopes to enter college with a major in physics.

He made the varsity football team in 1957 and is a member of the Key Club, sponsored by the San Rafael Kiwanis Club.

Parenthood Assn. Now Independent

Directors of the Planned Parenthood Assn. of Marin County have voted to become independent of the San Francisco chapter, it was announced today by Dr. Marcia S. Anderson, who also made a public request for donations.

"Please consider our growing population and make your contribution accordingly," she said.

The group's stated aims, she added, include child spacing, babies for childless couples, marriage information for young couples, and research to develop better child spacing methods and solve infertility problems.

Condemnation Trial In Fourth Day

The jury trial of a condemnation suit by the state Department of Public Works against Schultz Investment Co. of Greenbrae entered its fourth day today in Marin Superior Court.

The Schultz firm is asking $241,615, including $50,000 severance damages, for state seizure in 1955 of a five-and-one-half-acre parcel needed for construction of a freeway ramp. Located at Sir Francis Drake boulevard and Highway 101, the land adjoins Schultz's Greenbrae Lanes bowling alleys.

Attorney M. Mitchell Bourquin of San Francisco represents the Schultz company. The case is being tried in the court of Judge N. Charles Brusatori. It is expected to last nearly four weeks.

Real Estate Views & Values

"How can you tell what a used house is worth?" is a question which we have been asked many times.

Actually there is no easy answer.

While land rises in values from inflation, houses (especially older ones) don't advance as rapidly because they are subject to considerable depreciation.

As a leading Coast Realtor explains: "Most home owners don't subtract anything for the years they have lived in the house. No man selling a ten year old car expects to get anything like his original price out of it. Yet, though a house piles up mileage too, and gets behind the times in styles, the owner expects to sell for at least what he paid for his house and many expect a profit."

Mildred Vail

When we are asked to appraise a home for the "sales value" we try to carefully weigh all factors—the replacement cost less depreciation is one of the best guides, plus the condition of the property, comparison with similar houses, etc.

Frankly, we have found local residents are "reasonable" when the full facts are explained.

Let us help you sell your home — we'll start with an agreement as to fair market price of your home. This figure may be MORE or LESS than what you paid for the property. But in any event, it will be "realistic" which makes your chances of selling better. Call now! Wm. E. Doud & Co., multiple listing service, DU 8-8494.

Trailer-Barge Joins Bay's Cruising Craft

By BETTY FROST

Something new in navigable accommodations has been added to the bay's varied cruising craft, with the launching of a 50-foot house trailer mounted on a 63-foot barge at Nunes Boat Works in Sausalito.

The unusual structure, built to the demands of Coulter McKeever, retired advertising executive of St. Helena, is powered by two 651 Diesel engines. The barge, named Fancy Me, will carry a speedboat, Fancy Me Too, on davits on the stern.

The luxurious ABC trailer is 10 feet wide, with two bedrooms, showers, and a well-equipped galley. The barge has a beam of 16 feet and is designed for cruising to points within the bay and the delta region of the Sacramento River. The afterdeck provides a commodious "porch" for this new kind of floating California living.

A spokesman for Nunes Brothers says the Fancy Me is the first such "trailer-barge" to be assembled in this part of the state. The trailer is set three feet below the bulwarks to give a trim appearance to the craft.

Owner McKeever has not yet taken possession of his "floating flat" as he is on a trip to Africa.

WARDS PLANS $4,000,000 CORTE MADERA STORE

Montgomery-Ward, in a bid to catch up with the Sears chain, will build a $4 million store at Corte Madera Shopping Center by next February.

This was disclosed today with the filing of a lease of 5,000 square feet of land just west of the J. C. Penney store at the Corte Madera Shopping Center.

Walter Shorenstein of Milton-Meyer Co. of San Francisco, real estate brokers for the shopping center, negotiated the lease between Montgomery-Ward and Frank Rusalem of Madera Gardens Development Co., owners of the shopping center.

Shorenstein said the new Montgomery-Ward store will be the largest department store in Marin County, the first Montgomery-Ward shopping center of that scale built on land west of Denver.

The two story building will be fully air conditioned.

JAMES J. SHELLEY

Marin County bail bondsman James J. Shelley of San Anselmo faces possible loss of his license under a complaint issued today by the state insurance commissioner, accusing Shelley of trying to bribe jailers and sheriff's deputies.

Shelley, brother of San Francisco Congressman John Shelley, has 15 days in which to reply to the charges. A hearing will then be called by the insurance commissioner in San Francisco to determine whether Shelley loses his bondsman's license.

Shelley, a former San Francisco police office, has been in the bail bond business in Marin for about a year and a half.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos announced he has received reports from six of his men, who allege that Shelley tried to give money and tokens of appreciation during the past eight months to get preference in bail bond referrals.

Today's complaint brings to a head long-simmering rumors and complaints that favoritism was being practiced in jail so that some bail bondsmen were getting more business than others.

When Sheriff Mountanos took office in January, he attempted to straighten out the matter by posting the names of the four bail bondsmen inside the jail to be called on a rotation basis.

Mountanos stressed that his men refused the bribes in each instance and cooperated with the state Insurance Commission investigator, Kenneth Foley, in compiling the evidence.

The six deputies who cooperated with the state were Chief Jailer Frank Christ, Deputies William McKillop, Fred Hooper, John Gallagher and Ernest Nielsen, and Sgt. V. Gibbs.

Investigator Foley served the complaints this morning on Shelley, who operates his bail bond business out of his home at 26 Oak Knoll avenue, San Anselmo. Shelley could

105 Taxpayers Meet As D.A.'s Aide Listens

The Marin County Taxpayers Assn. held another of its semi-monthly mass meetings last night in San Rafael, but this time the audience included a court reporter and a special investigator for the district attorney's office.

As before, association president P. J. Rowland blasted as illegal and discriminatory a 1955 order by the state Board of Equalization raising Marin County's real property assessment 26 per cent.

AUDIENCE OF 105

To an audience he estimated at 105 persons, Rowland said Marin taxpayers are entitled to refunds of $50 per $1,000 assessed valuation on taxes paid in 1955-56-57.

Association membership was swelled by another 50 members at last night's meeting, Rowland claimed today. He said the organization will file suit for recovery of the allegedly illegal taxes after it has gained 5,000 members.

Observing the proceedings with more than passing interest last night was Donald E. Midyett, chief criminal investigator on the staff of Dist. Atty. W. O. Weissich.

COURT REPORTER

Seated beside Midyett was Edna Oliver, a Marin court reporter, who made a stenographic record of all that was said.

Weissich announced last week he was investigating the tax suit appeal currently being circulated by the taxpayers association. He said the organization's activities may constitute "an old offense known as common barratry, which means stirring up litigation." This Rowland hotly denied.

Nationwide Test For Hub Chief Urged

A nationwide call for applicants for San Anselmo police chief is proposed in a memorandum distributed to city council members by City Manager Arthur W. Brewer, it was learned today.

Mayor Arthur W. Smith said he received the memorandum yesterday. He said it will be taken up at the council's April 14 meeting.

Qualifications proposed by Brewer in the memorandum would bar Sam N. Serio, present assistant chief and senior member of the San Anselmo force under Chief Donald T. Wood, from taking the examination because of age. Age limits of 35 to 50 are suggested. Serio has passed his 50th birthday.

Chief Wood is to retire next Aug. 1. He will be the first San Anselmo city employee to retire under the pension system set up by vote of the people last November.

25 In A Booth— And Phone Rings

HATFIELD, England (UPI) — Hatfield Technical College students went on a diet today to try to regain their world telephone box squash record from South Africa.

Students in California and Canada meanwhile entered the competition to see how many of them could squeeze into a telephone booth.

Also in training was a group from the London School of Economics and Cambridge University.

It was a Cambridge team which set claim two weeks ago to a world squash record of 15 men to a regulation British Post Office telephone box.

A few days later, Hatfield weighed in with a claim that 19 Technical College students there had wedged themselves into the 50 cubic feet of space.

Last night brought news of the South African claim — 25 six-footer students into a regulation South African telephone kiosk. But this record was questioned today — British squash experts said the South African boxes are slightly higher than the British.

They claimed also that nobody in the box was able to answer the phone when the bell rang.

This the South Africans conceded—and are now in the process of measuring the cubic capacity of their boxes.

A report from Moraga, Calif., said 22 students of St. Mary's College had packed into a telephone box there yesterday.

"We have received news of these achievements," a Hatfield spokesman said, "but we intend to set a new mark soon which will be hard to beat. We may even ask for the rules to be altered so that somebody must be able to answer the phone if it rings."

Riviera Marin Golf Course Work To Start

The long-awaited 130-acre golf course at Riviera Marin on McNear's ranch will be started immediately and should be completed by the end of this year, the developers announced today.

Edwin Lee, general manager of Latipac, Inc., disclosed that the first Riviera Marin development project will be the $300,000 golf course in the first valley beyond Glenwood subdivision "to dress up the area." This will be followed by a pilot project of homes around the golf course as the forerunners of 1,130 houses.

The golf course construction is being timed so that seeding will take place around September, the most appropriate time for the grass to grow. Provision is being made to

Hub City Urged To Buy Dairy For Recreation Center Use

The City of San Anselmo should immediately buy the 20-acre Spagnoli Dairy property at the end of San Francisco boulevard for development as a recreation center, in the opinion of a mayor-appointed community center study committee.

The committee wound up more than a year and a half of study with a report urging the purchase, delivered this week to City Manager Arthur W. Brewer and made public today.

The report notes that the dairy property is for sale for about $57,000. It suggests the barn could be converted into an auditorium suitable for a community recreation center. Total necessary outlay would be about $100,000, the committee estimated.

The committee, chairmanned by Dr. John H. Manwaring, noted that, suitable property for a recreation center "is all but unavailable," the dairy property being the only parcel on the market which it felt would be suitable.

"The committee feels that the City of San Anselmo should appropriate funds to assure that property will be available, and to obtain a competent survey by a trained man. The city should call upon the service organizations represented in this committee for assistance in carrying through the project."

The dairy property is just outside the city limits. The

Marin School Children Await Easter Recess

Marin school children and college students, public and parochial, will leave their books behind them for a week-long Easter vacation, beginning on different days next week and the week after next.

Marin County public schools will be on vacation from Monday through Friday, with the exception of the Union and Burdell School Districts.

Union pupils will recess from March 30 through April 3. Burdell's dozen pupils, who have been attending school in a classroom of the Our Lady of Loretto Catholic School in Novato since the old Burdell School burned down last Nov. 23, will hold their vacation to coincide with that of the Catholic pupils—March 26 through April 3.

St. Raphael's Parochial School will recess next Thursday through April 1; Dominican Convent, next Wednesday through April 2 (with resident pupils returning April 1); Dominican College, next Wednesday through April 6, and Marin Catholic High School, next Friday through April 2.

The Easter recess will mark close of the winter quarter at College of Marin. Spring quarter will start March 30.

'Lost Gospel' Researcher To Talk Here

Dr. Oscar Cullman, who this week reported discovery of the "Gospel of Thomas" containing 114 new sayings of Jesus, will give two lectures in San Anselmo next week.

Dr. Cullman will address student assemblies at San Francisco Theological Seminary at 10 a.m. Wednesday and 10:25 a.m. Thursday. His subjects will be "The Unknown Sayings of Jesus" on Wednesday and "A New Approach to Understanding the Fourth Gospel" on Thursday.

Both hour-long lectures will be open to the public.

Dr. Cullman is professor of early Christianity at the Sorbonne in Paris. He is in the United States as a visiting professor at Union Theological Seminary in New York. His lectures in San Anselmo will be the only ones he delivers outside of New York during his stay in this country.

State Backs Sausalito In Drive On Houseboats

The State of California's Regional Water Pollution Control Board yesterday threw its weight behind the City of Sausalito's crackdown on houseboats, arks and barges which lack sewer connections.

The state board, meeting in Oakland, asked Sausalito, the Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District and the Marin County Health Department to take action to stop discharge of raw sewage into the bay from the water-borne dwellings.

The board cited existing laws and regulations forbidding the condition and asked the three bodies to enforce the laws.

Sausalito, through city atty. John Ehlen, has already filed a number of legal actions seeking to stop the practice.

Ehlen was not present at yesterday's meeting but the city was represented by City Manager Donald A. Duerr. County Sanitarian William Desmond represented Marin County.

David Lee, 24-yaer-old sculptor who lives aboard a houseboat and is spokeman for the recently formed Waterfront Protective Assn., argued that much of the waterfront pullution stemmed from the discharge of a sewer at the foot of Coloma street. He said it was discriminatory to ask houseboats to cease and desist while the sewer continued.

Yesterday's meeting also tackled sewage problems in the Belvedere-Tiburon area.

The City of Belvedere had requested relief from the board's insistence on "monitoring" of the city's sewer outlet to determine the concentration of material being released into the bay at Belvedere Point.

The board, however, directed its executive officer, John B. Harrison, to notify Belvedere that the board's order will stand.

Brown Names Oakland Jurist To Justice Carter's Post

Peters, 55, was selected late yesterday to succeed Associate Justice Jesse W. Carter of Sleepy Hollow, who died Sunday at the age of 70.

Born in Oakland and a graduate of the University of California, Peters spent nine years as chief clerk of the state's highest court. He'll be the youngest of the seven Supreme Court justices.

Peters was appointed presiding justice of the 1st District Court of Appeal in 1939, elected in 1940 and re-elected in 1946. He'll receive $23,000 a year on the high bench.

Ike's Budget Runs Into More Bumps

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower was experiencing a series of budgetary ups and downs on Capitol Hill today, with more bumps in the immediate offing.

In separate actions, the Senate and the House yesterday further upset the President's program for a balanced budget for the fiscal year starting next July 1.

The House, by roll-call vote of 262-134, passed a 297-million-dollar four-year airport aid program which exceeded the President's recommendations by 97 millions.

Concurrently, the Senate voted to charge against the new budget $1,375,000,000 of new U.S. subscriptions to the International Monetary Fund. The President had counted on charging this item against this year's budget, already heavily unbalanced, instead of against the 1960 ledger.

INCOME TAX FACTS

Retirement Income Subject To Credit

INCOME TAX FAX Mar 20
By PETER J. WIKEL, CPA

If you are 65 years of age or over, or if you are under 65 years of age but retired under a public retirement system, such as firemen, policemen, teachers, federal employees, etc., then your retirement income is subject to a tax credit which can be as much as $240 ($480 on a joint return).

Peter J. Wikel

A public retirement system is a pension, annuity, retirement or similar fund or system established by the United States, a state, a territory, a possession of the United States, any political subdivision of any of the foregoing or the District of Columbia. It also includes a system established by the United States for members of the armed forces.

In order to qualify for the credit, you or your deceased spouse must have earned an income, not counting pensions or annuities, of at least $600 in any 10 previous years.

The credit is applicable only to the first $1,200 of retirement income included in gross income. Tax exempt income is not included in gross income, so you would not figure on social security receipts, tax free interest or dividends, workmen's compensation or other tax free income. Your retirement income would be interest, gross rents, taxable dividends and taxable pensions and annuities. If you are under 65 years old, any income from personal services in excess of $900 or if you are between 65 and 72 years old any income from personal service in excess of $1,200 would reduce your retirement income for the purpose of computing the credit.

The credit cannot be for more than the total tax due and so result in a refund claim.

If you are over 65 years old, then you are also entitled to the extra personal exemption for over 65. In the case of a married couple both over 65 years of age, this could result in personal exemptions of $2,400 and retirement income credits of $480 covering $2,400 in retirement income, so the couple could have tax free income of $4,800.

Building Activity Here Continues To Gain

Construction activity in Marin continued its advance by running up a total of $3,645,206 in building permits last month, compared with $2,054,008 in February a year ago, according to the Marin Development Foundation.

The increase amounts to 77.5 per cent, comparing the single months. Added to January's exceptionally high total, the first two months of 1959 show an improvement of 85.3 per cent over the same period in 1958.

San Rafael resumed its frequent lead in building activity over all county areas by chalking up a total of $707,796. The amount swelled by a permit of $225,000 for a bowling alley in east San Rafael. The Novato area was a close second with $671,235 in permits composed almost entirely of single family residences—45 of them.

Other larger single contracts last month included $333,067 for the Larkspur School addition, $236,000 for the Gallinas School, a 28-unit apartment in Sausalito for $182,000, and a 32-unit apartment project in Fairfax valued at $153,000.

Included in February residential building total of 197 units were five duplexes and seven apartment projects aggregating 98 dwelling units, according to the foundation's tabulation.

Novatan Wins Speech Contest

Floyd Brown, a member of the Novato Toastmasters Club, struck gold this week with a speech entitled "Gold Fever," scoring higher than three other competing speakers in a Toastmasters Club contest, making him eligible to represent Marin Toastmasters in a semi-final contest in Berkeley next Tuesday.

Brown outscored Don Patterson of the Tamalpais Toastmasters, William Malet of the Defenders of Hamilton Field and Norman Livermore of Toastmasters 890. The contest was held at Woodlands restaurant in Kentfield.

Drunk Driver Fined, Jailed For 2nd Offense

John A. Blossom, 50, of 765 Las Colindas road, Terra Linda, was sentenced in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to five days in the county jail and payment of a $250 fine for drunken driving with a prior conviction on a similar charge.

Blossom was arrested by the California Highway Patrol Wednesday on Manuel T. Freitas parkway in Terra Linda. He was previously convicted of drunken driving on March 17, 1958. Sentence was passed yesterday by Judge A. F. Scheidecker of Petaluma.

Larkspur Chamber To Hear Talk On Downtown Project

A speaker, as yet unidentified, will appear before the Larkspur Chamber of Commerce Monday at 8 p.m. in the city hall to talk on the proposed redevelopment of the Larkspur downtown district.

Oakley Dexter, chamber president, today announced the speaker but said he did not wish to name him.

The proposal advanced by the Clarewood Co. of Berkeley, developers, was to construct a market for Lucky Stores, Inc., along Rice lane behind stores on the east side of Magnolia avenue between Ward and Cane streets. The proposal included extensive provision for offstreet parking and remodeling of the backs of the Magnolia avenue business houses.

Dexter's statement came amid reports the redevelopment may take place on another site.

Among the other possible sites mentioned at a Feb. 9 meeting of the chamber was the Hil Probert property at Magnolia and Madrone avenues and 48,000 square feet of land on the west side of Magnolia in the downtown district.

Dexter said the chamber members on Monday are expected to appoint members of a committee to sit in on hearings of the Larkspur Planning Commission for the proposed new zoning ordinance.

Realty Board Again Offers Scholarship

The second annual Archie Culpepper Award, a $500 cash scholarship, offered by the Marin County Real Estate Board, will be given to some Marin County High School senior in May, it was announced today by Edward P. Morphy, realty board president.

The scholarship is not restricted to potential business management students, Morphy said. The winner will be judged on scholarship, integrity, character, ability and financial need, plus the student's record of extracurricular activities.

Any senior student in Marin County is eligible to apply for the scholarship, he said, "regardless of race, creed or color."

The applicant must have been a resident of Marin County for two years and must have the grades and other general qualifications making him eligible for college entrance.

"The applicant must be a well-rounded student, with the ability to get along with his fellowman," said Morphy. "He, or she, must be socially adjusted and must show some qualifications of leadership."

The money will be paid in a lump sum to the winner once he is accepted by the college of his choice, either inside or outside of California.

Last year's scholarship was awarded to John H. Arndt, San Rafael High School graduate now attending the California Institute of Technology.

American Trust Setting Up New Credit System

A revolving credit plan that sets up a line of credit for an individual and allows him to hold it as a "rainy day fund" or to use it where, when and how he pleases was announced by Harris C. Kirk, president of American Trust Co., at a press conference yesterday in San Francisco.

American Trust is the first major bank to announce this type of service in Northern California. Originated in 1955 by the First National Bank of Boston, the service has been accepted favorably by the public there and in other cities where it has been offered, Kirk said.

MANY ADVANTAGES

Kirk declared: "After careful study of various developments in the field of consumer credit, we are convinced that the revolving credit plan serves the interests and needs of a segment of the public and has many advantages in its favor.

The American Trust credit account, Kirk said, involves no merchant signup and permits the individual to do business with whom he pleases.

American Trust's version of the service will be available to the public not later than May 4, with applications accepted before that date.

He indicates the amount he is willing and able to pay each month. This amount multipled by 24 determines his maximum line of credit, except that the minimum will be $300 and the maximum $3,000.

USE AS NEEDED

He can pay off the amount he has drawn either in a lump sum or in monthly installments.

The charge to the customer will be 1¼ per cent on the balance due each month, plus 25 cents for each check written against the account. There is no charge if the customer simply holds his line of credit in reserve.

A key feature of the automatic credit account is that monthly payments made by the customer automatically restore the amount of credit available to him.

Try To Make Access Session Secret Fails

A state Department of Public Works attorney demanded a closed session in the Marin County Courthouse this morning to discuss the Auburn street railroad crossing just south of San Rafael.

But T. Fred Bagshaw, assistant director of the state Public Works Department, and two Marin County supervisors pointed out that meetings in the Marin courthouse are open to the public.
Harte.

"Every meeting here is public," said Supervisor Chairman Walter R. Castro. Supervisor William D. Fusselman of San Anselmo likewise pointed out that meetings should be open.

Maoyr John F. McInnis suggested the meeting could be considered closed on grounds it was a private discussion between attorney and client—between the Public Works legal adviser and the city and county and property owners in Bret in Bret Harte.

George Moe, legal adviser in the Public Works Department, insisted that everything he said should be confidential because today's was a "strategy meeting" to get a crossing on Auburn street in the face of opposition from the Northwestern Pacific Railroad. Moe even suggested adjourning to a private office to carry on the discussion.

However, the meeting proceeded with an Independent-Journal reporter present. No other spectators sought admittance.

Mayor McInnis, who has been fighting for the Auburn street crossing to get an access to Highway 101 for the Bret Harte area, attacked the state again this morning.

"We were promised a grade crossing by the state," McInnis declared. "But they knew at the time that NWP would oppose, and they could not get the crossing. I believe that was complete bad faith on their part."

Castro also recalled that the crossing was promised and that the state said there would be no trouble in getting it.

NWP wants either an overpass or underpass so that trains would not be disrupted.

Art Nayler, representating the state Division of Highways district office in San Francisco, declared a grade separation (overpass or underpass) is feasible, but "it is just a matter of money." He estimated that an overpass would cost $500,000 to $750,000.

Attorney Moe said the question would come up "very soon" before the Public Utilities Commission, but no definite date has been set as yet.

A crowd estimated at about 15,000 visited Hamilton Air Force Base yesterday as the base held open house for the public.

Among the visitors were Boy Scout troops from Bay Area points as far away as Menlo Park.

TIGHT FORMATION

The Thunderbirds, flying F100 Super Sabre fighters, made repeated passes over the base, many at very low level, with four planes locked in a tight diamond formation, wing tips no more than five feet apart.

They rattled windows as they kicked in their afterburners directly in front of the crowd of spectators. The afterburners, which add a burst of speed and power to the aircraft, delivered a cannon-shot explosive noise as the Sabres swept past.

OTHER DEMONSTRATION

The 27-minute Thunderbird display was preceded by a demonstration of Hamilton's own F104 Starfighters and of F102 Delta Dagger supersonic fighters from the 82nd Fighter Interceptor Squadron at Travis Air Force Base.

Four F104s from Hamilton's 83rd FIS led the way, as the two groups of fighters sped past the spectators in low-level passes at the field. The group was led by Lt. Col. John W. Bennett, commander of the 83rd.

The Air Force Academy's class of 1962, which arrived at Hamilton Wednesday night on the annual tour of air bases taken by first-year academy classes, staged a full-dress retreat parade, with Col. G. F. Ceuleers, Hamilton base commander, reviewing.

The cadets are being given training flights in supersonic fighters during their stay at Hamilton. They will be honored at a dance tonight at the Officers Club, and will leave the Marin base Sunday.

Other features of yesterday's show were a band concert by Hamilton's 573rd Air Force Band and displays of aircraft and missiles of types now used by the Air Force.

Open for public inspection were F100, F101, F102 and F104 fighters, twin-jets, T33 jet trainers, C45, C47 and C123 cargo planes, SA16B and SH19B (helicopter) rescue craft, and Cessna U3A and I29 aircraft.

Also on display were models of the Sidewinder and Falcon missiles.

Honored at the affair were approximately 140 retired Air Force generals and colonels, all living within 50 miles of Hamilton, and invited to attend the show and participate in briefing sessions designed to bring them up to date on Air Force activities.

LINK WITH WRIGHT BROTHERS — Robert G. Fowler of San Jose, who learned to fly under tutelage of Wilbur and Orville Wright, inventors of the airplane, tried the pilot's seat in a supersonic F104A Starfighter during yesterday's Hamilton Air Force Base open house. Fowler recalled it took him 45 days, in a series of short hops, to fly across the United States in a Wright-built plane in 1911. In 1912, he flew across the Isthmus of Panama in a two-place biplane he built himself. (Air Force photo)

False Meal, Overtime Claims Bared

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A wave of false overtime and meal claims, which resulted in payment for hundreds of hours of overtime which never were worked, has been turned up in an investigation of the state Division of Highways.

E. R. Higgins, comptroller of the Department of Public Works, said the investigation will turn next to the Division of Architecture, where a number of the employees work overtime.

In the meantime, signing-in and signing-out procedures have been tightened to prevent any more occurrences.

Higgins said the investigation, which began in January, revealed that quite a number of workers signed in for overtime work and promptly went home, or at least went home early. Their names were signed by fellow employees or signed on the sheets ahead of time.

Higgins estimated the overpayments for improper overtime claims would amount to $2,000 or $3,000 in the Division of Highways alone. He said none of the individual amounts was large but all will be collected from the employees, probably through deductions in future checks.

Tied in with the false overtime claims, Higgins said, were a number of technically improper claims for dinner. The state Board of Control has a rule which permits claim for a dinner ($2.50) whenever two or more hours of overtime are worked.

However, he said, the meal must be eaten before the work is done.

"As it was, some of them worked two or three hours and then went out to eat, or went home," Higgins said. "This made them technically ineligible for the meal claim."

Civil War Vet Buried

SLANT, Va. (AP) — A bugler blew taps. Tears flowed freely. The casket of John Salling was lowered slowly into the ground.

Thus did the 112-year-old Civil War veteran reach his final resting place yesterday on a windswept hillside of southwest Virginia. A second funeral service — the first was held earlier at the Gate City Armory —ended the rites for "General John," next-to-the-last survivor of the Civil War.

Only Walter W. Williams, 116, of Houston, Tex., another Confederate, is left.

McCarthy Plans Revises In Bay Authority Bill

State Sen. John F. McCarthy of San Rafael told the Independent-Journal today that he will propose five major amendments to his Golden Gate Authority bill, to be reviewed Tuesday by his interim committee.

The amendments, he said, would provide that:

1. Negotiation between the authority and the San Francisco Port Authority would be permissive rather than mandatory.

2. An authority commissioner could be removed for cause by the agency that appointed him (no provision had been made in the original bill for removal).

3. No commissioner could hold any other public office or maintain any fulltime private employment.

4. Any county reaching an official U.S. census population of 400,000, which did not originally have one full vote, would be entitled to one.

5. Bids would be required on all construction or purchase of materials exceeding $5,000.

McCarthy said the amendments were developed during several weeks of public hearings by local jurisdictions in the Bay Area.

He said he also is in agreement with nine of 10 amendments proposed by Sen. J. Eugene McAteer of San Francisco, a co-author of the bill. Those include the following:

1. Two members of the authority's commission appointed by the governor would be one each from San Francisco and Alameda Counties. "That is only fair," said McCarthy, "since the major interest lies in those counties, so far as population and bonding capacity is concerned.

2. Public hearings would be mandatory prior to important policy decisions.

3. Any new bay crossing would need approval by counties and cities in which it would be located.

4. Neither the San Francisco nor Oakland seaport could become part of the authority without the other, and no other port could be acquired without them.

5. A similar provision would apply to the San Francisco and Oakland airports.

6. The authority would negotiate for the San Jose Airport.

7. The authority would be required to announce its intentions regarding the status of employees of a facility before completion of negotiations for its acquisition.

8. Provision for financing a rapid transit tube from bridge tolls would be made if the voters of the area approve establishment of a rapid transit system.

McCarthy termed "unnecessary" an amendment proposed by McAteer that assurance be given that 50 million dollars in bonds voted by the state last year for the state-owned Port of San Francisco be used exclusively for improvement of that port.

A starter building will be built on a knoll in the center of the valley. Lee said the golf course will probably be a "semi-private deal," open to use by the public at large.

Although no physical work has been done on the vast 2,200-acre Riviera Marin, Lee pointed out that the preliminary engineering work and sewer and drainage plans have been completed. Latipac had to wait for the city's general plan to be accepted before putting in money on detailed engineering, Lee said.

Yesterday Lee and the engineer for Latipac, Daniel P. Coleman of San Francisco, appeared before the San Rafael Sanitation Commission and asked for sewer connections for 1,130 homes.

Lee said his company is willing to pay for the necessary revamping of the existing Glenwood sewer line, which he estimated would cost $90,000.

4 Boys Admit Dozen Home Break-Ins Here

Four boys, aged 15 and 16, have admitted breaking into a dozen homes during the past two months in various parts of the county from San Anselmo to Muir Beach, Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos disclosed today.

The boys, held at Marin Juvenile Hall, include two from Fairfax and one each from Sausalio and Marin City.

Since their arrest in Berkeley last month, they have been confessing a series of breakins, mostly for money. Thus far, they have admitted burglaries at the following locations:

At 485 and 340 Scenic drive, Fairfax; 128 Butterfield road in Sleepy Hollow; home of C. O. Ammonette Jr. on Shady lane, Ross; 136 Southwood in San Anselmo, 310 Evergreen drive, Kent Woodlands; 105 Laurel Grove avenue, Kentfield; 5050 Paradise drive outside Corte Madera; 70 Bay Vista drive, Alto; three homes in Muir Beach and one in Tamalpais Valley.

One of the youths told investigators he has an uncontrollable urge to enter houses.

POLICE

ducted an examination to set up an eligibility list for San Anselmo police chief last fall. The call specified California residence, but it was found one of the applicants certified as passing and eligible was from Ohio and the residence status of another was questioned. The city council thereupon threw out the examination results.

City Manager Brewer, in his memorandum, proposes that "a qualified personnel agency" be hired to give the new examination, and that it be open nationwide but the agency be told "not to recruit widely outside of California."

The specifications would call for a minimum of six years of police experience.

Brewer's memorandum says the city council has two alternatives: Appoint from within the ranks of the police force or hold an open examination.

The possibility of an examination restricted to residents of San Anselmo or Marin County is not mentioned.

"It will be interesting to see," he commented drily.

Marin City Slaying Wasn't Manslaughter, Weissich Says

The Christmas Eve slaying of Viola Baker in a Marin City apartment was described by Dist. Atty. W. O. Weissich today as murder in either the first or second degree, but not manslaughter.

In his closing arguments at the trial of Miss Baker's accused slayer, Prince Sam Davis, 34, Weissich told a Marin Superior Court jury the defendant "by his own testimony, was not acting under any heat of passion" when he shot his common-law wife.

Davis claims he acted in self defense when he fired three shots at Viola, 32, in the kitchen of their apartment. He said she had advanced on him with a butcher knife.

Summing up the defense case, Public Defender Leonard A. Thomas asked the jury of 10 women and two men "who of us could say it wasn't practically at the moment the knife was being plunged at him" when Davis fired?

Recalling the couple's stormy life together and the conditions under which they lived, Thomas said it was perhaps "a question of time as to which one of them would get shot first."

Weissich, who said the law did not give Davis "the right to set himself up as Viola's executioner," was expected to complete his final arguments at about 1 p.m.

Judge Jordan L. Martinelli said he would recess the trial until Monday at 10 a.m. after the district attorney had finished. The judge will give his instructions to the jurors Monday, then hand the case to them for deliberation.

TAXPAYERS

land said today: "They're welcome to come, all of them. I'm just sorry Weissich wasn't there himself."

But Rowland wanted to know who was paying for Miss Oliver's overtime work—Weissich himself or the taxpayers of Marin County?

County Auditor Leon A. de Lisle told the Independent-Journal he would have "no hesitancy" to approve a warrant for payment of Miss Oliver's services at the association meeting.

He said the district attorney, if he wished, could pay the court reporter out of his "secret fund," appropriated by the board of supervisors.

"With that fund," said de Lisle, "the district attorney can make any expenditures at his discretion—hire people, pay for reports, transportation and so forth in the investigation of anything he feels should be investigated. It cannot be questioned at the time the expenditure is made. The district attorney files an annual report, which becomes public when filed, but he makes no report on any investigation while it is current."

The taxpayers association met last night in the San Rafael High School cafeteria. Rowland said the next mass meeting will be held March 31, probably in the high school auditorium. He said two such meetings will be held every month until June 30.

committee proposes it be promptly purchased and annexed, "even if a community center is deemed unnecessary or unfeasible at this moment."

Only alternative to acquiring the dairy property mentioned in the committee report was purchase of the American Legion Log Cabin and development of the seven acres surrounding it, which include the present city park. "However," said the report, "the usable land is such that it would put limits on future growth because of the hillside, the drainage canal passing through it, and the proximity to the Isabel Cook School. Furthermore, the building is small for dances and for theatricals, and does not lend itself to use of lights and decorations."

The committee reported it found the prime need is for family recreational facilities.

"The bulk of facilities in adjacent areas are athletic," it noted. Only real need in that line, it found, is for a swimming pool. It suggested a pool be part of eventual development of the community center.

The committee was appointed in July, 1957, by Mayor Arthur W. Smith. Members signing the report, besides chairman Manwaring, were Laura Zavosky, a student representing Sir Francis Drake High School; Jane Corbett, a student representing Marin Catholic High School; Roger Bury, a teen-ager representing XYZ League; Leo Busolo of the San Anselmo Lions Club; Dr. Hay C. Stovall of the American Legion; Marvin Christensen of the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce, and a volunteer member the committee acquired during its study, Mrs. J. H. Stewart. A member appointed to represent the 20-30 Club was unable to attend committee meetings and did not participate in the findings.

He was a member of the Marin Boy Scout Council's executive board for eight years (1941-49). His council activities included work as advancement chairman and on the training committee.

He was instrumental in construction of Marin Sierra Camp, which is close to Emigrant Gap in Placer County, and also helped with Camp Tamarancho above Fairfax.

He was concerned with Scouting, too, as a parent. His son, Donald, became an Eagle Scout.

Hodges was a veteran of World War I, having served in the Army Air Service at Kelly Field, Tex.

Survivors are his wife, Helen of Corte Madera; his son, Donald G. Hodges of Fairfax, and two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 10:45 a.m. at Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo. Burial will be in Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno.

Mrs. Duncan Says She Hears 'Voices'

VENTURA (UPI) — Elizabeth Duncan said that she has heard voices telling her what to do, a defense psychiatrist testified today.

Dr. Brunon Bielinski of Los Angeles told the jury charged with deciding whether the 54-year-old defendant should get life imprisonment or death for the slaying of her pregnant daughter-in-law, he examined her and found her "unstable, immature and impulsive."

He said she told him she had heard voices on at least two occasions telling her things like "you should go to town today."

Bielinski said he found that Mrs. Duncan had been subjected in the late 1940s to the troubles of menopause, emotional shock over the death of a daughter, a possible stroke with resulting brain damage, and possible cerebral concussion.

The psychiatrist was the fourth and final witness for the defense at the penalty hearing before the same jury which convicted Mrs. Duncan of first degree murder.

The defendant's son, Frank, whose wife, Olga, was Mrs. Duncan's victim, testified yesterday and said "If I had a choice . . . I would choose the same mother."

Reed Schools Not Ideal, But Good, Parents Feel

Reed Schools have the "qualified approval" of the community, parents were told last night at a meeting in the Reed School Auditorium. "The qualification is that the schools are still short of ideal."

Members of the Reed Parent-Teacher Club heard this summation from Charles Bigelow of Little Reed Heights, reporting on a questionnaire sent to all district households seeking community opinion about Reed schools. Bigelow said his findings were based on 561 replies —31 per cent of the community.

The replies indicated "a young stable community of higher than normal educational achievement," Bigelow said.

These residents have high hopes for their children: 95 per cent definitely want their children to go to college and 67 per cent favor teaching as a profession for them.

Forty-four per cent were sure they had an exceptional child; only 2 per cent considered one of their children below average intellectually.

Thirty per cent thought the Reed district teachers better than California teachers generally and 43 per cent believe California teachers superior to those in the rest of the nation.

But despite this approval, 91 per cent felt there could be improvement, 81 per cent felt the children were not working to capacity and 66 per cent considered discipline lax.

"These (and other) findings," Bigelow said, show that the school system has the qualified approval of the community. "But (they give) the school system a green light to raise academic standards and the level of intellectual discipline even at the expense of imposing a greater burden on Reed children and their parents."

The questionnaire was part of a three-phase evaluation program undertaken in the Reed district. The first was a statement of school district objectives, drawn up by a team of Reed district laymen and educators.

The third phase is yet to come. This will be in the form of a critical analysis of the district's achievements by a team from San Francisco State College, headed by Dr. Aubrey Haan.

Dist. Supt. Paul Stouffer gave his endorsement to the evaluation study, saying its influence had been felt already in many ways: Parent-teacher conferences, adoption of a good salary schedule, continued improvement of facilities, etc.

"Its influence will be felt," he continued, "in such problems as report cards, length of the school year, foreign language program, remedial and enrichment classes."

Last night's discussion, in which school board Chairman Erwin Farley also took part, was moderated by Trustee Ahleen Tresnon, chairman of the steering committee which launched the evaluation study.

During a business session, the club adopted revised bylaws covering book purchases for school libraries. Mrs. Frederic Parke, club president, announced the club this year is donating $1,850 to libraries.

Judge Refuses To Dismiss Hopps Case

Attorneys for Stewart B. Hopps of Belvedere failed yesterday to win dismissal of a $2,459,701 suit brought against the international financier in U.S. Circuit Court, San Francisco.

Federal Judge Louis E. Goodman cited the complex nature of the case and said he did not feel qualified at this time to rule on the dismissal motion. He merely "reserved ruling" until the defense has completed its presentation.

The suit was filed by Continental Bank and Trust Co. of Utah, receiver for the now defunct Inland Empire Insurance Co. of Salt Lake City. Continental charged Hopps systematically drained the assets of Inland and defrauded the firm's stockholders, policy holders and creditors. Hopps denies he had any connection with Inland.

Dismayed by the evidence Continental's attorneys have presented, Judge Goodman declared yesterday he has "never in my life seen a case in which human ingenuity extended to such lengths. I have never seen such evidence of the maneuverings of corporations."

The judge said he is still "not confident that I have a sufficient comprehension of all the facts in the case."

But he promised to "follow this case no matter how long it takes me" and told Hopps' attorneys the defense should proceed.

HAMILTON VISITORS

Cadets Give Advice To AF Aspirants

By BETSY M. WOODMAN

A deep interest in aviation and desire to be a pilot are common motivations among young men applying for entrance to the Air Force Academy, according to academy cadets in the class of 1962 visiting Hamilton Air Force Base as part of a 14-day field training trip.

The cadets arrived yesterday and will remain until Sunday.

Interviews with four of the young men, three Californians and one from Michigan (included originally because someone didn't realize there was another Berkeley) bore this out. The "outsider" is James J. Young Jr. and his inclusion provides the opportunity to point him out as cadet chairman for tonight's big dance at the Hamilton Officers Club.

HIS ADVICE

Young's interest in an Air Force career was stimulated by his participation in Air Force ROTC in a Michigan college where he was on a drill team. Since entering the academy he has found that the humanities and social sciences have more meaning to him. His advice to academy aspirants is to "start sooner" so that good study habits will be well established by entrance time—when they are indeed needed.

Henry L. Hudson of San Francisco has been fascinated by aircraft all his life. Chemistry and math are his important subjects. He found weather at the Colorado Springs location of the academy took some getting used to, for a Californian, as did the rigorous training, mental and physical, which becomes the cadet's way of life. Hudson advises would-be cadets to start wanting the career early, and to be determined to stay with the whole exacting program.

Vernon F. Kenley is from Walnut Creek. His early college interest in chemistry has widened at the academy to include law and English, but both are secondary to his desire to be a pilot. He became attracted to the academy program while he was an enlisted man in the Air Force. Kenley is a squadron commander during this phase of training. Selection by his classmates is made on basis of military bearing and scholarship.

Roger S. Rhoades' high school principal in Clear Lake Highlands encouraged him to apply for a military academy career. Rhoades followed the advice but only to a point. The principal was an Annapolis man, and Rhoades' main interest is flying. He gives emphatic backing to the other cadets' recommendations that buckling down in high schoo and getting a firm determination to follow through the academy career, no matter how tough the going, are important parts of preparation for appointment.

This class began its studies last June and has had no summer or Christmas leave.

The cadets' training schedule is packed with flying, briefing and inspection visits. They marched, white-gloved, in a formal retreat parade and review for the retired Air Force officers who were guests at yesterday's open house at Hamilton.

Objectives of their visit include becoming familiar with the mission, organization, personnel, equipment and operational concept of the Air Defense Command, of which Hamilton is a part. The cadets also will be given an appreciation of the duties, abilities, responsibilities and professional knowledge of combat crews.

After 3 Years, Slayer Escapes Gas Chamber

SAN BERNARDINO (AP)—A carnival roustabout who has been sitting in San Quentin Prison's Death Row for three years suddenly has a new lease on life.

As the result of a complicated series of legal moves, William Gerald Moore, 37, was brought back to superior court here and Wednesday heard his penalty for murder reduced from death to life imprisonment.

Originally the state Supreme Court affirmed his 1956 jury conviction of murdering Hilda Hoag, 62. She was beaten to death on the grounds of the National Orange Show in San Bernardino.

After further appeals, the high court ordered superior court to again hear and determine a motion for a new trial or to reduce the degree of the offense.

Superior Court Judge Carl B. Hilliard said this command by the state Supreme Court was "unprecedented and to my knowledge without authority" but he bowed to the order and reduced Moore's penalty to life imprisonment.

Moore's attorney, John C. McCarthy of Pomona, said there were complicated legal questions involved. He said the degree of murder depended on whether the woman was slain during an attempted rape. He said a doubt existed on this point and this led to a reduction of the penalty.

Drunken Driver Jail Bill Passes

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Legislation to make sure repeat drunken drivers go to jail was approved yesterday by the Senate Judiciary Committee and sent to the floor of the upper house.

Two bills by Sen. Donald L. Grunksy (R-Watsonville) would require a minimum of five days in jail for repeaters in cases not involving injury and 15 days for those in which someone is hurt.

For first offenders one bill would remove a minimum jail sentence, leaving the term to the judge's discretion. Proponents of the bill testified that under current law, judges faced with imposing a 90-day sentence often grant probation.

The term "fawn" is used to describe the young of rabbits, caribou, mule deer, white-tailed deer, red deer and antelope.

Second Span To Hayward Approved

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A bridge parallel to the San Mateo-Hayward span was approved yesterday by the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

It approved a bill by Assemblyman Louis Francis (R-San Mateo) which would authorize the 25-million-dollar project.

Stanford Hospital Won't Move Yet

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Stanford Hospital will continue to operate in San Francisco for one more year, Stanford University trustees decided last night.

All medical school facilities will be consolidated on Stanford's Palo Alto campus next summer. The future of Stanford Hospital here has been uncertain since the medical school move was voted in 1953.

Stanford president Wallace Sterling said doctors on the hospital staff have offered financial pledges so the hospital will not have a deficit this year.

Man Can Lay Atom Traps Around Earth

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Atomic weaponeers have demonstrated the possibility of laying artificial radiation traps for anyone who might dare to venture unshielded into nearby space.

Nature itself has created two zones of radiation—the first starting about 400 miles up—which reach peaks of deadly intensity at 2,000 and 10,000 miles.

SPACE BLASTS

This was revealed by yesterday's disclosure that the military, in Project Argus, secretly exploded three small atomic bombs—each equal to about 1,000 tons of TNT—more than 300 miles above the South Atlantic last August and September.

Another revelation was that man can now mess up his electro-magnetic environment to the point where radio communications and radar warning systems may be blacked out or impaired. Such disruptions normally are caused only by discharges of charged particles from the sun.

A third disclosure was that unless someone is looking for them, high altitude atomic tests apparently can be staged without detection.

RUSS DIDN'T KNOW

The Russians did not tumble to the Argus tests. There was no radioactive fallout, because of the extreme altitude.

The Argus tests provided much information about the military effect of nuclear explosions above the atmosphere. The information is secret. It is known, however, that the lethal range of bomb radiations at high altitudes is far greater than on the surface—on the order of hundreds of miles for H-bombs. Some scientists fear such explosions might upset delicate balances among forces affecting life on earth.

Deputy Defense Secretary Donald A. Quarles told reporters that the Argus explosions "advanced the basis of knowledge" needed to develop defense against long-range enemy missiles.

The North African Kingdom of Libya has two capitals—Tripoli and Benghazi. Government officials shuttle between the two capitals — 700 miles apart.

Kidnaped Mom Helps Police Nab Abductor

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A plucky mother told last night how she helped in the capture of an ex-convict who had kidnaped and held her hostage and her three children to barter them for the life of a prison enemy.

Mrs. Elma Baldwin attacked her kidnaper, Richard A. Payne, with a hammer during the nearly 24 hours he kept her in his car but failed to subdue him. She finally grabbed the wheel as Payne turned to fire at pursuing police, swinging the car off the road where her captor surrendered meekly.

NOT HARMED

As the police surrounded the stalled car, Payne threw down his pistol and gave himself up. He said he didn't want to hurt the children.

Mrs. Baldwin and her children, Danny, 7; Kenneth, 10, and Susan, 5, returned to their home. The nightmarish incident apparently cost the four little more than lost sleep.

TIRED, HUNGRY

"The children were tired and hungry. So was the the mother, but they were all okay," said State Police Cpl. M. S. Hofstetter, who helped run down Payne as he passed the Logan, W. Va. barracks.

The capture came at 5:15 p.m. yesterday, when the ex-convict's stolen auto passed within 100 yards of the station. Hofstetter and two fellow officers gave chase.

Payne invaded the Baldwin home in South Charleston Wednesday night on the pretext of making a phone call. He tied up John Baldwin, 30, and fled in the family car with Mrs. Baldwin and the children as hostages.

LEAVES NOTE

He left behind a note addressed to Gov. Cecil H. Underwood demanding the "head of my worst enemy" in return for release of the Baldwins. The enemy was identified as his former cellmate at Moundsville, W. Va. penitentiary, Burton Post.

When police finally ran him down, Payne fired two shots through a rear window, smashing the police cruiser's windshield without injuring the officers.

The north wing of the U. S. Capitol in 1800 was occupied by the Senate, the House of Representatives, the Supreme Court and the Library of Congress. The north wing was the only part of the building then completed.

270 Convicts Give Blood

Two hundred seventy pints of blood were collected inside San Quentin Prison's walls yesterday by Irwin Memorial Blood Bank, Associate Warden W. D. Achuff announced today. Of these, 231 pints were earmarked for Kent Kincaid, 23-year-old senior at San Francisco State College.

The young man, who suffers from a congenital bleeding disorder similar to hemophilia, requires an average of one transfusion a week. Eight years ago the inmates heard of his case and vowed he could count on blood from them as long as he needed it.

The remaining 39 pints will go to the prison's reserve blood supply. The mobile unit was at the prison from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m.

Bill For CHP Radar Introduced In Assembly

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—An administration bill to allow highway patrolmen to use radar speed detection devices was introduced in the Assembly today.

The bill, backed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown, was authored by Assemblyman William Biddick (D-Stockton).

Under terms of the measure, evidence on the speed of vehicles obtained with radar equipment would be made admissible in court. The bill also would provide for signs to tell motorists that radar was in use.

DRUG EXPERIMENTS

Recording Believed Key To Youth's Poison Death

REDLANDS (UPI)—A tape recording describing drug-induced "dreams in color" appeared to hold the key today to the poison death of a brilliant 18-year-old University of Redlands student who was conducting experiments on his own about drugs used in ancient Mexican religious rites.

Michael Hawks died of a poison Tuesday night but investigators said a detailed analysis of the poison was needed before it could be identified.

It was uncertain whether Hawks deliberately killed himself or was an accidental victim of his exotic experiments.

Police Chief Stanley R. Bowen said enough drugs were found in young Hawks' room cluttered with beakers, test tubes and other laboratory paraphernalia to "put the entire city of Redlands under sedation."

Hawks gave some of the lethal drugs to five of his fellow students, who then reported their reactions.

A tape recording on which it was believed Hawks, a chemistry student, and other students used to transcribe their hallucinations in color caused by drugs and mushrooms (believed used in rituals by tribal witch doctors) was in the hands of Coroner Edward Doyle.

"He sat up in his bunk as if he were intoxicated, then collapsed in a convulsion," said his roommate, Richard Lanham, 18, of Alhambra.

Airman Uses Air Chamber To Kill Self

WASHINGTON (AP)—An airman used a high-altitude test chamber as a suicide weapon the Air Force said today.

A Pentagon spokesman said it has been established that Airman Walter Moore of Anniston, Ala., killed himself by that method at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base, Ariz., March 8.

The spokesman said Moore boosted himself to the equivalent of 70,000 feet altitude where there is virtually no air. Life can be sustained at such height only by providing oxygen.

The Air Force said Moore started the pumps on the chamber after all other workers had left about 6 p.m., then entered the chamber. His body was found the next morning. The indicated altitude registered the maximum of 70,000 feet of which the chamber was capable.

His assignment included work in and around the chamber, the Air Force said, adding that he was considered a model airman.

Bus Hits Car, 4 Die

MOULTRIE, Ga. (AP) — Nearly 40 children escaped with minor injuries when a trailer truck smacked into the rear of a school bus yesterday and cascaded its load of cast iron pipe into the rear of the homeward bound bus.

The bus was carrying 75 youngsters.

Thirty-seven of them were treated for injuries.

Boys Rob Post Office

WYNNE, Ark. (AP) — Four schoolboys used their lunch hour yesterday to rob the local post office of $129.

Dep. Sheriff Ivy Ringgold said the four, between the ages of 12 and 15, entered the lobby of the post office while it was closed during the noon hour and broke open teller's window.

All four were taken into custody later after a search of pupils at the school and released to custody of their parents.

FULTON, Mo. (AP)—A faculty raiding party searching for liquor in a dormitory at William Woods College found a suitcase filled with empty beer cans in a woman student's room.

College officials said the student explained that the cans were mementos of various dates. On each date, she collected a beer can, painted her date's name on it and filed it away.

Judge Jails 2 Youths For Tire Thefts

Two of four Marin youths arrested in January for stealing tires and other auto accessories were handed county jail terms yesterday by Judge A. F. Scheidecker of Petaluma in Marin Municipal Court.

Ronald James Ray, 20, of 16 Skyline avenue, San Anselmo, was given a 10-day sentence. Frank C. Nunn, 19, of 1504½ Lincoln avenue, San Rafael, was granted two years probation, but ordered to spend the first 30 days of it in jail.

Both won dismissal of felony charges of conspiracy to commit theft. They had pleaded guilty to the lesser charge of petty theft.

The cases of their co-defendants, Robert Vernon Treacy, 20, of 2450 Fifth avenue, San Rafael, and Gary Edward Mellon, 21, of 31 Hillview avenue, San Rafael, were continued to next Thursday and April 2, respectively.

Victims of the thefts were Mrs. Laura Metz of 8 Ivy lane, San Anselmo, and Paul N. Gardner Motors, 1612 Fourth street, San Rafael.

U.S. Radar Contact With Venus Bared

WESTFORD, Mass. (AP) — An 84-foot dish antenna here has beamed a radar signal 28 million miles to the planet Venus and caught its echo five minutes later.

The 56-million-mile round trip transmission, in February, 1958, consumed 10 cents worth of electricity for a 300-kilowatt signal but analyzing the data that came back today nearly half a billion calculations on an electronic brain at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. It cost thousands of dollars and months of time.

Scientists at the Lincoln Laboratory project operated by MIT for the Air Force called the feat a notable step in space exploration. They said it permitted the first measurement with great accuracy of interplanetary distances—an essential navigation in space.

The signal-bouncing off Venus, man's nearest neighbor beyond the moon—was disclosed last night with a telegram from President Eisenhower offering congratulations upon a "notable achievement in our peaceful ventures into outer space."

Radar signals were bounced off the moon 13 years ago. The moon is less than a quarter million miles from the earth.

The Lincoln Laboratory radar on Millstone Hill went into operation in October, 1957. The big antenna tracked the first Sputnik and numerous satellites since.

The first radar contact with Venus was made Feb. 10, 1958, and another two days later.

DINING OUT AND INNS

27 Kinds Of Pancackes At Eugene's; S.F. Pair May Take Over Vidak's

You could take Eugene Lackenbach and put him in a swank dinner house and I'd guess that he'd do a top job of top cuisine at top prices. And if he changed his name to Jean I'd guess, too, that a lot of people would make over him and before you knew it he'd be a chef celebre, and with his knowledge of food he could write a book about it and maybe retire on his royalties.

But Gene wouldn't get half as much fun out of this as he does fiddling around with his restaurant called Eugene's on Lincoln avenue where he can turn out 27 varieties of pancakes, and New York steaks at $1.95 for people who don't want to pay twice as much.

As a whole, Marin County isn't exactly pancake conscious and some folks here don't know the difference between a flannel cake and a crepe suzette or the species in between, although I must say the opportunities to learn are about as fine at Eugene's as anywhere on the coast. And the place does have a good following.

Gene's latest creations are low calory and high protein varieties for those who are diet conscious.

While you're there, take a look at his daily dinner specials which have nothing to do with the flapjack family—very reasonably priced. Nice spot to take the youngsters, too.

THE VACANT, staring windows of Vidak's in Greenbrae may show lights and activity within another month or so—everything depends on how soon a certain liquor license can be transferred over to Jim Meehan and Fred Minetti, two San Francisco boys with lots of enthusiasm and some well laid plans for reopening.

Jim and Fred operate the Sport Club, a small restaurant and bar on upper Market street in the city. The same name will be carried over here—they'll probably call it the Sport Club of Greenbrae.

Intentions are to conduct a family style eatery and cocktail lounge. Meals are to be in the medium price range. This may be the key to their success. Tony Vidak, though an excellent chef and host and liked by everyone who knew him, ran his menu above a popularly priced right hand column and thus found it difficult to maintain a steady everyday trade.

CALL IT curiosity—I just had to stop by Zack's in Sausalito and find out if any of the goings-on spelled f-o-o-d. This place has reminded me of the old Winchester house in San Jose which for many years was built, modeled, rebuilt and remodeled to keep away the spooks. Mrs. Winchester had an idea that as long as construction was in progress she wouldn't be bothered by departed spirits.

Sam Zakessian isn't as bad as that, but ever since he started working on it almost a year ago he's been adding to, subtracting from, and dividing the premises, but at the same time multiplying his customers. Sam never did have an official opening. One day he opened the beer taps and people walked in, which they've been doing in large numbers ever since, including Danny Kaye.

Along the way he has installed one of the prettiest stainless steel open kitchens you ever saw, and last Sunday he initiated it with broiled hamburgers. Except for a fling at a St. Patrick's Day dinner of corned bee and cabbage, hamburgers are still the only menu attraction, and that on Friday and Saturday eves and Sunday afternoons. But he's got himself a chef, one Larry Ernest, a top man graduated from the hotel and culinary arts course at San Francisco State, among the finest in the country. Larry was formerly with The Embers at Waikiki.

So there's still hope—some day maybe you can look for a real dinery here. Other planned attractions—a full cocktail bar by May 1, and 300 feet of docking facilities by June.

EVER NOTICE the live Rainbow Arowana from the Amazon River on display in Sabella's cocktail lounge?

It's 17 inches long and larger than the specimen in the Steinhardt Aquarium in San Francisco—feeds on other fish under two inches and raw meat. The value of this interesting little cannibal is around $100.

Edible? I wouldn't know. At the going rates it's too expensive to find out. I'd settle for the stuffed turbot if I were you.

IN 'CONNECTICUT YANKEE' roles Sally Mullen (left) as Elaine, Nolan Curran as Sir Sagramor and Mary Bloom as Morgan Le Fay appear in one of two casts which Marin Catholic High School's senior class will present in "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court" tomorrow and Saturday nights.

Catholic High Drama Has Two Casts

Marin Catholic High School's senior class will use two casts of players in presenting "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court" tomorrow and Saturday nights.

The play is scheduled to open at 8:30 o'clock both nights in the high school auditorium. One cast will be seen Friday night, and the other, Saturday night.

Sandra Fraize and Deanna Denman will play the role of domineering Queen Gurinevere. Good-natured and somewhat discouraged King Arthur will be portrayed by George Silvestri and Richard Del Tredici. Scheming Queen Morgan Le Fay will be played by Corinne Geranoni and Mary Bloom. Sharing the role of her villainous partner, the magician Merlin, will be Yom Christian and David M. Wilson.

Sandy and Elaine, two charming young ladies of the court, are played by Melinda Krause and Joyce Leonardi and by Carol Ruggieo and Sally Mullen. Bill Ferlette and Tim Fitzharris appear as Hank Bennett, the Connecticut Yankee who introduces 20th Century tricks to the medieval court of King Arthur. Marion, his sister, is played by Suzanne Guehring and Collette De Voy, and Mrs. Bennett, his harassed mother, is handled by Gay Leonardi and Leni Mullane.

Catholic High Girl Wins For Speech

She will advance to the Marin County finals April 3 at 7:30 p.m., also at the Mission Inn.

Deanna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Denman of 19 Pine street, San Rafael, will then compete with two other speakers, with the chance of advancing to a four-region contest at Hobergs Resort May 8 and later to the California-Nevada finals at Santa Barbara. At stake is a $1,500 scholarship.

Square Dance Party

The Double Eight Square Dance Club will have a party tomorrow night at Brown's Hall in Mill Valley. Sparky Sparks of San Rafael will call dances from 8 p. m. to midnight, when refreshments will be served.

San Anselmo Man Sues For Fees As Labor Negotiator

Raymond C. Stanton, San Anselmo plumbing estimator, filed suit in Marin Municipal Court on Wednesday for $1,670 which he says is owed to him for services as a labor negotiator at Hamie's Chuck Wagon in San Rafael and Burge's Drive-In at Ignacio following the 1957 Marin restaurant strike.

Stanton's attorney, Peter Allen Smith of San Rafael, named restaurant owners Hamilton Holman and Edward Burge as the two who hired Stanton orally from Novmber, 1957, to May, 1958, to keep pickets away from their restaurants.

Smith said the two restaurateurs told Stanton his bill for $1,679 would be turned over to the Marin Restaurant and Tavern Owners Assn. but the bill was never paid.

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

By JIM GILMARTIN

Underwater Breathholding Champ Tells About Painful Experience

When doc sawbones tells us to "take a deep breath and hold it" we usually turn blue by the time his stethescope reaches our sunken chest.

That is why we continue to be amazed by this underwater breathholding business practiced by the Marin Skin Divers Club.

In case you missed it, a Mr. Robert Foster of the Marin club stayed under water last Sunday for 13 minutes, 42½ seconds without the benefit of a breathing device! If you don't think this is fantastic just try to hold your breath for one minute.

Foster, a resident of Richmond and an electronics specialist at the Standard Oil Co. refinery, performed the stunt at Bermuda Palms pool in San Rafael as a feature of the annual Marin Rod and Gun Club Sports and Boat Show. He thus claimed a world record, having beaten the 13 minutes, 35 seconds performance last summer by Dr. Robert Keast of San Rafael. Dr. Keast has retired as an underwater breathholder.

So has Mr. Foster. It's just too rough a business.

Why, then, did Foster try for the record?

"Well," the 6-foot-1, 165-pounder started off, "I just did it to prove a point. Some of my friends didn't think I could do it and I wanted to show them that it could be done. Besides that, everyone likes to break another man's record on something he's interested in. Frankly, I kind of doubted that I could actually hold my breath anywhere near Dr. Keast's record. I figured I could do 11 or 12 minutes, but not over 13."

"The Bermuda Palms water was a cool 50 degrees and at first it felt as though somebody was jumping on me with hobnail boots," Foster explained. "It was extremely painful for the first three minutes. My whole body felt cramped, as if I were tied up in a million little knots.

"Then the pain gradually left my fingers and hands and arms and I began to relax."

Dr. Keast and Al Giddings Jr., another former record holder, kept a close watch on Foster, who was held under by a 75-pound weight.

The new record-holder continues: "I was relaxed until I passed the nine-minute mark. Then came more punishment. My diaphragm and chest began convulsing. I thought my lungs would collapse. The last few minutes were agonizing. Yet I knew I wasn't in any real danger. Dr. Keast watched my eyes and checked my pulse. If anything was wrong I'd have been dragged out pronto.

"Giddings bent over me and signaled I had passed 13 minutes. I thought that was it. I just couldn't take any more. But somehow I did take more—42 seconds more and that's all I wanted."

For his performance Foster wore a skin-diver's suit and a face mask. Pure oxygen was pumped into his lungs for a period prior to the dive, but once under water he had no source of breathing.

The 32-year-old Richmonder said he practiced holding his breath every chance he got, at home or work or on club outings. Having been past the refinery, we understand why he practiced at work. Every time he'd try he'd break five minutes—just sitting there holding his breath.

And, no—Foster does not smoke. And he's through trying for records. Having proved his point, he said, "It's not worth it."

COLLEGE OF MARIN'S baseball team, unbeaten in Golden Valley Conference standings, suffered a jolt this week when it was learned star pitcher Ken Soldavini will undergo surgery tomorrow to have a bone chip removed from his knee. The big, strong righthander will be out of action for about a month.

SAN RAFAEL High School didn't win a game in the Tournament of Champions basketball classic last week in Berkeley, but the school did win one honor of which it is justly proud. The tournament committee voted San Rafael's rooting section as one of the best and gave the school a beautiful trophy for the honor.

Last Thursday school officials estimated more than 1,000 students attended the game and about 900 on Friday. Good sportsmanship is even more important than athletic victories and San Rafael is still a champ in that department.

Incidentally, the San Rafael basketball squad voted scrappy little play-maker John Blomquist as its season captain and most valuable player. Yet, Blomquist was not even mentioned on the All-North Bay League squad announced yesterday. "How ridiculous!" stormed Coach Bob Lincoln. "How could they not even mention the most valuable player on our championship team?"

A good question, indeed.

49ER CAGERS PLAY IN MARIN TONIGHT

Marin County sports fans who've never had a close look at some of the stars of the San Francisco 49ers football team will have an opportunity to do so tonight when the 49ers' cracker-jack basketball team moves into San Rafael for a one-night stand.

Featuring such grid heroes as Y. A. Tittle, Hugh McElhenny, R. C. Owens and others, the 49er cagers will do battle with the champion Dugout Dandies of San Rafael.

Tip-off for the game at San Rafael High School's gymnasium is set for 8 o'clock. A preliminary game will feature the speedy San Francisco Chinese All-Stars against the Independents of San Rafael, a local league team.

According to the San Rafael 20-30 Club, sponsors of tonight's show, the 49er squad also includes Clyde Conner, Ed Henke, Gordy Soltau, Bob St. Clair, John Thomas and Billy Wilson. It was not known, however, if all those players will appear.

EX-COLLEGE STARS

Soltau, Wilson, Thomas, Conner and Owens boast impressive collegiate basketball backgrounds. The 49ers have barnstormed through northern California all winter, playing outstanding all-star teams, including the Harlem Globetrotters. the San Rafael Men's League

The Dugout also boasts a top-notch quintet that has won the San Rafael Men's League for the fourth straight year and the Santa Rosa Invitational Tournament.

TITLE FIGHT DATE STILL UP IN AIR

LAS VEGAS, Nev., (UPI)—Date for the Floyd Patterson-Brian London heavyweight title bout here remained up in the air today with the cancellation of a planned meeting for today between hotel owner Beldon Kattleman and Cus D'Amato.

Kattleman, charged with making the arrangements locally for the bout, revealed last night that D'Amato, manager for world champion Patterson, would not come here until more details could be worked out.

He said a proposed date of April 21 for the fight, touted as a "warmup" bout for Patterson's contracted title contest with Sweden's Ingemar Johansson, was too close to the date set for the Tournament of Champions golf meet starting April 23.

Rodgers On Rampage; Wants That S.S. Job

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—Andre Rodgers, the ex-cricket player from the Bahamas, obviously wants that San Francisco Giant shortstop job.

The proof: Two home runs and two singles for a perfect day at the plate yesterday as the Giants whipped the Cleveland Indians 9-6.

Spencer, however, took a rest against the Indians. Eddie Bressoud filled in and got one of the five Giant homers. Orlando Cepeda and pinch-hitter Bill White got the others. The Giants collected 13 hits, the Indians 12.

Cepeda's blast, a 420-footer, was the longest blow in an Arizona exhibition game this spring.

The Giants play the Chicago Cubs today.

Both of Rodgers' home runs came off Herb Score. He gave up seven runs in four innings and took his second beating from the San Franciscans. Al Cicotte finished up for Joe Gordon's troops.

Jack Sanford hurled two-hit scoreless ball for four innings, but the Indians got to him in the fifth for three runs. Minnie Minoso's two-run shot over the wall was the big blow.

Cleveland picked up two more off Paul Giel in the sixth and another in the seventh on Woody Held's homer.

Rodgers in all drove in four runs, scored three and performed flawlessly on defense. Over the last two games he has six consecutive safe hits.

'Boating Safety' At Rod-Gun Meet

Malcolm Douglas of the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary will present an illustrated talk on "Boating Safety" tonight at the Marin Rod and Gun Club's monthly meeting.

To start at 8 o'clock, the meeting will be held at the club building at Pt. San Quentin.

Louisville Choice Over W. Virginia In Opener

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The home court advantage is expected to do more for Louisville than Oscar Robertson for Cincinnati, Jerry West for West Virginia, or a bear-hug defense for California in the NCAA basketball showdown opening at massive Freedom Hall tonight.

Louisville (19-10) meets West Virginia (28-4) in the semifinal opener at 5:30 p.m. (PST) followed by Cincinnati (25-3) vs. California (23-4) at 7:30.

The winners play for college basketball's tastiest plumb Saturday at 7 p.m. (PST), following a consolation game between tonight's losers. Capacity crowds of about 18,500 will attend each session.

Despite the general feeling among the coaching fraternity that the home court assist will be minimized by tournament pressure, the odds-makers have made the homestanding Cardinals the favorite.

This although Louisville has the poorest record of the semi-finalists, has no one to match All-America's Robertson and West, and has a defense that's hit-and-miss compared to California's "make-'em-work-for-everything" style.

AT-LARGE ENTRY

The Cardinals also are the only at-large entry lined up against three solid conference champions in a tournament regularly dominated by league teams. No at-large entry has won since CCNY in 1950.

On a point basis, Louisville is quoted at 5½ over West Virginia and Cincinnati 5 over California.

All four teams were in top shape after final workouts with only Cincinnati due to play short-handed. Mike Mendenhall, regular backcourt man, is ineligible for the NCAA competition as a four-year player.

This didn't stop George Smith's Bearcats frfom spilling top-ranked Kansas State 85-75 in the Midwest regional final at Lawrence, Kan., last weekend. Cincinnati, champion of the Missouri Valley Conference, scored its other Lawrence victory over TCU 77-73.

Louisville, which lost seven of its first 12 games, created the biggest stir when, after bouncing Eastern Kentucky in the first round, it blasted defending champion Kentucky 76-61 and powerful Michigan State 88-81 to win the Mideast regional.

West Virginia, winless in four previous NCAA tournaments, also has won three straight—from Dartmouth 82-68, St. Joseph's (Pa.) 95-92, and Boston U. 86-82. The latter win nailed the Eastern regional title for the Southern Conference perennials coached by Freddie Schaus.

California, riding a 14-game winning streak, bagged its third straight Pacific Coast Conference title before whipping Utah 71-53 and St. Mary's 66-46 in the Far West regional at San Francisco.

Of the four, only California has advanced as far as the semifinals in previous NCAA play. The Bears finished fourth in 1946.

Cal Coach Pete Newell, however, coached San Francisco to the National Invitational Tournament championship in 1949, and Peck Hickman of Louisville won the NIT in 1956.

CAL GAME ON TV

Tonight's California-Cincinnati game will be televised to the San Francisco Bay Area by Oakland Station KTVU, Channel 2, commencing at 7:30 o'clock.

Skin Divers' Meeting

The Marin Skin Divers Club will hold its Sunday dive in the Fort Ross area, club spokesman Ray Pierce announced today. Members will leave Fourth and E streets, San Rafael, at 8 a.m.

Cal Frosh Defeat Prep Swimmers In Meet At Tam

University of California's talent-loaded freshman swimming squad defeated Tamalpais and Lick-Wilmerding high schools yesterday at Tam's pool. Final scores: Cal 81, Tam 67, Lick, 13.

Highlight for Tam was a 1:04.2 clocking in the 100-yard backstroke by Gary Dahl, trimming one and one-tenth seconds off the school record. Other winners for the hosts were Bob Watkins, 400 free, 4:57.6 and Sid Glover, 100 free, 57.6.

Anthony 11-5 Choice Over Sonny Ray On TV Tonight

Anthony, the No. 1 man is an 11-5 favorite to make it two straight over the fifth-ranking challenger, in the television (NBC) 10-rounder.

In their first meeting Nov. 14, the 6-1 Anthony swept the last three rounds to grab a unanimous decision. Tony was a 4-1 favorite that night in scoring his seventh consecutive triumph and ending Ray's victory streak at nine.

Anthony's win streak was broken along with his heavyweight hopes in his next outing. Reuben Vargas, a rough, tough, 189-pound California heavyweight, clawed out a decision over the 177-pounder at the Garden, Jan. 30.

It proved that Anthony can't give away too much weight to an opponent who will come after him. Tony looked woeful whenever he was pressed strongly — and that was for most of the fight.

Anthony's record now is 37-6-1 including 28 knockouts.

Ray, 23, muscular, and 5-11, is one of the most improved battlers in the cruiser-weight division. After his loss to Anthony, he reacted well and easily defeated Roque Maravilla in Chicago Jan. 14.

Sonny's record is 18-6-5, including seven kayos.

Scoring will be by rounds. A supplementary point system also will be used to help break draws. The winner of each round gets from 1 to 4 points, the loser none.

S.R. Cage League Awards Tonight

The annual presentation of awards for the winners of the San Rafael Recreation and Parks Department Basketball Leagues will take place tonight at San Rafael High School gym.

The awards will be made prior to the start of the exhibition game between the San Francisco 49er basketball team and the Dugout Dandies.

Tanfo Strike Ends, Fans Eat, Drink Again

SAN BRUNO (UPI)—Racing fans at Tanforan were assured of food and drink today after settlement of an 11-day strike by track bar and restaurant workers.

Track General Manager Fred H. Ryan announced yesterday that the dispute had been settled at a meeting between the unions and concessionaires who sell food and drink at Tanforan.

He said no details of the agreement were given him.

It was good news for the race goers, who have had to bring their own or go without during the first 11 days of the 55-day spring meeting at Tanforan. The striking workers did not picket the track.

In racing highlights yesterday, Jet Journey overpowered his opposition in the stretch to score a two-length win in the feature race.

Moslem Prince was second and Berto Barbone finished third in the six-furlong sprint. The winner was clocked in 1:12-2/5 and paid $4.70.

Apprentice Jockey Pete Glenn drew a 10-day suspension and Bud Zollinger and Frank Costa were docked five days each for careless riding.

SAFE BOATING

By HARRY HEIFETZ, Commander
U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, Flotilla 14

COOKING FUELS

Among these, we can rightly say that electricity is the safest. Unfortunately, however, very few boats have the capacity (and very few people the money) necessary to make an efficient electrical cooking installation.

Most of us must content ourselves with other fuels for either one or the other or both reasons above mentioned.

The Coast Guard Auxiliary will approve proper installations of nearly all fuels excepting one. That one is gasoline, which is too dangerous a fuel for cooking. No boat carrying a gasoline galley installation will be given a Coast Guard Auxiliary decal.

Among the common types of fuel in use, the most popular are alcohol and butane. Alcohol has an advantage in that an alcohol blaze can be put out with water whereas most other commonly used fuels require fire extinguisher use.

In all types of installations, it is essential that the stove be securely anchored so that it cannot shift about.

All lines from fuel tanks to stoves should be tight and checked periodically to avoid leakage.

Galleys should be properly ventilated, particularly when in operation. The stove area itself should be secured against fire by having stainless steel or other suitable protection of the woodwork around and over the stove.

Installations using separate gravity flow tanks should have shut-off valves at tank as well as on stove.

Best installations are vented outboard. This is particularly essential in butane installations. Butane fumes are heavy and spill over and down just like water. Butane fumes are highly volatile and it is therefore most important that such installations provide adequate ventilation. The fuel tank itself should preferably be secured outboard.

If your boat is of fairly recent vintage, and of a more or less standard make, the chances are good that your galley installation if made by the builder is safe. But if your boat is old or you are planning a new installation, it will pay you to consult with your boatshop or yard. They have, or should have knowledge of Coast Guard approved methods and will aid you in your plans.

Mays Pressed His Luck And Law Of Averages Finally Caught Him

CONNOLLY

If anybody had told me a few weeks ago that the law of averages would catch up with Willie Mays and that he would get injured before the season began I'd have had to tell the guy he was a bit tetched.

My first impulse would have been to drag out the record book and explain that since 1950, when Willie first became a Giant farm boy at Trenton, he had never so much as had a scratch or even a strawberry, as the boys call it when a base slider burns himself.

The smart guys tell you never to press your luck, but things had been breaking so nicely for Willie he couldn't bear to sit back and let things happen naturally. He had to be ripping and tearing, sliding and stealing bases, throwing from the deep outfield to home plate and taking a toe-hold at the bat against pitchers too wild to know where they might throw the next pitch.

So less than a month of training and we find Willie nursing a nasty wound on his leg.

ANY FELLOW who hangs around sports long enough will preach there is no more important factor in the sporting racket than that good old law which says things are bound to even up.

All of which brings us up to the case of whether Ted Williams is or is not justified in stalling, as he does, in getting into the Boston Red Sox spring lineup.

They've roasted the Splendid Splinter no end in Arizona. He's lazy, they say, a prima donna, and what have you because he didn't hop into the lineup and start swinging and doing his stuff right from the start.

I'll say this for Ted Williams. He certainly does his best by himself while in training. No urging, pressure or criticism alters his course. And he has taken some pretty hard knocks on account of it.

I'VE REACHED a conclusion that I wished I had reached 20 years ago. Let professionals alone in training. The so-called abuses guys like Ted Williams are supposed to cause in the training camps is more than offset by their earnest work when under pay.

If Willie Mays wasn't the type he is, he'd be rounding into shape, slowly but surely like Big Ted, instead of nursing a bum shin bone.

Yes, I am aware that the "gate" is more and more vital to owners in order to maintain a training camp, but I'd rather see a shrinking gate in spring training and have a full complement of players during the regular season.

Mays was knocked down by a wild throw in the Cleveland game and for a few fleeting moments it was thought he had been struck on the temple. But fortunately the ball hit the bat and Willie, a bit frightened, got up and responded with a single through the pitcher's box.

THAT CLOSE call should have been a warning to fleet footed Willie, but he heeded no such signs.

So what, one asks, should be done about spring training?

I, for one would cut short the length of training, the number of players in camp, and particularly stress the necessity of players not exposing themselves to injury.

I do not mean to say that revenues from the exhibition games should be curtailed, but I believe the up-and-coming rookies, and not the known products such as Willie Mays, should be given the stage to fight for dear old Rutgers, as they say.

Baseball makes a kid out of Willie Mays and has kept Ted Williams young. Both are dead on the level in their own spring conduct, but I honestly think Ted is right and Willie wrong as to the technique used.

Yankees May Deal Lumpe To Senators

MIAMI (AP)—It could be that Jerry Lumpe will wind up in Washington in that big deal between the Yanks and Senators everyone in the South is talking about.

Manager Casey Stengel is not too worried about losing an infielder and he doesn't think his world champion New York club would be materially weakened if one of them went to Washington, provided, of course, pitcher Chuck Stobbs winds up in the Yankee Stadium.

"I can afford to carry one less infielder," shrugged Stengel today, "because both my catchers, Elston Howard and Yogi Berra, can play the infield."

PASCUAL MENTIONED

Marin Catholic Downs Drake On Goldman 2-Hitter

Righthander Craig Goldman pitched a two-hitter and his mates erupted for five runs in the third inning as Marin Catholic High School went on to down the Drake Pirates, 6-1 yesterday in a practice baseball game at Drake's diamond.

Marin got eight hits, including two singles each by Gary Bartolotti, Jerry DeRosa and Doug Wilson, a double by John Boccabella and a single by Goldman.

It was Marin's second win against one loss.

Meadowcroft Stars As Drake Spikers Defeat Redwood

Sprinter Herb Meadowcroft won three events and Ken Combs two yesterday as the Drake High varsity track and field team romped to a 93-20 triumph over the Redwood Giants.

Meadowcroft won the 100-yard dash in 10.4 seconds, the 220 in 22.6 and the broad jump at 17 feet, 5½ inches. Combs won the pole vault at 10 feet 1 inch and the 120 high hurdles in 16.2 seconds.

Sausalito Tennis Program Planned

Sausalito's city-sponsored summer tennis instructional program will be held again this year, Director John Minton announced today.

Although dates have not yet been set, Minton said a six-week program, including exhibitions and tournaments, is planned.

Casey To Defend Title Tomorrow In Richmond Bout

The San Francisco 160-pounder lost his first bout in 24 last Jan. 20 when Al "Tiger" Williams of Los Angeles took his measure in a 10-rounder here. It was, however, an over-the-weight affair so Casey didn't lose his title.

Things will be different this time as the two go at it over a 12-round route in a title contest.

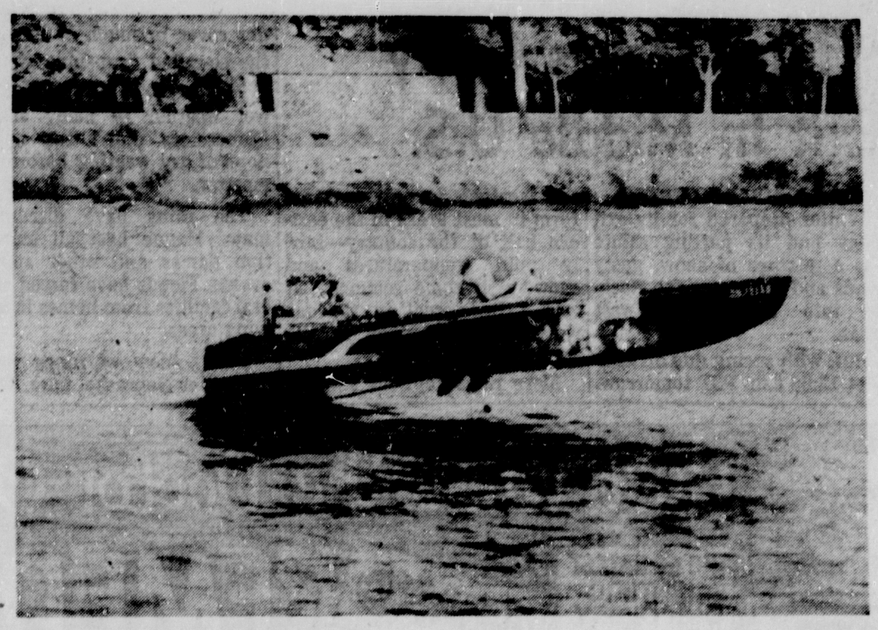
Mechanic Is Killed

SEBRING, Fla. (AP)—Gilbert E. Johnson, 22, a mechanic for an English sports car scheduled to run in Saturday's 12-hour endurance race, was killed yesterday when his car collided with a pickup truck.



ZOOM! — Carl Dethlefsen of Greenbrae, in action above, attains speeds upwards of 80 m.p.h. in his 17-foot Belmont V-drive inboard runabout, driven by a Cadillac engine with G.M.C. supercharger developing 550 horsepower. Dethlefsen will be competing at Searsville Lake this weekend over a quarter-mile course in boat drag races, timed by electric eye clocks. The drag races, new to northern California are sponsored by the V-Drive Boat and Ski Racing Assn.

Weekend Drag Races For Boats

Success of the first boat drag race to be held in northern California last December has encouraged the V-Drive Boat and Ski Racing Assn. to schedule a second two-day series tomorrow and Sunday at Searsville Lake, five miles west of Redwood City at Woodside.

Roy C. Sayles of San Rafael, enthusiastic president of the young association, looks for an even larger crowd than the 3,000 persons who viewed the earlier contests, when Carl McGinn of Glendale clocked 98.03 m.p.h. over the quarter-mile Searsville course to set a world championship mark.

Tomorrow will be devoted to outboard time trials, starting at 30 m.p.h. Outboard competition is welcomed, with many trophies offered in this category. At noon trial runs of the top inboard speed boats in California will be held. Sunday will be devoted entirely to inboard races. Races start at 9 a.m. both days, with registration set for 7 to 9 a.m.

TROPHIES GALORE

Carl Dethlefsen of Greenbrae will be competing with 17-foot Belmont V drive inboard runabout, driven by a Cadillac engine with G.M.C. super-charger, developing 550 h.p. and attaining speeds of 80 m.p.h. and over.

Bradley, St. John's In NIT Playoff Tomorrow

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bradley and St. John's, a couple of old hands at winning tourneys, are all set for a showndown rematch in the final round of the National Invitation Basketball Tournament now that the "Cinderella teams" have been sent packing.

The title in Saturday's nationally-televised (NBC, 1 p.m. PST) battle hinges on one question—can Bradley repeat its 71-66 regular season win over the New York Redmen?

Top-seeded Bradley, anxious for its second NIT crown in three years, reached the finals as expected with a 59-57 thriller over New York U. last night on Mike Owens' late layup basket.

St. John's, seeking to become the first team to win the NIT three times, advanced with a 76-55 romp over a Providence College team that had become the "upset darlings" of the tourney by first-round and quarter-final upsets.

Coaches Chuck Orsborn of Bradley and Joe Lapchick of St. John's made it clear at once that they both were mighty worried men.

"I thought N.Y.U. was the best team in the tourney—until I saw St. John's beat St. Bonaventure in the quarter-finals," said Orsborn.

"The Braves look like giants to me," said Lapchick, whose Redmen were unseeded but game time favorites in each round so far. "Bradley is a great team and very properly seeded No. 1 in this tournament."

AAU CAGE TOURNEY

S.F. Olympic Club Shocks Denver '5'

DENVER (AP) — Peoria's defending champions and title-favored Denver, jolted by upsets last night, peer from the sidelines tonight while four lesser-rated teams scrap in the semi-finals of the 52nd national AAU Basketball Tournament.

Wichita's veterans leaped into the favorite's role with a record-breaking 120-82 victory over Baton Rouge, La. after San Francisco chilled Denver 91-80 and the Army All-Stars shocked Peoria 81-75.

Bartlesville, Okla., 10-time champion of this week-long tourney, glided past the Marine All-Stars 86-80 in the other quarter-final game last night.

The Olympic Club from San Francisco shocked the 7,500 fans by sidelining the Denver Truckers. Denver had lost only once in 20 appearances on the home floor this season.

Ron Tomsic, 5-10 ex-Stanford star, and his band of Bay Area collegians defensed the Truckers perfectly. The Californians played a deliberate offense and refused to wilt in the early stages although lagging as much as seven points.

Tomsic, top scorer with 29, Phil Vukicevich and Paul Neumann came through with decisive points that pushed San Francisco into an 83-75 lead with three minutes left.

Rawls Lead Tourney

Tam P-TA Hears 3 Candidates

School politics came to the fore Tuesday evening at Tamalpais High School when three of four candidates for district trustee spoke before the Tamalpais High School Parent-Teachers Assn.

Harry Leff Jr. of Corte Madera stressed the financial aspects of high school district operation, urging that bond issues should be avoided if at all possible.

Joseph C. Marshall of Belvedere, indicated that he was running for the office because of his feeling of obligation to community service. "This is the age of automation," said Marshall. Present schools are good but need improvement, he declared.

Incumbent Trustee Howard I. McGill was not present.

Tom McDougall of Homestead Valley, running for the sixth time, repeated his assertion that he was "battling the machine," charging "we have a political machine training our children to think one way, teaching them things that is not true."

4 Attend Meeting On Ross Tax Hike

Only four persons showed up Wednesday night for a public meeting on the proposed tax rate increase of the Ross School District from $1.60 to $2.20 per $100 assessed valuation.

The four were Harold R. Rooks, who is heading the campaign for passage of the increase in the May 19 trustees election; Mrs. Edith Abbott, chairman of the Ross School Board; Stephen L. Parodi, Ross superintendent, and Bennet Skewes-Cox.

NEWS VIEWS

By LEON C. SMITH

We guess most women at some time or other would like to own a mink coat . . . even in the tropics! But it seems that a mink coat can bring trouble to the owner as well as to all the pretty little animals who donated their skins just to make a person happy. We read about a woman who had one and was about as happy as a short-armed trombone player. In fact, she thought of it as a mink elephant. It seems she and her husband had just put all their savings into a new home, and they were very low on cash. She entered a contest . . . and wound up with an Autumn Haze mink coat valued at $10,000. Only they couldn't afford to support a mink. They had to borrow money to pay their income tax on the free prize . . . and then they tried to sell it! Even cutting the price in half didn't turn the trick. Additional money went for advertising and insurance on the girls' next best friend. So before you pine for mink . . . think.

There are a lot of ways to get into trouble in this world. Maybe it's like Mark Hellinger once said, "The trouble with trouble is that it often starts out like fun." And the trouble with buying a used car 100% on the basis of price is that it often causes later unnecessary trouble. You can avoid that by placing more importance on mechanical condition of the car and reputation of the dealer. Our skilled mechanics thoroughly inspect and recondition all used cars we offer for sale. Each is guaranteed and its low price will surprise you. J. E. FRENCH CO., 1542 Fourth St., San Rafael. Winter Makes Gusty Exit In Middle U.S.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Winter prepared for its exit today and its parting salute was a mixture of snow, gusty winds and cold from the Rockies into northern Midwest areas.

But, with spring due officially at 12:55 a.m. PST tomorrow, the weather was in seasonal form in most areas in the eastern half of the country—fairly mild temperatures and showers in some sections. It was a little cool in the far Northwest and warm in the far Southwest.

More rains kept the sun under cover in much of Florida, the so-called "sunshine state." It was the sixth straight day of wet weather in many areas. Forecasters didn't see much hope of dry weather before tomorrow.

The rains have disrupted major league baseball exhibition games and other sports events. Floods have forced several families from homes in low lying areas.

Priest To Mediate Newspaper Strike

SAN JOSE (UPI)—A meeting is scheduled Monday in the 35-day-old strike of the San Jose Mercury and News.

Representatives of the striking pressmen and Stereotypers Unions and the newspaper will meet with Rev. Walter Schmidt, S. J., who has agreed to help mediate the dispute.

Father Schmidt, director of the Santa Clara Youth Council here, met informally with both parties last week½ but reported no progress.

The two unions went on strike Feb. 14 in support of wage demands. The newspapers suspended publication, declaring that other union employees refused to cross the picket lines. The non-striking unions claimed they were locked out.

Novato High Pupils To Receive Awards

Awards for both sports performance and academic excellence will be given students at Novato High School March 3 at an awards assembly in the school auditorium.

Block N awards will go to varsity and B squad basketball players, and to wrestling team members. The Lions Club speech trophy will be presented, and typing contest winners will be given recognition.

REPUBLICAN WOMEN'S MEET

Strength On All Fronts Urged By Senator Dilworth In Talk

State Senator Nelson S. Dilworth of Pasadena, who addressed the California Federation of Republican Women, Northern Division, at the quarterly board meeting answered his own question—"Can America keep the peace?" That was the title of his address at Wednesday's luncheon at Rickey's Rancho Rafael. Pointing out that the American Constitution is the "greatest peace document ever produced by man," and that it is unique because it makes the government a servant of the people, the legislator said the United States "should have a truthful national policy" and should return to the "service of God." He continued: "We must be strong, religiously, economically, and in military power and in science; and patriotism has to be taught and has to be lived by both teacher and pupil."

Senator Dilworth, explaining that "competition is another word for freedom," said that competition is the medium by which the will of the people is determined. He declared that vigilance must be exercised at all times to protect the nation against the encroachment of socialism. He began his talk by sketching what had happened in Russia, Germany and Italy when the control of the government had been taken from the control of the people, because they had refused to accept their responsibility as citizens, and allowed "compulsory socialism known as Communism" power, with terrorism, torture and murder the result.

Of the local scene, Senator Dilworth said it is encouraging that there has been "a gathering together of Republicans" and he spoke particularly of the strong Republican vote in the State Legislature against the repeal of the loyalty oath.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Merritt Hosmer of San Carlos, president of Northern Division.

Preceding the luncheon, a film made in Washington, D.C., especially for Wednesday's meeting was shown with four Republican Congressman giving their views on national affairs. J. Arthur Younger was moderator. Other speakers were John Baldwin, Charles Teague and Charles Gubser. The consensus was they would "hold the line on the budget" and support the President's foreign policy.

Two resolutions introduced by Mrs. Sylvester McAtee of Sausalito, the division's resolutions chairman, and president of Marin Unit of Pro America, were passed. One urged the state Legislature to repeal the Short-Doyle Act as "unnecessary, costly and un-Amercian" and support Senator Dilworth's Bill No. 46, "Bill of rights for mental freedom." The other resolution urged the Legislature to give "careful consideration and exercise the greatest care" before adopting minimum wage scales "which would disturb the balance of the state's economy and fair employer-employee relations."

Two new American citizens, Mrs. Ronald Martin of San Anselmo, a native of Canada, and German-born Mrs. Otto Quast of Ross, were introduced and welcomed by Mrs. Raymonde Theill of San Anselmo and San Francisco, the division's sergeant-at-arms and new citizens chairman.

HONORED

Among those seated at Mrs. Hosmer's table were Mrs. Cecil Kenyon of San Marino, state president; Marjorie Benedict of Berkeley, Republican National committeewoman; Mrs. Gladys Penland of Berkeley, past president of the Northern Division and past state president, who is now second national vice president; Miss Jane Zimmerman, the state federation's campaign chairman; Mrs. Ruth Watson, member of the Northern Section of the Republican State Central Committee; Mrs. McAtee; Sidney Howard, president of the Young Republicans of Marin; Mrs. J. Lee Chaille, women's vice chairman of the Republican Central Committee of Marin County;

Mrs. Berla Krotz, first vice president of the Northern Division; Mrs. Mary Jasper, past president of the state federation; Mrs. Henriette Steinegger, woman's vice chairman of the California Republican State Central Committee, who led the salute to the flag; Mrs. Jewell Griffith, Mrs. O. F. Gaines, Mrs. Virginia Rowe, regional vice presidents of the Northern Division; the Rev. Paul Peterson, pastor of the First Congregational Church in San Rafael, and his wife, Senator and Mrs. Dilworth, also Mrs. Margie Ann Ewen, president of the Marin Republican Women's Council Federated and Mrs. Dorothy Nielsen, president of the Republican Women's Club of Marin.

Those two organizations were hostesses to the meeting. Also at the head table was Mrs. Lee Sherry, first vice president of the Republican Women's Club. On the committee were Barbara Hennessey of Fairfax, registration; Mrs. Matt Graham and Greta Samet of San Anselmo, reservations; Mrs. A. A. Laurence, transportation; Mrs. Sherry, San Anselmo, hospitality; Mrs. Rose Baker, publicity, and Mrs. Theill.

Providing entertainment was a hat auction. Auctioned were the "crazy hats" members wore to the meeting. Two of these, one featuring a pink elephant and the other a bejeweled white elephant, were auctioned for $15 each.

Pi Beta Phis 'Summer Sojourns' To Be April 14, 15

Pi Beta Phis, mothers, alumnae and actives are departing from the usual to stage a two-day spectacular fashion show and luncheon, "Summer Sojourns," April 14 and 15, when the actives model high styles at the Chapter house on the California campus. First showing is for the Mothers' Club and friends; second for alumnae and their guests.

Sequences of "Summer Sojourns" fashions will suit the plans of young and older generations for the summer months. Leading with "You're off to Tahoe," then, "You who are going to Europe" plus the intermission, a skit, "You who are on the Campus," followed by "You who are visiting your aunt," will give opportunity to show all types of clothes suitable.

This will be the largest Pi Phi party of the year. Mothers and alumnae have been mapping plans for this gala event for weeks assisted by Pi Phi Mrs. Harold A. Ellis Jr., fashion co-ordinator. Mrs. Rutledge Sheets is general chairman of the fashion show for the Mothers' Club and Mrs. Kirby P. West Jr. for the Berkeley Alumnae Club.

Reservations to date include Mesdames Allan Hinman, Robert Kent, John Callander, Edwin Callan, O. Cort Majors, Robert Gros (Nancy Majors Gros to model), Henry M. Gibbons, John W. Cline, Garret McInerney, Frank McEneaney, John McWhorter and Leland Groezinger.

Mrs. John Churchill Entertains At Buffet

Mrs. John Churchill was hostess at a recent buffet luncheon in her newly-remodeled home in Sausalito to a group of garden enthusiasts who had earlier attended the garden section meeting at the Sausalito Woman's Club.

Her honor guest was Mrs. Albert Kosh who was the guest speaker at the section meeting. A "rock hound" and a member of the Marin Mineral Society, her topic at the meeting was "Landscaping with Rocks" and she displayed samples of rocks in her collection, illustrating how to use them in the garden as well as in home decoration.

Besides Mrs. Kosh, seen among the guests were Mrs. Merrell Sisson who is chairman of the garden section; Mrs. Douglas Kerr chatting with Mrs. Frank Rossman; Mrs. Emmet Rixford looking like spring in a flowered print; Mrs. Clayton Mote, Mrs. Robert Crowell and Mrs. Edwin Long taking advantage of the weather and eating out on the porch; incidently, Mrs. Long, by popular demand is going to repeat her very interesting talk on "Pebble Pickings" at the April meeting of the Garden section; and Mrs. Edward Ravizza.

Gives Flavor

Fathers Are Feted At Rainbow Meet

Tamalpais Assembly No. 191, Order of the Rainbow for girls entertained at Fathers' night. The girls put on skits and following the entertainment, refreshments were served. The tables were decorated with a St. Patrick's Day motif. Centering the tables were potatoes with Irish flags sitting on paper shamrocks. Each guest had a nutcup fashioned like a green stovepipe hat.

At the meeting preceding the festivities five Grand Cross of Colors were awarded. Those who received them were Mary Ann Hanley, Carolann Motta, Bonnie Hoag, Mrs. Edd Moss and Wesley Smith.

Both the Novato Assembly and San Rafael Assembly were constituted by officers from Tamalpais Assembly. They were Sandra Frier, worthy adviser, constituting chaplain; Mary Ann Hanley, marshal; Shireen O' Brien, recorder, and Bonnie Hoag, musician.

On Sunday, Sandy Frier, Mary Ann Hanley, Andrea Fish, Bonnie Hoag, Shireen O'Brien, Merilee Leftwich, Linda Murray and Shirley Griffith will leave for the Grand Assembly which will be held in Fresno for five days.

The first meeting next month will be on April 14 for Masonic night and initiation. All members of the Masonic lodges are invited.

AT ALTA MIRA

100 Demo Women Attend Luncheon

The Democratic Women of Marin had a preview of spring styles at a luncheon Wednesday at the Alta Mira Hotel. About 100 women enjoyed the fashion parade.

Special guests were Mrs. Jane Morrison, Democratic State Central Committee women's vice chairman for Northern California, and Mrs. Frances Shaskan, women's activities chairman for Northern California. Both reside in San Francisco.

Mrs. Morrison extended her good wishes to the Democratic women. Mrs. Shaskan urged them to take an active part in politics. "Continue Democratic leadership in partisan offices and place Democrats in key non-partisan positions," she said. "It is imperative that women know what is going on nationally and internationally."

Mistress of ceremonies was Mrs. Samuel Swadesh of Mill Valley, executive director of the Marin Democratic party. Style show commentator was Mrs. Stanley A. Beck of Terra Linda.

Costumes and accessories furnished by Modern Eve Shop of San Rafael were modeled by Democratic women. Large bags and matching shoes were from Netboy Shoe Salon.

Looking ahead to warm summer days, Mrs. Lawrence Sainte Maria of San Francisco modeled a paisley print blouse of Mafreeka fabric imported from England. Her walking shorts and lining of her wrap-around skirt matched.

Also perfect for summer was a two piece outfit worn by Mrs. Guy Hamelin of San Francisco. Her print Capri pants and matching jacket were fashioned of sacking material, so popular in sportswear this season.

The classic shirtmaker dress is popular again, as shown by Mrs. M. J. Mackby of Kentfield and Mrs. Sainte Maria. Mrs. Mackby's imported silk dress had spring blossoms on a white background. Mrs. Sainte Maria's was in rich green and blue shade, topped by a fur stole.

Mrs. Joseph Guthrie of Ross wore a distinctive two-toned suit in beige silk and cotton. A chocolate blouse was worn beneath her jacket, which had a wide bertha collar. Her beige hat was of imported straw.

Mrs. Leigh Athearn of Mill Valley was chic in a silk skirt and semi-fitted jacket in blue. The scoop neckline was bordered with a new wide collar and a modified peplum was in back. Her turban like hat was tall and white.

Two stunning outfits were shown by Mrs. Dean Billigmeir of Terra Linda. A black linen sheath was worn beneath a white basketweave cotton coat. Both were trimmed with black fringe. For another evening she selected a tunic print with brilliant colors ranging from pink to purple. The tunic with bateau neckline and small cummerbund was worn over a slim matching skirt.

For a very special party or formal reception Mrs. Leland Wiese's evening gown of beige tones and white would be ideal. Highlighted by a lace panel with sequin contrast, her costume was accompanied by a net stole.

Thirty-five garments were shown. Coordinators for the fashion show were Mrs. Maurice Campbell of Modern Eve and Mrs. F. F. Weiss of San Rafael.

IN SAUSALITO

A Version Of Old Testament Given At High-Jinks By Club

A new version of the Old Testament, told in song and verse and executed in dance was the novel entertainment of the annual High-Jinks celebrating Founders' Day at the Sausalito Woman's Club yesterday.

"And It Came To Pass" written and directed by Mrs. Fred Tetzlaff and based strickly on the Bible with no diversion from the facts, is a farce on scenes taken from the Old Testament.

Told they were in "for a treat", the audience responded with much enthusiasm to this very different type of entertainment proving that the realization was every bit of the anticipation.

Each scene, prologued by the Preacher (Mrs. Leonard Wood) who set the pace for the farcical element, was fast moving. The costumes, made by Mrs. Miriam Brecka and designed for this production by Mrs. Alexander Imlay, with the minimum amount of suggestion, transformed each member of the cast into lions in Daniel's Den or devils in Satan's Hell.

Mrs. Imlay also designed and constructed the set for the "in the round" production.

ROLL OF DRUMS

The roll of drums by tympanist Mrs. Harold Rosenblum whose husband, Dr. Rosenblum, was music director, heralded the opening scenes of the angels in heaven and the devils in the fire and brimstone of hell as was "in the beginning."

A lonesome Adam (Mrs. Robert LaFontaine) was soon lured by an enticing Eve, played by Mrs. Jerome Adam, and Cain (Mrs. Delman Smith) and Abel (Mrs. Robert Walt) the quarreling brothers, carried the tale along leading to the destruction of man.

Then the floods came, and the animals who, two by two, filled Noah's Ark, performed intricate dance steps while being led by a white unicorn (Mrs. John Ward) without a mate.

As Moses walked through the sea to the promised land, "so, too, can you" sang and danced his followers, Mrs. Mervyn Cowen, Mrs. Gleason Gifford and Mrs. Jerome Adams.

The hounds of Hell, in song and dance, bade Suzanna in heaven "not to cry" as they were keeping the Elders on an eternal march for wrongly accusing her, and Daniel (Mrs. Jacques Neuville) who couldn't "stand cats", was thrown to the lions (Mrs. Mervyn Cowen and Mrs. Robert Walt).

Gabriel (Mrs. Ronald Mackenzie) sounded his trumpet for the day of reckoning and reminded the audience that Judgement Day is coming and rich or poor all will have to go "when they sound your name."

IS HONORED

Mrs. Tetzlaff was congratulated and presented with a large bouquet of spring flowers on behalf of the members of the Woman's Club for her clever idea and its execution.

Others who took part in the performance or helped with the production were Mesdames L. S. Balliet, H. C. Mcean, Harold Griffeath, Raymond Gergus, Ernest Bowman, Wint F. Saint and Richard Grambow.

Mrs. Henry Smart was coordinator; Mrs. John Brebner, Mrs. Robert Watson and Mrs. Charles Ray were the make-up artists; Mrs. Brebner also handled the lighting effects with the help of Mrs. Max Pollack; advisor was Mrs. Douglas Kerr and printing of the scripts was the work of Mrs. Carl Spring.

The program will be repeated tomorrow night under the name of the Low-Jinks for members of the club and their husbands or escorts. The Low Jinks is under the chairmanship of Mrs. William Erskine assisted by Mrs. Ernest King, Mrs. George Eichmeyer, Mrs. Vera Harlan and Mrs. Conrad Kett. The performance will start at 8:30 o'clock and will be followed by dancing and refreshments.

Poppy Club Has Luncheon Meeting

Mrs. Watler Thomson was hostess for the Sausalito Poppy Club, recently at her Sausalito home, with Mrs. Henry Bigall of San Francisco assisting as co-hostess.

Those enjoying the luncheon were Mesdames Percy Yeend, Robert Ross, John Thomson, Leo Beers, Ida Martin, Eugene Poole, Martha Donnelly, George Williams, John Terris, Nell Boyd, and B. F. Muse. Guest for the day was Mrs. Anna Lutjens of San Francisco. The St Patrick's Day theme was carried out in the decorations.

Mrs. John Thomson gave the Memorial for Mrs. Isabel Mercer who recently passed away. Mrs. Mercer was a member of long standing in the club and a memorial donation in her name was given to the Red Cross.

The club also voted their yearly donation to the Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc.

Mrs. Nell Boyd, in charge of sewing, passed out the layette material to be completed by the members. Two layettes are given yearly to some needy family in Marin county.

The Poppy Club will hold its April 8 meeting at the home of Mrs. Ida Martin, Sausalito, with Mrs. Edward MacIvers as co-hostess.

Gourmets Dial

Those wanting tips on what to serve for dinner dial a certain number. With the recipe, they get a casual mention about cooking with gas. The service takes into consideration the time of the year as well as current market prices.

Credit Women Are Dinner Hostesses

The Credit Women's Breakfast Club recently held its annual Boss' Night at the Alta Mira in Sausalito when 28 members attended with their "bosses." The speaker was Stan Herrick, a certified Dale Carnegie instructor, who told how to create good public relations and overcome antagonism.

Mitzie Brown, president, conducted the meeting and Fern Wearill introduced the speaker. Ellen Martinelli was in charge of the program and Rachael Gorb decorated the tables. Reservations were taken by Anne Daniele and Billie Arrington.

SECOND YEAR ENDS

Marin YWCA Notes Progress As Membership Drive Starts

March 23 is the opening date of the membership drive for the YWCA of Marin County. This was announced today by Mrs. Kenneth W. Verling, chairman of the board of directors of the Marin YWCA.

"In just two years the YWCA has grown in Marin County to a membership of 800," said Mrs. Verling. "Our program started in March 1957 with nine classes offered and 104 people enrolled. With the beginning of our new term this spring we have 29 classes and interest groups."

YWCA program was started in Marin County after the San Francisco YWCA received requests from Marin residents for activities in their area. The decentralized program, under the direction of Miss Kaye Hunt, was explored thoroughly before an office was acquired at 1010 B street, in San Rafael.

Spurred on by a committee of community-minded women who met often and long to iron out the "growing pains" of this new venture, the program now is firmly established in Marin County.

Recently the committee became a board of directors. Those serving on the board, in addition to Mrs. Verling, are Mrs. Wallace Hall of Belvedere and Sacramento, Mrs. W. A. Hillhouse and Mrs. Frank Ric of Sausalito, Dorothy Brown Mrs. Roy Michael, and Mrs Robert Pederson of San Rafael Mrs. Dan Dougherty, and Mrs. Samuel Archibald of Ross. Mrs. Peter Salvaressa of San Anselmo, Mrs. Richard Newman and Mrs. Archer B. Forsyth of Mill Valley and Mrs. Robert Agnew of Novato.

Just why the YWCA has met with success is evidenced by the comments of those taking part in the program. A young wife, Mrs. Elmer Langguth of San Rafael notes, "The YWCA has been my answer to changing a dull routine of daily living to an interesting one.

"Looking forward to the pleasure of spending a few hours each week learning to do new things and meeting new people has given me the needed incentive to plan my time more effectively, creating a better organized home life which has proven, in my case anyway, to be a happier one," she continues.

The YWCA program appeals to young adults through classes such as golf, bowling, bridge, mosaics, painting, or even trimmastics. Some programs are designed for families and men become a part of YWCA activities.

Teen-age girls also find the YWCA is a good organization to join. Kim West, a member of the Y-teens at Redwood High School in Larkspur, puts it this way, "The YWCA is a wonderful thing to belong to. All the activities you get into help you to become a better person. Our opinions really count, you're a real person in this group, and adults give us the courtesy of listening to us."

YWCA program in Marin County is financed by contributions from members and interested persons.

Volunteers are helpful in stretching the program budget, by giving their services for office hours and various jobs. During the past year approximately 100 women gave 1587 hours of volunteer time to the YWCA.

"In Marin County we are hoping to increase our program this year still further," commented Mrs. Verling. "People interested in helping the YWCA to grow are urged to join the YWCA this month by calling the YWCA office, or by filling out one of the membership applications." A membership application is published on this page.

Have We Forsaken Great Ideals Of Our Forefathers?

How far has our nation strayed from the paths charted by our forefathers in the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the U.S., including the preamble and the Bill of Rights, and the idealism embodied in Lincoln's Gettysburg address?

Most of us were first exposed to these and other similar great American documents in grammar school. We came to love and respect our country as the world's strongpost of freedom and individual liberty and justice. We came to know our country as a melting pot that welcomed and freed the oppressed and downtrodden of the world.

How far we have strayed from all these ideals can be measured in part by what happened one recent day in San Rafael.

The mother of an Independent-Journal reporter was refused the privilege of renting an apartment because she was "oriental."

Let us get acquainted with this lady. She was an immigrant to California from her native land nearly 40 years ago, coming as the bride of another, earlier immigrant who had been sufficiently successful after arriving to send for his future wife. (Doesn't that sound familiar? It happened in the family history of many fine people we know and they are appropriately proud of it.)

In her younger days, this lady was a working farm wife, helping her husband in the fields. Se became the mother of three daughters and a son, whom she reared and encouraged to obtain education which she herself was largely denied. (Doesn't that sound familiar, too?)

One daughter became the wife of a dentist; another became the wife of a university professor; the third became the wife of an Air Force soldier and she is a part-time school teacher.

The son is a veteran of honorable service in World War II. He received a master's degree from Stanford University.

Grandchildren? She has them. They will be valuable citizens in times to come. One was a science fair winner in Marin County last year.

Now this lady is a widow. She has come to Marin to retire from the arduous labor that has been her lot in life. She wants to live out her years close to her son and his family.

A suitable apartment was found for her in San Rafael. She was found to be a desirable potential tenant—except for one thing. "We don't rent to orientals."

When the pioneer-type mother of an American war veteran, mother-in-law of an Air Force soldier, mother-in-law of a dentist, mother-in-law of a university professor and grandmother of a Marin science fair winner is denied a place to live because of race, creed or color, we have indeed strayed a long way from the path charted by our forefathers.

Let us hope that we will in the days ahead regain the path described by our American ideals.

Marin's Fragrant Bay Tree

Riddle: What is the connection between the California laurel tree used in landscaping, the bay leaves used in cooking and myrtlewood used in woodworking? Answer: Whether we call it California laurel, Oregon myrtle or just plain bay tree, they are one and the same.

The bay trees have been blooming for several weeks now in Marin. The clusters of tiny cream colored blossoms are unspectacular, but attractive nonetheless. Crush one of the dark green, leathery leaves and note its spicy fragrance. These are the bay leaves used by expert cooks to season veal and beef.

Botanists know this tree by its scientific name, Umbellularia californica, and they tell us it is one of the world's great trees. It is a native tree and an evergreen.

Darryl Zanuck's Boy Follows Without Fear In Dad's Footsteps

His dad, Darryl F. Zanuck, has supervised more than 1,000 films, three times won the Irving Thalberg award. Young Zanuck, vice president of his father's independent company, has just finished producing his first picture.

Dick, a short athletic man whose neat mustache makes him look younger than his years, is aware of both the perils and privileges of his name.

"I realize the chances of my doing what I'm doing now would be a lot smaller if I weren't the son of Darryl Zanuck," he said.

"But I haven't experienced any resentment on the part of others. There would be if I abused the opportunities, or if I didn't do a good job."

Dick is reasonably sure he did do a good job in his initial venture as a producer. He brought the picture in at $1,250,000 — some $100,000 under budget — and shot it in 27 days, five under schedule.

"It was an enthusiastic group, down to the last man," he said.

Dick has worked in every branch of the movie industry.

"I can't remember ever wanting to be in any other field," he said.

"I WAS RAISED around the studio and started selling newspapers there when I was 8. I also worked on the labor gang, in the story department, and in the advertising department."

Dick expects to stick to the producer's role, and has no present desire to direct.

Young Zanuck is strongly optimistic of filmdom's future, feels certain the advent of pay television will boom it tremendously.

"THERE IS A LOT of gloom in the industry," he said. "It is sad to see, but I don't know what it is all about. There is too much fear.

"Pictures today — the big pictures — are turning in the biggest grosses in history. The biggest need of the industry is to make more pictures for the present audience — which is the younger generation.

"Seventy-five per cent of movie fans are under 21. A lot of people lose sight of that."

County Should Acquire Net Depot

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Considerable interest has recently developed in a piece of Paradise Cove property commonly referred to as the Naval Net Depot Annex which area is not contiguous with the Naval Net Depot proper and should not be confused with it. This property is now excess to the Navy and may become available to Marin County.

Different county groups have expressed their intention of trying to acquire this valuable property for various uses such as a school, a park, a boat harbor, etc. In short, the immediate assumption is that this area should be developed for the public welfare. I wish to point out several factors for consideration.

This property is one of unusual beauty and potential and is situated between residences on acre sites. The fact that this property could be a valuable addition to the tax roles, if developed in harmony with the surrounding residences, should not be overlooked. However, since the disposer of this property, The Government Service Administration, is in a very inequitable manner not even considering the owners of the property when it was condemned the probability of desirable residential development seems remote. Without such residential development it is felt that the chance to preserve the natural beauty and charm which originally persuaded adjacent landowners to purchase their property will be lost.

One must remember that Paradise Drive is a narrow, winding road and is a dangerous one to travel at any but a well controlled speed. This road when it was continuous (and it soon will be again) was a nightmare of congestion on weekends, undoubtedly the creation of a public facility at the Annex will compound this traffic problem. Certainly the traffic remedy usually planned by the thoughtless 'road straighteners' would be disastrous to a now beautiful drive. This area during most of the year is designated as a critical fire hazzard and the fire protection for it is nil. The increase in fire hazzard that would be created by some thing like a park is obvious and catastrophies of complete destruction such as the Gustafson fire recently on Paradise Drive are bound to occur.

Before the county commits itself to the purchase of the Annex I think that careful consideration should be given to the possibility of acquiring the Naval Net Depot proper. This will soon be surplus. It has many buildings of the former Net school and these would be practical for public school use. It has functioning fire protection facilities. It is a large green belt area ideally suitable as a park particularly since the county recently acquired acreage above it for that very purpose. It has established dock and harbor facilities, perfect for a small boat harbor. This property, far more ideally than the Annex, fills the bill for the various developments the county has in mind.

Sport Show Edition Was Educational

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

The I-J is to be commended for its entertaining and educational presentation of Marin county sports in the March 12 edition. However, in the light of current thinking (and local investigations of housing discrimination), I would like to comment on the ideals of the Marin Rod and Gun Club . . . Gordon Dixon's article said the organization started with a . . . membership of 35 men who had true fish and game ethics . . . and planned to work together for the betterment of every sportsman. (sic) His article concludes with, "Marin is fortunate to have a wide-awake and progressive sportsmen's club that is a credit to the community."

How then do they explain Article IX of the MRGC Constitution: (1) MEMBERSHIP: Any citizen of the United States of America, and of the Caucasian Race . . . shall be eligible for membership in this club.

Is this true to good sportsmanship and fair play?

Milk Price Fixing Backfires; To Cost Housewives $10 Million

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Once again, the illogical concept that price fixing by the state of California benefits consumers has back-fired to the extent of a nearly $10,000,000 annual touch on the pocketbooks of housewives.

This stems from an announcement of one of the state's bureaucracies, the Bureau of Milk Control, that seasonal reductions in the price of milk will be only a half a cent a quart instead of the anticipated cent a quart the bureau planned when it announced the seasonal cut program some months ago.

UNDER THE bureau's theory, milk is more plentiful in the spring when the cows come fresh, and therefore, the public is entitled to some reduction in price in view of the added supply. It anticipated a cent reduction.

But following a series of "public" hearings, which are attended for the most part by representatives of the dairy interests, the bureau came to the conclusion that instead of dropping the price a cent a quart, it would permit a decrease of only a half a cent.

Individually and per quart, this appears to be a small amount. Collectively and on total gallonage, it will amount to approximately $800,000 per month, or $9,600,000 annually.

THE LEGISLATURE sanctions and condones price-fixing by the state in this one industry. While other states of the union, notably Oregon and Florida, are getting away from price-fixing, California continues with but little protest on the part of the public, or anyone else. The dairy interests like the present situation, as profits are guaranteed. Competition in fluid milk is a thing of the past, and the industry, instead of being able to work on the basis of free enterprise, has become the abject creature of the state.

In Oregon, the voters threw out price fixing at the polls. In Florida, the Milk Commission noted the price-fixing, and the under-the-table rebates which went along with it, cost the consumers from seven to ten million dollars annually. An editorial in a Florida paper noted that with elimination of price control, the house-wife is now getting the kick-back which formerly went to the super-markets.

THE OFFENSE in California is that the state is able to fix the price and eliminate a competitive situation which could in the long-run, bring millions of dollars in savings to the California house-wife.

Certainly the dairyman is entitled to a fair profit, as are the members of the milk trust which includes the distributors. This is not a voluntary trust, but a monopoly inevitable because of the state's laws. Perhaps the subject should be one for investigation by Governor Edmund G. Brown's proposed new Consumer counsel, who would look after the interests of the people.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

Mark Twain once was allowed to buy stock in a publishing house, and boasted to a friend, "This will net me a fortune. They've let me in on the ground floor."

Ten months later the publishing house went bankrupt, and the friend taunted, "I thought you said they let you in on the ground floor?" "So they did," maintained Twain, "but there was a son of a gun in the basement!"

Mark Twain explained another time that all true humorists find themselves in the same position: "We have to make people, who would otherwise hang us, believe that we are joking."

A tourist wandered into a flea circus and watched spellbound while the head flea did his tricks. "Did you educate that flea yourself?" he asked the owner of the show.

"I did," was the proud reply. "I raised it from a pup."

Hallinan Studies Photography To Prepare For Trip To Russia

As one might expect of an institution of higher learning, the comments and rejoinders that pass through the air at meetings of the College of Marin board of trustees are often on a more subtle plane than other boards.

Mrs. Ada M. Fusselman, board chairman, wielded the keen edge of humor at the last meeting when she commented on the resignation of board member William A. Hamilton in reference to the (at least) annual skirmishes over faculty salaries.

Mrs. Fusselman said she was sorry "Bill won't be on hand for the spring maneuvers."

We noticed the impulse to smile over the apt description was universal.

WELL-KNOWN Ross attorney Vincent J. Hallinan also delivered a short statement at the meeting. Hallinan in a letter said he wanted to thank the board and night photography instructor Ken Molino for the "gratifying success" of his six months study of photography.

Hallinan, known for his support of left wing causes, said he was going to have to leave the class; apparently for his forthcoming trip to Russia.

The plaudit for Molino's teaching is not the first we've heard, but one of the more unusual. Ken of course is also chief photographer for the Independent-Journal and one of the sparkplugs for use of newspaper color.

JACK BENZ, Kentfield postmaster, passes on a note received recently from an Illinois man asking why the office couldn't deliver a letter marked to a "Miss Shirley Moose, Kentfield."

The man said he recalled Miss Moose lived on a street with other such "animal" names. Sure enough, Jack says they delivered it soon after. The Moose home on Hill drive is surrounded by such others on Poplar drive as the Wolfs Scales, Seaman and Oyster families, while the Waste and Noyes families reside nearby on Hill drive. The Lyons are not far.

Jack said the only reason the letter probably wasn't delivered at first was because it happened to come to a new man at the office.

ONE OF OUR sharp young heads in Corte Madera incidentally has come up with a possible merger election slogan: "Merge or Submerge!"

ARE YOU A victim of habitual swervitus? Most residents in the lower Ross Valley seem to be, judging from the good response the little white dots on College avenue are getting.

The dots outline a planned left turn lane into Kent Woodlands for northbound traffic. In that the little white dots are beginning to fade we checked with Larkspur City Manager Ronald E. Piper as to see what comes next.

Perhaps persons who believe motorists are out only to speed might take note of the voluntary response to the little white dots. It seems almost a rule that sensible traffic regulation begets little trouble from motorists.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Public Has Huge Stake In Labor Negotiations Of Months Ahead

WASHINGTON—It is more than ever evident that when labor and management sit down to the bargaining table, the public has a tremendous stake in the outcome.

During the next nine months the stake will be unusually great because the bargaining table will be unusually busy.

The reason is that during this period 154 wage contracts and the wage clauses of sixty-two other labor-management contracts covering 4,174,000 workers come up for re-negotiation. At the same time deferred pay raises or automatic cost-of-living adjustments fall due for 1,444,000 other workers.

1959 will thus see mounting pressure for wage increases, mounting pressure for price increases, and the prospect of a further rise in the cost of living.

I am not suggesting that wage increases are undesirable either from the standpoint of management or the public. I am not suggesting that wage increases automatically have to bring price increases. I am suggesting that the public has a valid and pocket-book interest in checking the wage-price spiral and in bringing inflationary pressures under control.

THIS IS why most economists agree that it is in the national interest to see that new wage increases are kept within the bounds of the increases in productivity in each industry.

This is why President Eisenhower and Secretary of Labor Mitchell and Secretary of the Treasury Anderson and others have been counseling labor and management to use enough self-discipline to halt voluntarily wage - increase - price-increase inflation so as not to bring on a cure worse than the disease — namely, government controls of both wages and prices.

The major 1959 test of whether wage increases are going to plough through the ceiling of increased productivity will be in the steel industry whose three-year contract with the 1,104,000 workers of the United Steelworkers Union expires on June 30.

At the moment the ex parte spokesmen of both sides are forecasting the worst — massive union demands and massive management resistance with the possibility of a prolonged strike.

It is, however, the judgement of some very informed people who are close to the situation, that a prolonged strike is not probable, that the industry's pre-strike inventory will be too great to make a strike inviting to the union and that it is possible the wage increases can be kept to a level which will not require price increases.

My information is that the most responsible leaders of the industry want to do everything possible to assimilate any new wage increases without a price rise and would be prepared to take a strike to avoid a price rise.

By LESLIE DARD

TAMALPAIS THEATER

Hollywood has chosen to turn Sophia Loren into a serious actress rather than a flaunter of lurid charms and continues the process in "The Black Orchid," a new film starting Sunday in San Anselmo.

In this VistaVision movie, she portrays the widow of a racketeer who must face up to a whole new set of problems brought on by her ruthless, ambitious past desire for wealth: her son (Jimmy Baird) shows too many signs of wanting to follow in his father's footsteps, and a zealous suitor (Anthony Quinn) is held back by a daughter (Ina Balin) horrified that her father may embrace the taint of a gangster's widow.

Scripter Joseph Stefano writes with a relish for the Italian - American characters and with an understanding of the volcanic nature of the slum setting. The affectionate, discerning dialogue is the strength of the film.

The conflict of the aging lovers is the main theme, but Miss Balin manages to steal scene after scene from the stars with her vivid performance, thereby adding another dimension to the story.

Estimate: Plenty of sentiment in this one.

Through tomorrow night, you can see a romantic ranch adventure titled "The Sad Horse" (color, CinemaScope). It stars young David Ladd, Chill Wills and Pat Wymore, and is geared for "family" viewing. The co-feature is "The Little Savage," a mixture of "Treasure Island" and "Blackbeard the Pirate." Pedro Armendariz and Christine Martel star.

RAFAEL THEATER

Come Sunday, the Rafael's holiday week feature will be "The Shaggy Dog," a fantasy-comedy out of Walt Disney's Buena Vista Studios.

It's about a teen-aged boy (Tommy Kirk) who changes himself into a sheep dog every now and then, causing much confusion in his family, among the police, and in the neighboring household (which contains a nest of nasty spies anyway).

Fred MacMurray portrays Tommys dog-hating father (he's a mailman, thus constantly subject to hounding by hounds). Kevin Corcoran plays Tommy's younger brother, who prefers him when he's in sheep dog form. Alexander Scourby, whom we saw most recently as a Nazi in Danny Kaye's "Me and the Colonel," turns up as an Iron Curtain spy.

Through tomorrow night, the Rafael will be showing Mike Todd's "Around the World in 80 Days," a "must-see" film starring David Niven, Cantinflas (the Mexican comedy star), Shirley MacLaine and a host of famous actors and actresses in cameo roles.

Incidentally, there will be matinees at the Rafael next Monday through Friday because of the school holidays.

MARIN MOTOR MOVIES

Cary plays a widower whose only problem are his three kids, all straight from the pages of Dr. Spock. Sophia is the daughter of a visiting Italian musician who is out to Find a Man. Instead, she finds one of Grant's offspring (all are slightly mad), and winds up as the family maid.

The houseboat of the title comes in after the house in which Grant plans to live is hit by a train! Because of the Washington, D.C., housing shortage, the family moves into the broken down ark on the Potomac.

Harry Guardino as an admirer of Sophia, and Martha Hyer as a girl interest in Cary, round out the cast.

Because of the holidays, the Marin Motor Movies will be open through Sunday night, instead of closing after the Saturday night performance.

FAIRFAX

If you want to see a perfect example of how two performers can turn fluff into a wonderful bit of film fare, we suggest you see "The Reluctant Debutante."

Rex Harrison and Kay Kendall star in this movie about the annual debutante season in London. They play a couple trying to launch their 17-year-old (Sandra Dee) in society. Their tribulations stem from the fact that Miss Kendall wants to match Sandra with a young aristocrat (Peter Meyers), a Palace Guardsman and a bore. Sandra has her sights set on a young drummer (John Saxon), a nobody's who's really a somebody.

When the principals get through with this plot, I think you'll find you've had one of your most entertaining evenings in a long time.

SEQUOIA

Through tomorrow night you can see Spencer Tracy in "The Old Man and the Sea" (color). His performance won him an Oscar nomination as best actor.

On Sunday, the feature will be "Me and the Colonel," starring Danny Kaye. Kaye shows himself to be a first-rate character actor in this warm comedy and, for my money, rated an Oscar nomination (which he didn't get).

Kaye plays a timid but resourceful wandering refugee from Hitler who escapes from Paris just ahead of the Nazi legions. His traveling companion is an incongruous Polish colonel (Curt Jurgens).

Theirs is a mad escape — in a Rolls Kaye has purchased from the Rothschilds' chauffeur, with gas bought from a wrecked cab. And then, to compound their problems, the colonel must head toward the Nazis to get one of his suburban girl friends (Nicole Maury).

Yet they do make it to safety aboard a British sub sent to salvage the colonel — but only because Kaye saves the party more than once. There are numerous comic incidents along the way, and an excellent supporting cast.

LARK

Before opening with "Around the World in 80 Days" on Wednesday (and here indeed is a film worth seeing twice), the Lark is offering a double bill consisting of "His First Affair" and "Kindly Kill Me."

The first-named stars shapely Odile Versois as a married woman who tempts a young student (Alain Quercy) into committing an indiscretion.

GOP Organizes Tax Revolt In Legislature

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Minority Republicans organized a tax revolt in the Legislature today that posed a serious threat to Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown's finance and water programs.

The Republican caucus voted last night to oppose new taxes, contending the two billion dollar budget can be balanced by the use of reserves.

MAJORITY SUPPORT

Sen. John F. McCarthy (R-San Rafael), Senate minority leader who announced the action, said a majority of the 33 Republicans present supported the caucus policy. There were 12 absentees.

Brown, blaming an inherited deficit and rising state costs, has asked for new or increased taxes intended to bring in 202 million dollars in 1959-60 and 256 million the following year.

SAVINGS PLAN

Assemblyman Glenn E. Coolidge (R-Felton) came before the GOP caucus with a plan to save almost 190 million dollars, including diversion of 100 million from the 171-million-dollar investment fund.

Coolidge said he didn't seek caucus approval, but that he would introduce a series of 23 bills to carry out his economies and fund transfers. He expects to propose another five to seven-and-one-half million dollars in savings in 10 days or so.

WOULD LEAVE ENOUGH

The Felton assemblyman, ways and means chairman last year, said the 100-million-dollar diversion would still leave enough in the investment fund for water development. Brown has recommended earmarking the entire fund, out of tideland oil revenues, for his water program.

The Republican caucus did not specify how much of the investment fund it proposed to apply toward budget-balancing. By implication, however, its statement called for draining the state's reserves down to the last cent.

Brown Tax Hike Drive Will Start Next Week

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown and his top leaders in the Legislature will start pushing next week to pass the administration's 256-million-dollar-a-year tax program.

Assemblyman Thomas J. MacBride (D-Sacramento), author of the Brown tax bills, said today they decided to start with measures to levy a tax of three cents a package on cigarettes and increase state income taxes.

MacBride said the two measures would be set for a hearing in his revenue and taxation committee next Thursday.

MacBride said the decision to push the tobacco and income taxes first was made during a round of discussions between Brown's staff and legislative leaders.

He said they were chosen because "these two taxes represent in a small sense a picture of the entire tax program.

"One will increase consumer taxes and effect the low income group and the income tax will affect the higher income group," MacBride said.

Movie To Benefit Foreign Exchange Student Program

The Novato committee of the American Field Service will sponsor a benefit showing of the Danny Kaye movie, "The Court Jester," at the Novato Theater, 7 to 9 p.m. April 1.

Proceeds will be used to finance the group's program, including its foreign exchange student activities. Ticket sales will be handled by a committee headed by Mrs. John Lee.

Five Novato High School juniors are candidates for selection as foreign exchange students this year. They are Norman Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Johnson, 2260 Center road; David Schwindt, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Schwindt, 848 Eucalyptus avenue; Richard Morse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Morse, 1525 Buchanan street; Susan Killen, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Killen, 784 Sutro avenue, and Ted Kruth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Kruth, 760 Tamalpais avenue.

Fencing Classes For Adults In South Marin

Fencing instruction for adults is offered every Saturday morning from 11 o'clock to noon at the Southern Marin Recreation Center, according to Recreation Director Howard Adams.

Both members and non-members may participate in this popular sport, Adams said. Further information may be secured at the Center offices.

Water Line Cost To Be Split 3 Ways

Directors of Marin Municipal Water District have agreed to a three-way split of cost of water lines for fire protection in Las Lomas subdivision No. 3 in Mill Valley.

The developer, George Rohmer, will pay one-third of the cost; the City of Mill Valley will pay one third, and the water district will pay one-third.

The directors, meeting Wednesday, also agreed to lay 1,100 feet of six-inch pipe to serve the district with culinary water.

Contracts were awarded to Mueller Co. of San Francisco for 6,000 copper fittings totaling $9,069, and to Smith-Blair, Inc., of South San Francisco for 925 service clamps totaling $1,879. In each case, the successful bidder was lowest of five.

The water board will meet on Tuesday at 8 p.m. instead of Wednesday next week, announced B. J. Brusatori, secretary.

Marin Girl Wins College Stipend

Susan Rigsbee of 9 Lilac avenue, Kentfield, a student at Dominican College, has been named winner of a fellowship from the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation to provide support during her first year of graduate study in English literature at Radcliffe College, beginning next fall.

The fellowship, backed by the Ford Foundation, makes available a living allowance of $1,500 for each student, plus the full cost of tuition and fees.

The Salvation Army has four million recruits working in its missions throughout the world.

EASTER FLORAL DISPLAY OPENS TOMORROW

Mill Valley's downtown streets will be blooming with some 20,000 flowers tomorrow as the community's Easter flower display gets under way.

"However," warned display chairman Normand Black, "we will have our maximum display only if the participating merchants get their boxes out in front of their places of business tonight or tomorrow morning."

Black said 92 merchants are participating in the program, some with two display boxes, each of which accommodates four flowering plants.

Black, a commercial florist, made the estimate of 20,000 blooms.

Two Marinites Join Fraternity In Colorado

Two Marin high school graduates have become fraternity brothers at the University of Colorado since enrolling there last fall.

They are Robert D. Kemp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Kemp, 57 Hickory road, Fairfax, a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, and Fred G. Athearn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leigh Athearn of 146 Cascade drive, Mill Valley, a graduate of Tamalpais High. Both have been pledged by Delta Upsilon fraternity at the Boulder, Colo., university.

Emerald Bay Road Study To Continue

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Efficiency and safety or natural beauty?

The state Park Commission and the state Highway Commission—principal dissenters in the location of the highway—agreed yesterday to continue feasibility studies before coming to firm conclusions.

The present road is closed much of the year because of bad weather and landslides.

The Division of Highways recommends an all-weather, low-level route along the shore of Lake Tahoe with a bridge across Emerald Bay.

The Division of Beaches and Parks says such a route would destroy the region's natural beauty and recommends another high route, possibly with the use of tunnels.

Both commissions declare they want to retain the scenic beauties, but J. W. Vickrey, assistant state highway engineer, doubts the operational feasibility of another high route.

"All-year operation can be provided along the low-level route with reasonable certainty," Vickrey said, "while such cannot be said for development along the alternate high-level route."

Beards Start Sprouting In North Marin

"How are you fixed for blades?" is a meaningless query in North Marin these days.

Most male residents of the area are mothballing their razors for the duration—of the the beard - growing contest which will wind up in judging of beards June 20 during the three-day Western Weekend celebration in Novato.

Beards will be judged in seven classifications: Full beard and moustache, trimmed; full beard and moustache, length and fullness; "Abe Lincoln"; mutton chops or sideburns; Van Dyke; moustache only and goatee, with or without moustache.

Prizes will be awarded in each class. Paul Scheller of the Jaycees is chairman of the beard contest.

THE PARENTS' CORNER

Were Your Parents Sarcastic? Then You Know How It Hurts

Were your parents sometimes sarcastic with you? Remember how it hurts? Their wisecracks were especially bad when your friends were around to hear them. Right? Let's look at our children's reaction to sarcasm today. They're just as sensitive as we were.

I watched a Cub den mother at work. The other boys had made some nice album covers. Her son botched his. "That's my boy," she said sarcastically, "he has no fingers, only thumbs. He's still a baby. I even have to dress him every morning." The boys laughed. Her son tried to smile, but couldn't. There were tears in his eyes. His lips trembled. His mother didn't notice. You've seen mothers like that?

Fathers are guilty more often. Some men can hardly open their mouths around their children without poking fun at them. Cruel fun. I listened to a man at a fathers and sons banquet recently. In 10 minutes he had made nine wisecracks about his teen-age boy. His son was "dumb." He had "two left feet." "As a baby he was beautiful, but look at him now!" It was torture for his boy. He had to sit there and take it.

It's easy to be witty at our children's expense. They're afraid of us. We know they won't talk back. The more insecure we are inside, the more we depend on the satisfactions sarcasm brings.

We can't be perfect. Biting comments will slip out. But at least we can try. We can try to remember how much sarcasm hurts. We can try not to forget that our children thrive on love and support. Not cruelty, with humor.

READER'S FORUM

(Q) "I resent the special classes now being set up for the brighter high school students. Isn't that a form of segregation?" S.I.

(A) Science has taught us that children are different. The brightest kids languish in classes adjusted to average learners. Average youngsters languish when work is adjusted to slow learners. My feeling is that we need the sort of segregation which is based on ability in a school subject. If done properly, all children profit.

Neil Whitman Gets Role Of 'Drunkard'

John Brebner, director of the third annual summer melodrama for the Sausalito Little Theater, today announced the cast for "The Drunkard," scheduled to open May 29.

Neil Whitman has been named to play the part of Edward Middleton, the drunkard. He played comedy parts in the past two summer melodrama productions. The villain, Lawyer Cribbs, will be portrayed (to hisses) by Don Michaelian.

William Dowton (always there in the nick of time) is assigned to Pat Schaeffer. T. D. Casey will be seen in the short but impressive role of Mr. Rencelaw, the wealthy gentleman whose aim in life is to save souls from the brink of destruction.

The heroine—and wife of "The Drunkard"—will be weepingly portrayed by Elaine Mitchell. Her long suffering mother, who dies early in the play, will be done by Dorothy Pilcher. Others in the production include Sally King and Joan Friedrichsen.

"The Drunkard" will run Friday and Saturday nights throughout the summer.

Home Burglarized In Sleepy Hollow

Burglars crept into a Sleepy Hollow home Wednesday afternoon and stole $257 worth of radios, cameras and liquor, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Burch of 977 Butterfield road told Inspector Carl Sears and Deputy George Barnes they were away from home from 1 p.m. to about 4:30 p.m. When they returned, two radios, a shirt, three bottles of liquor, two cameras and a pair of binoculars were missing.

Meeting Postponed

Midget Race Track Seeks New Location

The quarter midget race track behind the King Cotton restaurant area in San Rafael will have to move to new quarters soon, it was disclosed yesterday at the San Rafael Sanitation Commission meeting.

The racing organization wants to lease tidelands alongside Madera boulevard next to the sanitation treatment plant to set up a new race track.

The sanitation commissioners said they would like to help but fear that if they lease district land to one group, a precedent might be set for other groups to make similar requests. Furthermore, the San Rafael pistol range is nearby, and children might wander into the line of fire.

Chairman Walter R. Castro said he is favor of trying to help the midget racers, but not on the sanitation district ground. Castro indicated there should be other open ground in the California Park area.

Commissioner John F. McInnis also expressed reluctance. He said it is all right to let a group use land temporarily, but the tendency is that once entrenched, it becomes difficult to uproot.

Commissioner Fred E. Jensen said he sees no harm in having a race track next to the treatment plant.

Rocket Runs Wild In Test At Plant

A large portion of a solid propellant rocket broke away from its stand during a captive test yesterday at the plant some 20 miles east of here.

No one was hurt.

The company doesn't conduct flight tests at this plant—intentionally.

ACHIEVES HIS GOAL

Palsy Victim Now Little League Star

By LARRY LOVETT

There are lots of enthusiastic boys playing Little League baseball these days and perhaps even more equally enthusiastic parents who follow the games.

But it is doubtful if there is a more interested and enthusiastic Little League family in Marin than the Max Robertsons of Sausalito.

The head of the household is a Sausalito fireman and former semi-pro infielder. But his major assignment is as umpire for Little League, at which he performed faithfully in spite of occasional uncomplimentary remarks from the players last year.

Then there is his better half, who attends all the games. Mrs. Robertson, in addition to being a good rooter, has watched the progress of son, Mike, 8, in the game. Son Jimmie. 5, is pushing as hard as he can to get into Little League play as quickly as possible.

But the star these days is Randy, 9.

At the age of 2, Randy was stricken with cerebral palsy. He was unable to walk.

He watched brother Mike start to play baseball. He watched his dad umpire the games. He wanted to play.

Last year, Randy was selected as theme boy for the Easter Seal campaign of the Marin County Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

He appreciated the honor — but baseball was what he wanted.

The two, Randy learned, are tied together. For advances in treating palsy victims which have been financed by Easter Seals paid off for Randy Robertson.

He underwent two operations last year. After the second, he was able to walk with casts on his legs.

As another baseball season drew near, Randy, after his day as a pupil in Sausalito's Central School, practiced at home —able at last to catch and throw a ball, although his running after it is a slow and cumbrous thing.

One day Max Robertson approached Ralph K. (Swede) Pedersen, director of the Sausalito Little League. He wished, said Robertson, there was some way Randy could play in a Little League game.

"I don't see why not," said Pedersen. "There's nothing in the rule books that says he can't."

That did it.

"He has an oversize first baseman's mitt," Pedersen explains, "so that if he falls, he uses it as a cushion. He moves very well and is deadly when it comes to catching a ball."

Randy is one of the 80 new boys in the Sausalito area who recently signed up to make the 140 Little Leaguers in the group. And it's a pretty safe bet that he's going to offer some hot competition to those who are after first baseman's jobs.

Jet Crash Touches Off Forest Fire

PORTERVILLE (UPI) — Firefighters expected to have a blaze in Sequoia National Forest under control early today after an all-night battle touched off by the crash of an Air Force jet.

The fire started yesterday when a F104 Starfighter, piloted by Capt. John R. Niemela, 30, of Peterborough, N. H., plunged into the forest after Niemela bailed out. The plane had been on a training flight with two other aircraft from George Air Force Base.

Air Force officials said Niemela was picked up by a plane from China Lake after parachuting to safety. Niemela said he was forced to ditch the plane because of a flame out.

The Forest Service said the fire had burned more than 100 acres of heavy brush as of last night.

Seventy-five fire fighters ringed the blaze last night with the help of a helicopter from an Oakland flying service. Most of the fire-fighting units were from the Kern Industrial Farm at Kernville.

Squadron Wins Safety Trophy

The 43rd Communications Squadron at Hamilton Air Force Base this week received the Western Air Defense Force commander's trophy for greatest effectiveness in reducing ground accidents.

The trophy is presented semi-annually.

Maj. C. J. Trick, commander of the winning squadron, received the trophy from Maj. Gen. Hugh A. Parker, WADF commander, for a record of 93 per cent improvement in its accident prevention program during the second half of 1958.

Dance Will Benefit Kids' Baseball

A benefit dance for the Mill Valley children's baseball program will be held April 4 at the Mill Valley Golf Club, starting at 8:30 p.m., chairman Robert E. Nelson of the Mill Valley Citizens Committee for Baseball announced today.

"There are about 550 boys in the 8 to 15 age group in and near Mill Valley who will be playing baseball this season," Nelson said. "Citizens interested in this program for the boys have combined their talents and efforts and have obtained four fields."

He said two Little League fields at Boyle Park, a Pony League field at Edna Maguire School and a full-size field in the Project 17 area of the marshlands will be in use.

These fields lack backstops, Nelson said, and proceeds from the dance will be used to obtain these.

Tickets for the dance may be obtained from any Little Leaguer or Pony Leaguer in the area, Nelson said.

Measure To Make Schools Conform To Zoning Passed

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The Assembly yesterday passed 41-37 a bill to make school districts and other local government agencies meet city and county zoning ordinances.

The measure by Assemblyman William Biddick Jr. (D-Stockton) would counter a 1956 state Supreme Court decision that school districts are not subject to zoning laws.

All other local government agencies except publicly owned utilities would be subject to both building and zoning ordinances. Schools are inspected by the state, so would not be required to meet building ordinances.

Assemblyman Bruce F. Allen (R-Los Gatos), opposing the measure, called it a "vicious bill." "It would give the cities regulation of the schools — something they've never had," Allen said.

Car Club Slates Annual Rally

The Square Wheel Touring Society will hold its third annual "Friendly Rally" Sunday, beginning at noon from the Corte Madera Shopping Center, with competitive classes for novice, senior and expert drivers and navigators.

Engraved plaques will be awarded the first 10 places in the novice class, with a single prize going to the winning cars in each of the two advanced categories.

Navigational problems will range from simple to "well nigh impossible" depending on class, the club announced. Registration will begin at noon, with the first car leaving at 1 p.m.

Fairfax Laborer Held In Shoplift

A 26-year-old Fairfax laborer was jailed Wednesday night on suspicion of shoplifting a dollar's worth of canned goods from the Food Mart in San Rafael.

Maurice Arthur Guy, owner of the market, called police at 4:10 p.m. He said he had caught David E. Pike, who works on the Smith ranch in Fairfax, with two cans of meat under his shirt.

915.3. Firebreaks. All areas of slash created by logging operations shall be, concurrently with the operation, broken up into blocks surrounded by firebreaks of not less than fifteen (15) feet in width from which all inflammable material has been cleared. Existing roads, trails, stream beds or other natural fire barriers may be considered as firebreaks when of not less than the minimum width and clear of all inflammable materials as required herein. Slash areas to be surrounded by such firebreaks shall not exceed eighty (80) acres in size. Areas of slash created between December 1st of one year, and April 15th of the following year shall have such firebreaks constructed concurrently with the logging operations provided however, that in the event construction of the required firebreaks concurrently with the logging operations is rendered impossible as a result of weather conditions, the required firebreaks shall be constructed as soon thereafter as weather conditions will permit, but in any event not later than June 15th of the aforesaid following year to constitute compliance with this rule.

915.4. Burning of High Fire Hazard. Concentrations of slash, and split products debris at log landings, in gulches, and within one hundred (100) feet of firebreaks shall be isolated and burned after the first heavy fall rains following its creation and burning shall be completed before April 15th of the year following.

915.5. Slash Burning. Slash areas may be broadcast burned after cleared firebreaks have been prepared as required in these rules, provided, however, that such burning shall be done only after the first heavy fall rains and shall be completed before April 15th, and provided further, that not more than one block as referred to in these rules may be burned at one time. Burning conducted on sloping ground shall be ignited at the highest level and progressively burned downward. Such burning shall be kept under control at all times.

915.6. Slash Removal Along Roads. Logging slash created within twenty (20) feet of the edge of any federal, state or county road right of way, shall be removed concurrently with its creation. Distances shall be measured along ground surfaces.

915.7. Notification of Burning. The local representative of the State Forester shall be notified in advance of the time and place of any burning of logging slash or debris. Any burning between April 15th and December 1st shall be done in the manner provided by law.

915.8. Protecting Seed Trees From Burning Operations. Due diligence shall be exercised in conducting any fire hazard abatement or slash burning operations provided for in these rules so that seed trees standing or required to be left standing after logging, will not be damaged or destroyed by said fire hazard abatement or slash burning operations.

MUSIC CRITIC BROADCASTS SILENT SHOW

RIPLEY, Tenn. (AP)—A businessman who doesn't like rock 'n roll music bought 15 minutes of radio time yesterday and devoted almost all of it to silence.

James W. Porter began his quarter-hour on station WTRB by shattering several records and then preposing a "National Can the Racket League." Announced Porter:

"Friends, are you tense, nervous, jittery? Chances are you are overturned. You may have tried other stations without success, but now we offer you an amazing new discovery—instant silence."

Thirteen minutes of silence followed except for two breaks to reassure listeners their radios didn't need repair.

Santa Venetia Scout To Get Eagle Award

The youth, son of Inspector William Bradley of the sheriff's office, is a senior at San Rafael High School. He is a member of Explorer Post 39, sponsored by the Gallinas Valley Lions Club.

He entered scouting as a Cub Scout in 1951 at the age of 9. He became a Boy Scout in Troop 39 in 1953, and an Explorer in 1957. He has earned 25 merit badges.

He will be graduated from high school in June and hopes to enter college with a major in physics.

He made the varsity football team in 1957 and is a member of the Key Club, sponsored by the San Rafael Kiwanis Club.

Parenthood Assn. Now Independent

Directors of the Planned Parenthood Assn. of Marin County have voted to become independent of the San Francisco chapter, it was announced today by Dr. Marcia S. Anderson, who also made a public request for donations.

"Please consider our growing population and make your contribution accordingly," she said.

The group's stated aims, she added, include child spacing, babies for childless couples, marriage information for young couples, and research to develop better child spacing methods and solve infertility problems.

Condemnation Trial In Fourth Day

The jury trial of a condemnation suit by the state Department of Public Works against Schultz Investment Co. of Greenbrae entered its fourth day today in Marin Superior Court.

The Schultz firm is asking $241,615, including $50,000 severance damages, for state seizure in 1955 of a five-and-one-half-acre parcel needed for construction of a freeway ramp. Located at Sir Francis Drake boulevard and Highway 101, the land adjoins Schultz's Greenbrae Lanes bowling alleys.

Attorney M. Mitchell Bourquin of San Francisco represents the Schultz company. The case is being tried in the court of Judge N. Charles Brusatori. It is expected to last nearly four weeks.

Real Estate Views & Values

"How can you tell what a used house is worth?" is a question which we have been asked many times.

Actually there is no easy answer.

While land rises in values from inflation, houses (especially older ones) don't advance as rapidly because they are subject to considerable depreciation.

As a leading Coast Realtor explains: "Most home owners don't subtract anything for the years they have lived in the house. No man selling a ten year old car expects to get anything like his original price out of it. Yet, though a house piles up mileage too, and gets behind the times in styles, the owner expects to sell for at least what he paid for his house and many expect a profit."

Mildred Vail

When we are asked to appraise a home for the "sales value" we try to carefully weigh all factors—the replacement cost less depreciation is one of the best guides, plus the condition of the property, comparison with similar houses, etc.

Frankly, we have found local residents are "reasonable" when the full facts are explained.

Let us help you sell your home — we'll start with an agreement as to fair market price of your home. This figure may be MORE or LESS than what you paid for the property. But in any event, it will be "realistic" which makes your chances of selling better. Call now! Wm. E. Doud & Co., multiple listing service, DU 8-8494.

Trailer-Barge Joins Bay's Cruising Craft

By BETTY FROST

Something new in navigable accommodations has been added to the bay's varied cruising craft, with the launching of a 50-foot house trailer mounted on a 63-foot barge at Nunes Boat Works in Sausalito.

The unusual structure, built to the demands of Coulter McKeever, retired advertising executive of St. Helena, is powered by two 651 Diesel engines. The barge, named Fancy Me, will carry a speedboat, Fancy Me Too, on davits on the stern.

The luxurious ABC trailer is 10 feet wide, with two bedrooms, showers, and a well-equipped galley. The barge has a beam of 16 feet and is designed for cruising to points within the bay and the delta region of the Sacramento River. The afterdeck provides a commodious "porch" for this new kind of floating California living.

A spokesman for Nunes Brothers says the Fancy Me is the first such "trailer-barge" to be assembled in this part of the state. The trailer is set three feet below the bulwarks to give a trim appearance to the craft.

A WEEK OF GOOD READING

FURNITURE FESTIVAL — This week a bonus-sized Marin Magazine devotes 25 pages to 1959 Spring Furniture Fashions. The trend to dignity continues with a mellowing of previous styles. Color style also mellows, calling for bountiful use of neutrals. Big news is sound—stereophonic, in particular, and its influence on furniture arrangement and choice of furniture itself.

PROFILE OF THE WEEK—Randolph Doherty, longtime Larkspur volunteer fire chief, hearkens back to the old days of the "third rail" and horse-drawn fire trucks.
